BILL TO REFORM LABOR BOARD IS VOTED BY HOUSE

Measure Approved by 258 to 129.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—By a 2 to 1 vote, the house today approved amendments to the Wagner labor act abolishing the present National Labor Relations board and substituting a three man board which shall have only the power to judge labor disputes.

Rep. Howard W. Smith

Under the measure sent to the senate the administrative and prosecuting authority of the board is vested in a new official, to be known as the administrator. The administrator, to be appointed by the President with the approval of the senate, will decide whether charges of unfair labor practices shall be initiated against employers.

Vote Is 258 to 129.

The roll call on passage of the bill, sponsored by Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.], chairman of the special committee investigating the labor board, was 258 to 129. Passage came after only two days of debate and was heralded as the emphatic protest of the house against the administration of the labor act by the present board, which is composed of Chairman J. Warren Madden, Edwin S. Smith, and William M. Leiserson.

Representative Smith agreed to four amendments proposed yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. The Congress of Industrial Organizations, headed by John L. Lewis, had opposed any changes in the act, under which the C. I. O. has been favored by the labor board.

Mild amendments proposed by Mrs. Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], chairman of the house labor committee, which conducted an 18 month filibuster against changes in the act, were snowed under by a 246 to 137 vote.

New Procedure Ordered.

The bill sets forth procedure to be followed in complaints of unfair labor practices, outlines the labor board's investigating powers, and governs the use of evidence. It puts a time limit of 12 months on awards for back pay to employés.

A provision to protect craft [A. F. of L.] unions from being absorbed in vertical [C. I. O.] unions was approved. The A. F. of L. had complained that the labor board abused its authority to advance the organizing efforts of the C. I. O.

A vociferous voice vote approved an amendment which would permit employers to refuse to negotiate with aliens. Apparently aimed at Harry Bridges, alien agitator for the C. I. O. on the west coast, the amendment will strike at alien leadership over labor unions. Representative Vito Marcantonio [A. L., N. Y.], leader of a communist front organization, the International Labor defense, was one of the few to vote against this amendment.

Senate Opposition Predicted.

Opponents of the legislation asserted that the amendments would die in the senate.

All 10 Republican representatives from Illinois voted for the amendments.

For the amendments—Barnes, Kocialkowski, McAndrews, Maciejewski, Parsons, and Schuetz.

Against—Beam, Fries, Keller, McKeough, Sabath, and Smith.

Other Democrats were not recorded.

Ban Cigaret Smoking by Co-Eds in Germany

BERLIN, June 7.—Cigaret smoking by women students on university grounds was prohibited today by an order of Dr. Anne Kottenhoff, chief of the National Socialist Female Students' league. Smoking has been "scientifically demonstrated to be bad for women," she said, and told the students that "every cigaret which female students do not smoke saves one for soldiers at the front."

An Idyl of Bees and Flowers, but Such Bees!

Mr. Maurice Maeterlinck, the biographer of the bees, never anticipated anything like the behavior of a swarm which is urging its attentions on the Robert Babbitts of Evanston. Neither did Mr. Sinclair Lewis, the biographer of one Babbitt family, foresee how it would affect the lives of everyday folk.

"This is the third day," Mrs. Babbitt stated yesterday in a communique issued from behind barred doors and closed windows while the bees buzzed busily in a form of apt alliteration's artful aid outside her home at 2501 Elm avenue. Under the circumstances, it might be well to go back to the first day.

At that time—Wednesday—the bees, returning from a dive bombing attack on a clump of columbine, lost their way and swarmed down the Babbitt chimney into the living room, where they made themselves at home.

No Way to Treat Company.

The family abandoned the premises to the bees and sent for an exterminator, who turned up wearing a hood and gauntlets. The bees withdrew.

But they all came back Thursday.

Policeman George Pestka came over to deal with the pests. He is a bit of a bee authority, and it was his pronouncement that the exterminator had made a tactical blunder.

"He killed the queen bee," said Pestka.

It must be explained that when this happens all the other bees haunt the scene of the crime—practically indefinitely.

There's Nothing Like a Hearth Fire.

It wouldn't have been so bad, but the Babbitts have just had their house painted, so the screens aren't up. This makes it impossible to raise the windows and let in a breath of air. And, since the bees invaded the home by the chimney, there was no other method of repulsing them except by building a fire in the grate. All day Thursday, while the temperature was reaching a top of 92 degrees, a fire blazed cheerily on the Babbitt hearth.

Yesterday the exterminator returned to try again. He succeeded in ousting any bees left in the interior of the home and then he closed the damper in the chimney and bottled up the fireplace with a fire screen. But the bees still are humming outside around the top of the chimney, getting angrier all the time about their queen.

CANADA TO START CONSTRUCTION OF 300 TANKS TODAY

OTTAWA, Ont., June 7 (AP).—Construction of 300 tanks for the allies will start in Canada tomorrow, the director of public information announced tonight. The British government has accepted an offer by the Canadian government to build tanks "of a type now in use."

This announcement came shortly after Munitions Minister C. G. Howe told the Canadian house of commons that steps are being taken to settle the question of tank production in Canada. He said a delegation of engineers is expected to leave for the United Kingdom by the next boat and go into the question thoroly and settle it "once and for all."

The British now have developed a 40 ton tank which they believe is effective under modern conditions and suitable for Canada to copy, he said.

SHIP, 110 ABOARD, IS SINKING OFF PANAMA CANAL

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, June 8, Saturday (AP).—The 7,216 ton Chilean passenger ship Copiapo struck the west breakwater on entering Cristobal harbor early today and began sinking fast, but it was believed all aboard, including 110 passengers, would be saved.

The ship, built in 1937, is owned by the Compania Sud Americana de Valparaiso and operates out of Valparaiso. It is 440 feet long and its three decks have accommodations for a large number of passengers.

[The Cristobal breakwater is about 12 miles from the eastern entrance to the Panama canal.]

WINDSOR DENIES HE HAS GIVEN UP HIS POST IN ARMY

LONDON, June 7 (AP).—Reuters, British news agency, quoted the duke of Windsor in a dispatch from Paris tonight as declaring reports abroad that he had relinquished his place as a liaison officer with the French and British armies in France were "wholly inaccurate."

A Paris Trick—Garbage Truck a Mobile Fort

PARIS, June 7 (AP).—Steel posts rose menacingly tonight in the middle of the Champs Elysee and garbage trucks stood as mobile fortresses two or three to a block.

But for these new preparations against invasion from the air or the ground it was the Paris of 26 years ago, when another German army was thundering down from the north, and from this beloved capital thousands fled again, remembering the distant sound of older guns.

Barrier to German Planes.

The great thick rods sticking like awkward growths in the Champs Elysee were intended to provide a fatal landing field for any German plane that might try to come down there.

In the trucks, as big as moving vans, silent men sat at machine guns, ready to move quickly to reënforce any barrier at the city's gates that might sway under an enemy pressure that may never come.

In the boulevards about the city rode special squads of motorcyclists, one hand on the steering bar and the other holding a machine gun.

But thru it all, while the millions yet remaining keep watch hour on hour for the waving body of a parachutist floating down from aloft, quiet men still sat beneath the striped awnings of the sidewalk cafés.

Just an Interruption.

It is not an end to conviviality, but rather an interruption. For the crowds are much smaller—the continuing police roundups of suspected fifth columnists have reduced the number of casual loungers—they still sip dreamily at the apertif hour.

To go out onto the country highways a man must have special papers—and he must show them promptly and with no nonsense to the soldier guards who halt all traffic every few miles.

The blackout is much blacker; there are no laggard steps now when the sirens scream.

Half empty theaters grind thru pictures most Parisians saw weeks ago. Only occasionally does one see a military uniform on the street—there are no leaves these days.

Thousands leaving the city today crammed the stations and many waited hour upon hour for "the next train." Automobiles, trucks, and taxis, swaying under heavy loads of suitcases, furniture, and bedding, moved steadily to the southern gates.

NEW SURPRISE TACTICS ROUT ENEMY: BERLIN

Hitler Armies Aim to Circle Paris.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Map on back page.)

BERLIN, June 7.—The German high command is employing new surprise tactics to rout the French armies in the "battle for France" raging on a 100 mile front south of the Somme and south of the Oise-Aisne canal, German military experts announced tonight.

These secret tactics have resulted in the "breaking thru of the Weygand line on its entire length," the Germans asserted.

Other than a general statement that the German armies were maintaining "progress on schedule" along the Somme front and that Adolf Hitler's forces were meeting "stiff resistance," the high command made no claims of towns taken in the march toward Paris.

Defense Presents a Problem.

Nevertheless, there was a growing confidence that the conquest of Paris is but a matter of days.

On the other hand high army sources disclosed that France's swiftly devised defense system presented Germany's blitzkrieg machine a "real problem."

The Nazis maintained that Gen. Maxime Weygand, allied commander in chief, had received a military lesson by the rapid German push to the English channel in which Hitler's machine pierced the powerful but comparatively narrow French, Belgian and Dutch belt of fortifications.

"Weygand changed his tactics by distributing his forces in depth zones and making the fullest use of natural barriers, such as rivers, woods and the like, as defenses against Germany's massed tank attacks," Germans said.

Ludendorff Gets Credit.

"The depth zone tactics are nothing new. They first were used by the German armies in the world war to ward off the allied attacks in Flanders in 1917. They were improved later by Gen. Erich Ludendorff thru the 'elastic defense' system in 1918."

The German high command, it was stated, was fully prepared for Weygand's changed tactics. However, the Germans did not disclose the measures with which Hitler's generals are meeting the new French system of defense.

Nazi sources did reveal that the Germans began their advance on Paris with a surprise for the French.

For days, they said, the French, fearing a drive along the channel coast, pounded the German lines at the Somme with artillery fire. For days, the Nazis added, none of the German batteries fired a single shot in that sector in order to prevent the French from discovering the strength of the German guns and their positions.

War Maps Bare Plans.

"When the attack started, our artillery began a drumfire on the French lining the southern banks of the Somme," the Germans exclaimed.

Maps of the battle published in Germany today indicate that the German offensive to the southwest is being carried on with special intensity at three points: along the coast of the channel from Abbeville toward Le Havre; south of Amiens, and south of the Oise-Aisne canal.

According to arrows on the maps, the Amiens drive seems to be headed toward a point west of Paris, while the push from the Oise-Aisne sector is directed toward the east of the French capital.

Thus it appears to military observers that the Germans intend to encircle Paris and the forces defending the city.

Coastal Batteries in Action.

The war communique announced that German coastal batteries sank an allied speedboat.

The German air force again struck blows of its own.

Returning bomber crews told of blasting airports from which British airmen operate in western France, and starting huge fires with explosives hurled at the big French port of Cherbourg.

RELEASE OF U. S. ARMS TO ALLIES STIRS WARNINGS

Admiral Flies Ocean

New York, June 7 (AP).—Rear Admiral David McD. Le Breton headed for Lisbon, Portugal, aboard the Atlantic Clipper today to assume command of a United States naval squadron now stationed at that neutral port. He said two cruisers and four destroyers were now at Lisbon. "New ships are going there all the time and the navy is ready for any emergency that may develop," Admiral Breton said. He will replace Rear Admiral C. E. Courtney, who is to return to duty at Washington.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—While senate and house noninterventionists charged trickery and warned that the United States is being plunged closer and closer to war, it was evident today that congress will not interfere with the release of American army and navy airplanes and munitions to the allies.

Some senators who had assailed a resolution by Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] to give President Roosevelt specific authority for the release of army and navy airplanes and other war supplies refused to comment on the accomplished fact of Mr. Roosevelt's action. They said it had been done, that the country undoubtedly would sustain the President, and that it would be futile to protest.

Sees Neutrality Abandoned.

One Democratic senator commented privately that the administration had abandoned all pretense of official neutrality and had made this government a nonbelligerent ally of Great Britain and France. Only the more intrepid noninterventionists, however, assailed the President's action for publication.

The senate was not in session and the reaction among its members undoubtedly was less stormy than it otherwise would have been. There was a flurry of debate in the house when Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] took the floor to defend the return of 50 naval scout bombers to the Curtiss company at Buffalo, N. Y., which will sell them to the allies.

Vinson said the navy had turned in the bombers, some of them "over a year old," on new ones for future delivery. When Republicans demanded to know when the navy would get the new planes, Vinson said "in about six months."

Claims Public's Support.

In response to Republican protests that the country is being edged into war, Representative Charles I. Faddis [D., Pa.] strode down to the well of the house and shouted:

"Anybody that reads the newspapers of this country and reads his mail knows that public sentiment is overwhelmingly behind the statement attributed to the President that the frontier of this country is on the Rhine. You know it is."

A chorus of "boos" went up from the Republican side.

Alluding to the argument that the navy scout bombers are surplus or obsolete craft, Representative John M. Vorys [R., O.] asked the Democratic majority when the President would be sending "deteriorated, obsolete soldiers abroad."

In a later speech replying to Vinson, Vorys said he had ascertained

HOLD TIGHT TO FRENCH SOIL, WEYGAND TELLS ARMY FIGHTING NAZIS

PARIS, June 7 (AP).—The following is the text of Generalissimo Maxime Weygand's order of the day to his troops that they "hold tight to the soil of France":

"The battle of France has begun.

"The order is to defend our positions without thought of retreat.

"Officers, subofficers, and soldiers of the French army, let the thought of our country, wounded by the invader, inspire you to the steadfast resolution to hold where you are.

"The examples of our glorious past show you always that determination and courage win. Hold tight to the soil of France! Look only ahead. Behind you the command has taken dispositions to support you.

"The fate of our country, the safety of its liberties, the future of our sons depend on your tenacity."

400 NAZI TANKS ARE DESTROYED, FRENCH REPORT

Conflict Rages on Entire Front.

PARIS, June 7 (AP).—The long allied front lines, selling every foot of scarred French ground at a fearful price in death for the invaders, backed away from furious German attacks all along the Somme front tonight at the order of Gen. Maxime Weygand.

The generalissimo, in the night communique, made plain that the withdrawal of advance units was to meet the double flanking movement characteristic of the German offensive. The main, deep defensive system was still holding.

Wipe Out German Unit.

Even as the French fell back Weygand reported they had "wiped out" every German who crossed the Aisne river on the allied east flank in an advance east of Soissons.

The Germans, he said, were not "counting their losses."

At the same time, Nazi tanks broke thru in the far west of the front in the region of the upper Bresle river. But the French support positions—networks of guns which the general had designed to cut down the tanks with crossfire—were holding firm.

The day's action along the 125 mile front of the Somme and Aisne thus saw heavy action at both ends, and also at Weygand's strongly defended center.

Concentrate on East Flank.

But with their tanks bogging down in the swamps of the Bresle valley, the German main push appeared tonight to be concentrated on the French east flank.

To the north and east of Soissons Nazi forces poured down from the Aliette, massing along the Aisne for continuing attacks.

The effort to cross the Aisne—in an area about 60 miles from Paris—was choked off in one of the day's most violent battles.

An artillery bombardment ushered in the German drive, but those who bridged the river did so only to die on the other bank.

Central Front Also Ablaze.

On the center of the front, the war ministry spokesman announced, the Germans were attacking heavily with tanks and new waves of infantrymen.

The center blow was sprung from the Oise valley, north of Soissons, an old battleground.

In the whole battle area, where half a million Nazis were attacking, the French reported cutting down many more German tanks than the 400 already declared to have been smashed in traps. The dive bombers, so active in the German successes in the north, were fewer, too, today.

The French used cannon carrying airplanes to pound the tanks from above.

Germans Use 40 Divisions.

In this third day of the battle the Germans used 40 divisions of infantry in their effort to fold back the flanks of the French and try to take the Weygand line from the rear.

The Germans used two Panzer divisions, or 1,000 tanks, in the Peronne sector alone yesterday in trying to break into the Oise valley which leads south to Paris. They failed to open a breach in the French line, however.

For the 29th successive day of the campaign on the western front, the weather favored Adolf Hitler. It was clear and hot, and there was no sign tonight of a break.

2,000 Tanks in Reserve.

The Germans were estimated to have 2,000 tanks in reserve, with their total force originally 4,000, waiting to drive thru any gap in the French lines.

Besides directing the battle in person, Weygand, one of the 40 immortals of the French academy and historian of the French army, is writing the two daily communiques himself.

Back of his deep Somme-Aisne line, Weygand has sown the 50 mile deep area clear to the Seine with antitank defense nests.

The roads are barricaded and there are strong support points armed both with antitank guns and machine guns. Any mechanized units which get thru the front lines thus will run almost a continuous gantlet of hot defensive fire all the way to Paris.

The active battle zone stretches from the channel to the war-trampled ridges of the Chemin-des-Dames between the Ailette and the Aisne rivers, some 125 miles in all.

The French night communique follows:

"Between the sea and the Chemin-des-Dames the battle continued all day with the same violence. Our troops are resisting with bravery against an enemy which without counting its losses again threw forward new masses.

"On this front as a whole our advance units after fulfilling their mission against enemy tanks and infantry broke away under orders. In the west toward the upper Bresle German armored units infiltrated into our lines but without being able to destroy our support points, which are resisting.

Violent Bombardments.

"On the Aisne the adversary unleashed violent bombardments. He tried to cross the river east of Soissons. Elements which passed to the left bank were wiped out.

"Our aviation continued its incessant action, harassing enemy troops by bombings and cannon attacks. In 24 hours more than 100 tons of bombs have been launched on armored machines, convoys, and communications lines.

"Our pursuit planes continued without respite their work of destruction of enemy aviation while assuring protection of our planes. In 24 hours 21 enemy planes have been brought down."

British Tanks in Action.

LONDON, June 7 (AP).—The official "eye witness" correspondent with the British expeditionary force on the Somme front reported that British tanks were hurled into battle today to meet the German advance south of the Somme and gave much assistance to the infantry. Several of the tanks captured a detachment of German infantry, the correspondent said.

He described the British as "fighting magnificently against heavy odds but obliged to withdraw their front slightly" as the Germans augmented the infantry attack with motorized machine gun units.

The official correspondent's account said the German prisoners "told a story of great hardship on their way to the front," saying they marched 30 miles a day, arrived in exhausted condition on the Somme, and were flung into the attack the next day.

GERMAN BOMBER MACHINE GUNS A TOWN IN ENGLAND

Another Crashes; Two of Crew Killed.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, June 8, Saturday (AP).—The air ministry and the ministry of home security issued the following communique today:

"During last night and in the early hours of this morning enemy aircraft crossed the coast. Some bombs were dropped, but little material damage was done and no casualties have been reported."

LONDON, June 8, Saturday (AP).—German air raiders, in the third successive night of attacks on England, roared over eight counties late last night, one circling low to machine gun the houses of a southeast port town while another crashed and burned in East Suffolk.

"Two of the bomber's crew were killed and one injured," the ministry of home security reported. "One house was badly damaged, and slight damage was caused to other buildings. No civilian casualties reported."

The machine gunning plane, which struck at the unidentified coast town, dropped no bombs, but circled repeatedly close to earth. Residents escaped injury by huddling for 45 minutes in shelters.

Alarms Are Sounded.

Air raid alarms were sounded in Cambridge, Norfolk, Essex, Suffolk, Kent, Northumberland, Durham, and Yorkshire.

In one southeast coast county the roar of planes was heard directly overhead, punctuated by repeated bursts of gunfire.

The planes first flew to the south, then returned, heading inward toward the west. Then they wheeled back again, pursued by the continual clatter of machine gun fire.

In Norfolk, where the alarm lasted about an hour, compared with five minutes in Durham, heavy explosions were heard in the distance.

Antiaircraft Guns Blaze.

Antiaircraft guns blazed on the Essex coast. There were no immediate reports of damage.

Britain's own air force, meanwhile, was bearing the weight of Britain's support for her French ally until new land divisions can be formed and equipped for the conflict on the Somme.

The air ministry reported almost continuous air assaults since Thursday on German communications and many other targets to hamper the Nazi drive into France.

The loss of 10 British planes was acknowledged, but the ministry declared 15 German aircraft had been shot down. British bombing targets such as railways, bridges, troops, gun emplacements, tank columns, and oil refineries were "systematically and repeatedly bombed" behind the Somme front, in France and in northwest Germany.

The British reported they dropped 70 bombs on a big refinery south of Hamburg yesterday, setting fires there and also on a large oil storage plant near Delmenhorst.

Their high explosive bombs smashed one end of a tunnel south of Aachen, blocking the main railway.

The British raiders also ranged the full length of the German lines and behind the lines in northern France, setting new fires at a previously bombed oil depot at Ghent, plowing into German held airdromes at Arras and Norderney, and slashing at rail lines, marching troops and columns of trucks.

The bomb aimer on one plane said he dropped his explosive load among 20 German trucks.

British Flyer Killed.

The second successive Nazi foray over England Thursday night and early yesterday killed a British airman who was caught by a bomb dropped on an airdrome flare. The air ministry and the ministry of information said earlier there were two minor casualties. An eyewitness said six persons were injured in a town in Lincolnshire.

In general, the air ministry said, the attacks directed against air force airdromes were ineffective.

To guard against a night invasion by sea the admiralty established a three mile curfew zone around the United Kingdom. All ships were forbidden to enter that zone between sunset and sunrise except in organized convoys.

Fire at Planes Over Paris.

PARIS, June 7 (AP).—Antiaircraft guns were heard in Paris shortly before midnight. The gunning, which occurred about the same hour last night, subsided after a few minutes. There was no air raid alarm.

Earlier in the day the Germans sent 200 planes into central France. They passed around Paris while air raid sirens howled, then flew on south. An official announcement, later, said the planes did "material damage" in an unspecified central section.

Nazis Drive Off Raid.

BERLIN, June 7 (AP).—The Germans today reported driving off with antiaircraft fire a British raid over Hamburg, Germany's principal port. Bombs were said to have fallen in a field at the edge of town.

Air Alarms Over East England

Air raid alarms and gunfire were heard in eight counties of eastern England last night. It was the third successive night of British fears of imminent aerial attack by the Germans.

KING OF NORWAY IN GOOD HEALTH, REPORTS ENVOY

Washington, D. C., June 7 [Special].—King Haakon of Norway and Crown Prince Olav are still in northern Norway with their troops and in good health, despite Nazi reports to the contrary, Wilhelm Morgenstierne, Norwegian minister, said here today on the 35th anniversary of the independent Norwegian kingdom.

Morgenstierne said that he was in touch with the Norwegian king, government and Bank of Norway officials almost daily thru radio communication.

[A dispatch from Stockholm, Sweden, last Monday, quoting the Swedish newspaper Hufvudstadsbladet at Helsingfors, Finland, said that King Haakon was so seriously ill it was feared he would not survive the war in the north.]

French Suspend Blum's Vacation with Pay Law

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 7. — Vacations with pay, the popular front measure voted by the Leon Blum government, were suspended today by a decree of the minister of labor. His decree, however, applies only to establishments producing war materials. Another decree gives factory owners the right to suppress the Sunday rest period twice a month whenever this is judged necessary. However, one day of rest must be given every fortnight.

FRENCH LOSSES IN FLANDERS PUT AT 200,000 MEN

Three Shattered Armies Figure in Estimate.

Information received in dispatches to THE TRIBUNE indicate that during the tremendous battle in Flanders [Belgium and northern France] the victorious German advance may have cost the French more than 200,000 soldiers.

Exact determination of French casualties is impossible because Paris has issued no official communiques to show how many Frenchmen were killed, wounded, or captured by Nazi troops.

Three Armies Shattered.

Correspondents agree that since May 10, when Hitler began the drive which swallowed up Holland, Belgium, Luxemburg and part of northern France, three French armies have been shattered. In Berlin it is claimed that these armies have been "annihilated," but this is not taken to mean destruction of all. Military experts believe that the three armies regularly comprised 400,000 to 500,000 men.

Tribune reporters covering the war estimate that from ten to thirty per cent of the troops in these three armies were killed in the shattering blitzkrieg terminating at Dunkirk, from which port the bulk of the British Expeditionary force, as well as thousands of French and some Belgian troops, were evacuated across the channel to ports in southern England.

Taking it for granted that there were 450,000 men in these three French armies, accounting for them starts with the probable number evacuated with the British and Belgians at Dunkirk.

175,000 Believed Evacuated.

London claims that 335,000 were taken to England in the evacuation and that these included 140,000 of the 175,000 members of the B. E. F. More than 10 per cent of the Belgian army of about 400,000 was believed to have been killed or wounded before King Leopold surrendered on May 27. A large part of the remainder was taken captive after the surrender. Therefore, correspondents think that the great majority of the 200,000 other than British troops taken from Dunkirk were French.

That as many as 175,000 Frenchmen escaped to England seems probable, leaving 275,000 of the estimated 450,000 in Flanders to be accounted for.

French losses in those killed, wounded or taken captive are estimated by correspondents at from 10 to 30 per cent, but the German high command in Berlin has declared that 330,000 French and British soldiers were taken captive during the Flanders campaign. They asserted that this was the greatest number ever captured.

This figure is believed to be high unless estimates of the size of the disintegrated French armies were too low, since it does not take into account the undoubtedly large toll of dead or wounded, or the disorganization of units during the collapse.

No division was made in the German figure on captives as between French and British prisoners. But whatever the total, it is believed to contain a preponderance of Frenchmen, since the French have been relied upon to bear the brunt of much of the defense on land.

When losses are fully disclosed, it may be found that as many as 100,000 Frenchmen were killed or wounded in the battle of Flanders, and an equal number captured.

Some correspondents believe the German losses during the campaign will be found to have been as great.

JAPS CLAIM CAPTURE OF DEFENSES OF TWO VITAL YANGTZE PORTS

HONGKONG, June 7 (AP).—Japanese troops driving southwest from the Han river toward the Yangtze river treaty ports of Ichang and Shasi were reported in Japanese field dispatches today to have captured all points forming the outer ring of Chinese defenses of these two cities, most important on the middle Yangtze between Hankow and Chungking.

The dispatches said the spearhead of one Japanese column was only 50 miles northeast of Ichang and another column only 17 miles north of Shasi.

Ichang and Shasi, both in Hupen province, are about 65 air miles apart. The capture of Ichang would give the Japanese a good base for a drive on Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's capital at Chungking, about 300 air line miles west of Ichang.

PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, JUNE 7, SOLVED

BLAME FAULTY AIR TACTICS FOR BRITISH DEFEAT

Lessons Should Be Vital to American Corps.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—The rout of British forces in Belgium was partially attributed to failure of the royal air force to coöperate with ground troops, according to information received in military circles here today from observers abroad.

The British air force, it was said, did not operate with ground forces but went off on missions of its own. The result was that ground forces did not have sufficient information of German attack movements or proper air support against German parachute troops and dive bombers.

The Nazi coöperation of airplanes and ground troops was cited to authorities here as an example of proper employment and complementing of weapons.

Lessons for U. S. Air Corps.

The lessons to be learned from the British and German employment of air strength are expected to be of inestimable value to the American air corps on the eve of the planned expansion of the air force in the general strengthening of national defenses.

At present the American air corps leans to the British organization and doctrine. The force regards itself as independent and in the event of war would go about coöperating with ground troops in its own way.

This viewpoint has blocked acquisition of such craft as autogyros because the air corps realizes that the windmill planes, to be effective, would have to be operated as part of various branches of the service as the artillery, infantry, and signal corps rather than as a part of the air corps.

It is felt by many officers not in the air corps that failure to assign specific craft for specific duties with other branches of the service and under the orders of the particular branch of the service is a weakness of the American military setup.

Concentrates on Two Types.

At present the air corps has plans to concentrate its share of expansion funds on two types of combat planes—pursuit and bombardment planes. In support of this plan it is argued that such an air force would be of maximum efficiency for its intended defense mission—the denying of a foothold anywhere in the new world to a European or Asiatic aggressor.

Critics insist that the only good air force is a well rounded corps which would have a proper proportion of attack planes as well. They say that the air force may be called upon to drive out an enemy who has gained a foothold, as well as holding an invader off, and that the air force should be equipped to do so.

The air corps at present is aiming to develop itself as an air defensive organization as efficient as the German air offensive organization. Critics of this plan hold that the air corps should be equally strong on the offensive and defensive.

Abandon Attack Plane.

Under its plan the air corps will not be without observation, reconnaissance, and similar planes, but would emphasize pursuit and bombardment planes and bring about abandonment of the attack plane as an independent type.

To take its place the air force would develop a light bombardment plane which it hopes would be the defensive counterpart of the German Stuka, which has come to be known as the blitzkrieg airplane.

The attack plane is a development of the ground strafing tactics evolved by German airmen in the world war. It is designed for use against ground troops, machine gun nests, tanks, artillery, and the like. It flys low and is armed with light bombs, machine guns, and chemicals.

RED CROSS DRIVE FOR WAR RELIEF GOES PAST $650,000

The American Red Cross war relief drive in Chicago went over the $650,000 mark yesterday, James B. Forgan, chairman of the drive, announced.

Two large contributions were $9,500 from employés of the Chicago Surface Lines and $7,018 from employés of Swift & Co. The latter was supplemented by a contribution of $10,000 from Swift & Co.

Chicago has a quota of $1,000,000 in the $20,000,000 nation-wide drive.

TURKS TONE DOWN THEIR OFFERS TO FIGHT FOR ALLIES

Italy May Make Army Stay Nearer Home.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, June 7 (AP).—Turkey, resolved at present to live up to her mutual assistance pact with Britain and France, soon may face a momentous dilemma.

The treaty requires that Turkey join the allies in case of an attack on the Balkans or aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean.

In the present situation, Turkish officials say, this means in case Italy enters the war such a development would be certain to bring the war to Turkey's doorstep in the eastern Mediterranean.

They assert that Turkey is ready to fulfill her obligations to Britain and France if this should happen.

Different Situation Seen.

Some foreign diplomats, however, see a different situation ahead. They believe Premier Mussolini will bring Italy into the war only when he is absolutely certain he is on the winning side.

If there should be developments which convince Il Duce that Germany is bound to win, they also will be important enough, these observers believe, to convince Turkey of the same thing.

Should Italy enter the war, Turkey, therefore, may face the obligation of joining the side she believes will be a sure loser—and diplomats expressed doubt that any country would do that, regardless of how great her disposition to loyalty may be.

Turks More Cautious Now.

More cautious than they once were, Turkish officials now say their country's assistance to Britain and France in case she enters the war may be passive rather than active.

A few months ago Turkey stood ready to send her army beyond the frontiers to repel any offensive in the Balkans. Now it is a Mediterranean conflict, rather than a Balkan thrust, that is feared, and Turkey with her limited air force and navy, is believed able to give little help beyond her borders in such a campaign.

Under the treaty the allies may use Turkish ports as bases. Informed Turks say the Turkish forces may be needed to cope with attacks made upon her for permitting this.

Ready to Help Greece.

In any event, Turkey is keeping a big army in Thrace, on the European side of the Bosporus, to help Greece if that country should be attacked. She also has concentrations along her sea coast to repel any enemy landing, and has a large force in Alexandretta to thwart any attempted drive thru there to Syria and the Mosul oil fields.

Most of the troops which were stationed on the Caucasus front have been withdrawn, since Turkey apparently no longer fears an attack by Russia.

DIES OF INJURIES IN FALL.

Patrick Huse, 54 years old, 1826 Belmont avenue, died in County hospital last night of a skull fracture suffered in a fall Wednesday at 1249 South Wabash avenue.

WEARY BELGIAN REFUGEES FLOCK BACK TO HOMES

Roads Jammed as Nazis Aid Return.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE GERMAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION IN BELGIUM, June 7.—Belgian refugees who fled in the face of the German invasion are jamming roads on their weary trip homeward.

They are traveling in all types of vehicles—trucks, cars, dog and horse carts, and on bicycles. The majority are on foot, carrying their belongings or pushing them in carts, wheelbarrows, or baby buggies. Some have their possessions tied in huge bundles to the handlebars and frames of their bicycles.

In some of the western towns, such as Ghent, the main squares are packed with refugees sitting patiently amid their belongings for vehicles to transport them home. Many German supply trucks returning from the front are filled with refugees. Others are taken to their destinations in trucks and buses provided by the Belgian government.

Women Wear "Sunday Best."

Some of the younger women among the refugees are wearing their "Sunday best." Unable to take many garments with them when they fled, they had put on their best apparel. Many of them are smartly dressed and wear furs as they trudge along the highways carrying a bundle on a stick over their shoulders.

Thousands of soldiers of the disarmed Belgian army are marching to their homes in long columns. They are not under German guard. They seemed somewhat dejected, altho in one column we passed a soldier who was playing a marching tune on a mouth organ.

When a German in a Nazi party uniform took motion pictures of the Belgian soldiers, an officer at the head of the line pulled his helmet down over his face and hung his head as he walked past.

Swastika on Royal Palace.

In Brussels the Nazi swastika flies atop the royal palace. German officers occupy many of the hotels and German soldiers are in evidence everywhere, but not in great numbers. Belgian police continue to direct traffic, but the Germans imposed a 10 p. m. curfew and retain control of the city.

German army engineers are stringing telephone wires from temporary brackets on the sides of buildings to replace the Belgian system which was shattered when bridges were blown up before the country capitulated.

As I entered the city in a German staff car, a girl of about 16 on a bicycle thumbed her nose at us, but for the most part the Belgians merely stared at us. It was suggested that since we were in civilian clothes and in German army cars the people may have thought we were members of the "fifth column."

Shopkeepers Worried.

We were permitted to wander freely about the city. I asked many people what they thought of the situation. One tobacco shop proprietor said, "For the moment things are all right. For the future—who knows?"

The Belgians certainly do not welcome the invasion. Their reaction seems to be one of relief that conditions are not more difficult.

Some shopkeepers are worried because their stocks are being exhausted with no new supplies in sight. German soldiers are heavy purchasers of silk stockings and tobacco.

Paid in Nazi Money.

Payments are made with "reichskreditkassen marks," the certificates used by the Germans for money in the countries they occupy. Belgian shopkeepers are obliged to accept these at an exchange rate of 10 Belgian francs for one mark.

The German reichsmark has a value of 40 cents, in American money. On this basis the Belgian franc would be worth four cents. This is somewhat more than the franc was worth before the German invasion, when it was valued at 3 1-3 cents.

The Germans say they will redeem this money after the war, presumably by permitting the Belgians to buy German goods with them. The money resembles the ordinary reichsmark.

Supplies of some articles are diminishing rapidly in Belgium and a few stores have introduced a voluntary rationing system in an effort to stretch out what they have.

"Formerly we received supplies from Germany, France, Britain, America, and other countries," a shopowner told me. "Now everything is going out and nothing is coming in. Soon we are going to have to tighten our belts."

Germans Billeting African Prisoners with Britons

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 7.—German authorities, in order to make the French and the English regret that they allowed African troops to join their ranks, have ruled that the English prisoners must be billeted with colored prisoners. The English prisoners resent this bitterly, it was stated here.

KING OF BELGIUM ASKS RED CROSS TO FIND CHILDREN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 7.—King Leopold of Belgium today asked the Red Cross to help him locate his children, Princess Josephine, 13 years old; Prince Baudoin, 10, and Prince Albert, 6. He also asked the vatican to see that the children are given refuge in a Catholic convent until they can return to Belgium. They were last reported in France.

The children's mother, Swedish born Queen Astrid, was killed in an automobile accident in Switzerland. Their aunt, Princess Marie Jose, is married to the crown prince of Italy, and if Italy were not threatening to join the war the king would want the children to be entrusted to her.

It is assumed that America, as the country which took over the protection of Belgian nationals in Germany—as long as the Belgians were at war with Germany—will attempt to locate the children. Their father is now being denounced as a traitor to the allied cause in France, the country where they sought refuge at the outbreak of war.

CIVIL WAR VET 99.

Oregon, Ill., June 7 [Special].—Charles W. Wilmarth, one of three remaining civil war veterans living in northwestern Illinois, will celebrate his 99th birthday on Monday, June 17. He served in the 74th Illinois infantry and fought in the battles of Missionary Ridge, Lookout Mountain, Murfreesboro, Stone River and Prairieville, Ky.

ITALY ORDERS SHIPS TO SEEK NEUTRAL PORTS

Names Marshal De Bono Southern Army Chief.

ROME, June 7 (AP).—Italy made the world aware tonight that her hour of decision is near by holding her ships at a world standstill and by putting her armies on the alert.

Marshal De Bono.

Italians heard without surprise the widespread reports abroad that the scheduled sailings of all Italian merchant ships had been canceled and that those in foreign waters had been ordered to take cover in neutral harbors.

Wh'le there was no official confirmation here of these reports, a reliable source said the Italian liner Rex would not sail on June 12. The line still accepted reservations, however. Other ship departures likewise were reported secretly called off.

Speed Arms Program.

Armament was speeded. The Italian air force was granted $380,000,000 for its expanded program in the next three years. The navy got $80,000,000 for armament aboard and ashore.

A 74 year old whiskered veteran of many a tough colonial campaign, Marshal Emilio De Bono, was put in command of Italy's southern armies—the forces which would be expected to do much of the fighting upon Italy's entrance into the war.

Military experts believed that Marshal De Bono's new command included the troops of Libya—from which some Fascists have openly predicted a campagn against Egypt in an effort to capture the Suez canal, an essential to the maintenance of the British lifeline.

Improve Russian Relations.

Among the day's significant developments was the fact that foreign circles were told that diplomatic relations between Italy and Russia—both of whom have understandngs with Germany—were being improved.

Italian Ambassador Augusto Rosso is expected to return to Moscow.

As to the gesture of Premier Paul Reynaud of France toward peace with the Italians, one newspaper, Il Resto Del Carlino of Bologna, declared that the first essential would be for France to make an immediate peace with Hitler, and then:

Restore Germany's pre-war colonies; pay Germany for her war expense; give Corsica, Nice, Savoy, Tunisia, and Djibuti to Italy—and pay her, too, for the cost of her own military operations.

Blackout restrictions were being enforced strictly. Two special trains stood in the Rome yards ready to take the British and French diplomatic staffs to the border.

Blow to U. S. Trade.

New York, June 7 (AP).—Italy's order that her merchant fleet of almost 1,500 ships seek neutral ports dealt another blow to world trade.

The immediate effect of the sudden order, disclosed here by the Italian line, was the disruption of American trade with the Italian empire. Italy had placed large orders for American goods and ships in many United States ports were being loaded hurriedly in an effort to get them away before Italy took any war action. Loading was halted. Monopolio, an Italian metal purchasing agency, notified copper companies to suspend further shipments until further notice. A recent $5,000,000 purchase of American scrap metal was left hanging and cotton shipments were stopped.

Shortly after receipt of the order, Gaetano Vecchiotti, Italian consul general in New York, prepared to go to Washington, D. C., for a conference with Italian embassy officials.

Four Ships in Harbor.

Four Italian freighters were in New York harbor and one was at Philadelphia. Other Italian vessels in American waters were expected to put into ports between Key West and Cape Hatteras by nightfall. Two ships were at Galveston and the liner Conte Biancamino was tied up at Balboa, the Canal Zone.

On the west coast the motorship Leme, which was to have sailed for Trieste, will remain at Astoria, Ore., and the Fella, now in South American waters was expected to tie up at some port there.

New Government to Meet in First Session.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 7.—Premier Paul Reynaud will assemble his new cabinet for the first time tomorrow. It was believed the enigmatic attitude of Italy and events in the Mediterranean will be discussed.

In this connection, Reynaud's assumption of the portfolio of foreign affairs and his statement that all the difficulties between France and other countries could be settled peacefully were considered significant.

Duce May Seek Peace.

The departure of Edouard Daladier from the cabinet as foreign minister was explained as having been precipitated chiefly by his adamant attitude toward Italy. This intransigence was expressed two years ago when he visited Corsica and asserted it "never" would return to Italy.

The Rome correspondent of the newspaper Le Temps said in a dispatch tonight that Premier Mussolini has ambitions to play a peace rôle and might make a new attempt at European pacification.

Such a step, he said, would be taken with the "courage and rapidity" that characterized the theatrical surprise at Munich two years ago.

Italians Talk of War.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 7.—Italians in Berlin declared tonight that Italy's entry into the war was just "a matter of hours." In Berlin official circles, however, it was said a few more days may elapse before the Italians join the war, but "there can be no doubt of the closeness of the Italo-German friendship."

The Italians were talking about "Italy's legitimate aspirations," which, they said, included Corsica and Savoy, French areas, and Malta, British naval base in the Mediterranean, and all northern Africa except Egypt.

They said Egypt would be "neutralized" and removed from the British sphere of influence. The rest of the future Italian realm was described as spreading all across northeast Africa "as far as the Atlantic ocean because Italy must have an outlet to this world ocean." Spain is to be given Gibraltar, the Italians said.

ADMIRAL SAYS BRITISH MAY LOSE MALTA BASE IF ITALY ENTERS WAR

LONDON, June 7 (AP).—A probable heavy bombardment of Malta by Italian planes and the abandonment of the island as a naval base by Britain was predicted today as a likely early result of Italian entry into the war by Admiral Sir Sydney Fremantle, who commanded Britain's world war squadron in the Ægean sea.

Admiral Sir Sydney Fremantle. [Wide World Photo.]

Fremantle pointed out that Britain, by diverting traffic around the Cape of Good Hope, already had envisaged Italian attacks on Mediterranean shipping. He warned France to expect an attack on Corsica and to prepare to cut the communications of any expedition that might land there.

The admiral listed interruption of supplies for Italy's Libyan army, which might attempt to invade Egypt and Tunis, as a job for the allied navies.

PEPPER'S BLAST AT MUSSOLINI IS CALLED INSULT

ROME, June 7 (AP).—Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, reproducing a purported quotation from Senator Pepper [D., Fla.], declared today in the newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia that it must be established who was the true author of "this insolent provocation."

Gayda said a French dispatch quoted the United States senator as saying that Italian Premier Mussolini "would feel the full force of the American whip" if he failed to heed the peace counsel of President Roosevelt.

In any case, Gayda declared, the United States should bear in mind that "an ocean stands between words and deeds."

[Senator Pepper declared Monday that Mussolini would "rue the day" he entered war and expressed belief, as his personal prediction, that if Il Duce continued his "mad way" he would "feel the sting of America's lash upon his body." This, however, was not connected with any counsel by President Roosevelt.]

JUST SIDESHOW, IS ONE VIEW OF SOMME BATTLE

Believe Full Nazi Plan Yet Undisclosed.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 7.—Despite the vastness and ferocity of the fighting, certain military experts here tonight expressed the opinion that the present battle along the Somme is only a sideshow.

These experts declared that developments which may be expected in the near future will reveal the German plan to be even more grandiose than it now appears. This view concerning a battle which for violence and extent may well be the greatest in history is an indication of the scale on which the present war is being waged.

Dive Bomb Attack Lessens.

The Germans continued to make less use of dive bombers than in the first attacks on Belgium and France. Some French commentators suggested that this was because the Nazis had lost so many machines and pilots. Others said the Germans now realized that the French had developed a technique of defense against dive bombing.

Editorial strategists have been somewhat puzzled by the present German plan of attacking all along the line of the Somme, and especially by the violence and strength of the offensive in the Abbeville sector, where the Nazis are farthest from their bases of supply.

It has been conjectured that the German method is to attack all along the extended line of at least 125 miles in order to test French resistance everywhere. The Nazis are not overlooking any point where this resistance might be weak. Hence, their attacks far out on their right, or channel, wing.

Prisoners Tell Strategy.

German prisoners taken from motorized units which penetrated far ahead of their main forces have, under questioning, explained another bit of the German strategy. That is to avoid combat where resistance is formidable and to rush straight ahead where resistance is weak.

The German push against the Somme thus far has been of the same nature as the Nazis employed in their other great drives—masses of tanks and armored cars followed by masses of infantry.

GERMAN PLOTTER AGAINST U. S. IN WORLD WAR DIES

Zimmermann Plan in Mexico Recalled.

BERLIN, June 7 (AP).—Dr. Alfred F. M. Zimmermann, Germany's world war secretary of state and author of the famed "Zimmermann note" which influenced America's entry into the conflict, died yesterday of pneumonia. He was 82 years old.

Dr. Alfred Zimmermann.

Zimmermann became secretary of state on Nov. 21, 1916, and a bare two months later, on Jan. 1, 1917, he offered Mexico a war alliance with the prospects of territorial gains provided Mexico went to war with the United States.

U. S. Obtains Plans.

His directions to the German minister in Mexico City in connection with this proposal, however, fell into American hands.

During Zimmermann's tenure of office Germany issued a declaration of unlimited submarine warfare and the United States followed by declaring war on Germany April 6, 1917. Zimmermann retired in the shakeup ordered by the Kaiser on Aug. 5, 1918.

ZIMMERMANN'S PLAN.

Under the plan exposed in the "Zimmermann note" Mexico was to make war on the United States, provided the latter failed to remain neutral as a result of Germany's campaign of unrestricted submarine warfare launched Feb. 1, 1917.

Japan, thru Mexican mediation, was to be urged to abandon her allies and join in the attack on the United States.

For her reward, Mexico was to receive general financial support from Germany, reconquer the "lost provinces" of Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona and share in the victorious peace terms Germany contemplated.

15,000 CIVILIANS TO BEGIN FLYING TRAINING JUNE 15

45,000 to Take Up CAA Courses in 9 Months.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The government program for the training of 45,000 new airmen during the next year will open on June 15, when 15,000 college men who have had no air experience begin receiving flight instruction in civilian schools thruout the nation. This was announced here yesterday by Charles E. Cox, senior private flying inspector for the Civil Aeronautics authority in the middle west.

The new training program will extend over a period of nine months. Every three months 15,000 new students are scheduled to be trained up to the standard for private flying certificates. In the Chicago area this will mean that approximately 1,000 new airmen will be created, with more than 300 new students receiving training at a dozen or more airports during each three months.

Extends Old CAA Program.

This new program, Cox explained, is merely an extension and expansion of the CAA's civilian pilot training program that was commenced last September and is scheduled to be concluded on June 30. During the last 10 months more than 9,000 new pilots received their instruction under the old CAA scheme and, incidentally, served as guinea pigs in a colossal experiment that now leads to the new program.

Under the new program, as in the case of the one just being concluded, the government will pay all expenses for the ground and air training of the new pilots. They must be able to pass a stiff physical examination equivalent to those required for army air corps pilots, must be between the ages of 18 and 26 years, and must have had little or no previous experience. Any candidate who has held a private license or better is excluded at present.

"The impression has got around," said Cox yesterday, "that the new training program is intended primarily for noncollege persons. This is wrong. We are still demanding that 85 per cent of those trained be college students or recent graduates from college.

Few Noncollegians Admitted.

"We do not intend to increase the number of noncollege persons who can participate, but there will be less than 1,400 thruout the country. In the Chicago area there will be two new units of 15 each, or a total of 30 noncollege fledglings who will be allowed to receive instruction."

The first task will be to get the training program under way at all the schools which already have had training programs. Those in the Chicago area are the University of Chicago, Northwestern university, Armour Tech, Lewis institute, Lake Forest college, De Paul university, Loyola university, North Central college at Naperville, and Wheaton college at Wheaton.

After the college units are all in operation attention of the CAA will be turned to the noncollege units. Two sponsors, who are yet to be chosen, must undertake to organize a ground school for the two Chicago units. From 50 to 75 persons will be allowed to take the ground school course, and the 10 to 15 best students in these classes will be given the flight training, Cox said.

Advanced Courses Planned.

Altho the details are not yet settled, the CAA also proposes to give a certain amount of advanced training to graduates of the 1939-1940 CAA training program. This will be an advanced flight course equivalent to the army air corps' primary training course in that it will include aerobatics and flying in larger, faster airplanes than those previously used.

For this advanced course congress has appropriated a sum of money that will include "subsistence" for the students for a 10 week period. The students will be expected to go to concentration points and remain there thruout the flying instruction.

The CAA also is making plans, Cox disclosed, to give some training to 5,000 persons thruout the country who already hold pilot's licenses. The final details of this program also are in a nebulous state, and the final decisions concerning them are yet to be made by Grove Webster, chief of the CAA's private flying section, and other CAA authorities, Cox said.

Cox said that surveys indicate there are plenty of airplanes and pilots available to commence the new program but that there must be an increase in the number of instructors if the entire 45,000 new pilots are to be trained during the year 1940-1941. A number of new types of light and advanced civil training planes are now being produced for the program.

AFRICAN 'GIANTS' SWING KNIVES AT NAZIS IN FRANCE

Story of Somme Battle by German Eyewitness.

BERLIN, June 7 (AP).—Heavy German pressure to break thru the Weygand line and fierce allied resistance to hold shut the gate to Paris at any cost was described today in a dispatch by a German war correspondent, one of the Nazis' soldier-writers who march with the army.

He related the stages as the German assault gains momentum—first the dive bombers swarming down from the sky, then the engineers in the van of the ground offensive, then the booming of the artillery, and finally the infantry charge.

Tells of Crossing River.

"We are crossing the river [Somme]," he related. "French artillery is firing with medium caliber cannon on the point where we are crossing. Heavy shells with a gurgling sound land on the swampy, flooded ground on the banks. High up spurt fountains of clods of earth. Then shell splinters shower down.

"In the front, starry, eerie lights climb the sky, fired by our shock troops to direct the artillery.

"The enemy holds on stubbornly. We are up against Senegalese Negroes, sharpshooters, almost giants.

"Small groves, ravines, and steep slopes furnish favorable grounds for the defenders. They fire at us from all sides, from hedges, from behind and out of trees, from houses—from everywhere.

"The air is filled with noise from rifle fire—the crackling of single shots, there is an insistent whistling and whining overhead, then comes the stuttering of machine guns.

"A hidden machine gun reinforced by sharpshooters in the trees is still inflicting casualties on our infantry during the river crossing.

"Now the first platoon of the attacking company rushes up the shelterless slope, steadily gaining ground. Our troops get into the enemy's flank. A rifle duel is starting. We have the first dead, but we also capture the first enemy prisoners.

Young Soldiers Terrified.

"Two engineers, their trousers in shreds and one grazed by a shot on the nose, lead black sharpshooters to our rear.

"Savage, hand to hand fighting now is in progress. . . . The enemy swing long knives in all directions. . . . We beat them back, giving them their due. Some young soldiers are really terrified by the sight of such men, but fight them courageously. . . .

"In a small village across the Somme colored troops' arms for hand to hand fighting are piled high. There are knives a yard long with sharp edges. . . .

"Hills beyond are not yet in our hands, and already mechanized units of the striking forces are rolling across a Somme bridge, moving as on a drilling ground.

"First, antitank guns are gotten into position, the infantry batteries are following, and, shortly afterward, already the first big howitzer is creaking across the bridge.

"Engineers and sappers are examining the road for mines. Detachments report back to their company commanders. Four French mines have been detected and rendered inocuous.

"While at the far end of the village fighting still is going on for each house, a first aid station is already being established. . . .

"A messenger, sweat soaking thru his tunic, forces his way thru reënforcement marching up to the front. He comes from the first battle line.

"'Hill No. 98 has been taken by our troops,' he shouts.

"The best French positions are in our hands.

"The Somme belongs to the German. Now for the pursuit! . . . Our thrust is made at France's very heart."

DIES OF AUTO INJURIES.

Geneseo, Ill., June 7 [Special].—Rusa Lackey, 47, employé at the Midland Electric Coal mine of Atkinson ten years, died this morning of injuries incurred when a tire blowout wrecked his automobile. He is survived by his widow, Golden Tickets Lackey and two sons, Robert and John of Geneseo.

Install Blue Lights for Blackout of Vatican

ROME, June 7.—Vatican authorities have taken steps to insure a total blackout of the Vatican area in case of air raids on Rome, it was announced today. Blue electric bulbs have appeared in the streets, apostolic palaces, courtyards, squares, museums, and gardens. Vatican circles stressed that Pope Pius XII, contrary to previous reports, would not leave the Vatican in the event of war.

RELEASE OF U. S. ARMS TO ALLIES STIRS WARNINGS

Expect Congress to Give In Despite Warnings.

that the planes are "the best performing dive bombers in the world." Most of them are less than a year old and some are less than six months old, he said. "They cannot be replaced for at least eight months and their loss seriously hampers the naval reserve," Vorys declared.

Representative Bruce Barton [R., N. Y.] said he had received a card from a colored cook which contained a cogent comment. He told the house it said, "Every time we gets a Democrat we gets a war."

May Get 1,000 Planes.

It was reported in official quarters today that as many as 1,000 army and navy planes will be turned in to the manufacturers for sale to the allies. War department officials denied reports that some of the army's giant four engined flying fortresses are to be released. At his press conference President Roosevelt said there was nothing to worry about when asked whether the secret army and navy bomb sight would be given to the allies.

It was reported also that a total of 2,000 French 75 mm. guns, 500,000 to 600,000 world war Lee-Enfield rifles, and large quantities of Browning machine guns, Stokes mortars, and ammunition will be released by the army and made available for purchase by the allies.

While the allied purchasing mission was notified by the war department yesterday that the prohibition on the sale of these world war army stocks had been removed, following a White House conference attended by the President's national defense advisory commission, it transpired today that the trade-in rather than the direct sale method has been adopted.

Gun Transfers Arranged.

The administration has completed plans to have the United States Steel corporation take over stocks of old guns and ammunition that originally cost $200,000,000 and credit the government with about $50,000,000 for it as part payment on prospective munitions orders by the army. The steel corporation then will sell the war supplies to the allies.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr. recently resigned the board chairmanship of the steel corporation after he had been appointed a member of Mr. Roosevelt's advisory defense commission. It was explained that arrangements for the steel corporation to serve as the clearing house for the armament transfer program was decided on because of its facilities for handling such a deal with the utmost dispatch.

Cites Ruling on 1919 Law.

At his press conference President Roosevelt cited a ruling by Francis Biddle, acting attorney general, who held that under an act of July 11, 1919, the secretary of war has authority to sell surplus materials directly to foreign governments. Mr. Roosevelt disclosed, however, that he had requested special legislative authority to dispose of the surplus ordnance equipment by exchanging it to private manufacturers for credit on new equipment. Under this arrangement, the manufacturers would sell the old equipment to the allies.

An act of 1921 authorizes the war and navy departments to trade in airplanes for credit on new equipment and a 1926 law authorizes the exchange of deteriorated ammunition for new ammunition. Altho ordnance may be sold directly to private purchasers or foreign governments, there is no law authorizing the trade-in procedure.

Prefer Trade-In Program.

War department officials said they preferred to trade in the old equipment, instead of selling it directly to the allies, because any money received from such sales would go directly into the treasury and would have to be appropriated before the war department could use it.

Another explanation in congress was that the administration preferred the trade-in procedure as a subterfuge to circumvent international law. In the senate debate on the Pepper resolution yesterday, Senator Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.] read various extracts from treaties and conventions to which the United States is a party indicating that the sale of munitions to the allies is unlawful.

Reveal Earlier Request.

Following President Roosevelt's White House announcement, it was learned the administration requested authority to circumvent the legal restrictions with respect to world war ordnance four days ago. While the senate was shadow boxing over the Pepper resolution, an administration trial balloon, Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the military affairs committee, had pasted a typewritten amendment on his private copy of a bill which still is pending in the senate. It provides for "the exchange of deteriorated, unserviceable, obsolescent, or surplus equipment, munitions, and supplies for other equipment, munitions, and supplies of which there is a shortage."

The pending Sheppard bill contains various authorizations for the expansion of the national defense program and suspends during the next fiscal year the statutory limit on army airplanes. Asked why the senate had not heard about the typewritten amendment, Senator Sheppard replied:

"O, it does not appear in the printed copies of the bill."

Later he said it was drafted by the army general staff, that it had not been considered by the military affairs committee, and that he would offer it from the senate floor before final passage of the bill. He received the amendment, he said, on June 3.

There were many ironical remarks in congress about the sudden discovery of a surplus airplane problem, only two weeks after testimony by war and navy department officials that the army has a total of 1,200 fighting planes and the navy 1,367.

Senators Give Views.

Senators' comments on the armament transfer deal follow:

Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.]—It is a trial balloon to see how far they can go to get us in this war. If they get away with this without protest they will send the ships over next. After that it is just a question of time until your sons, not theirs, will follow to man the planes and the ships.

Walter F. George [D., Ga.]—Things are moving so rapidly, changing from hour to hour, that it is difficult to keep up with the developments. I have always interpreted the law as authorizing the United States to sell its surplus war supplies and munitions.

Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.]—There seems to be a very evident effort in many quarters to thrust us just as far toward war as possible without plunging over the precipice. The situation is menacing and may lead to involvement if we aren't careful.

Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.]—The attorney general of the United States has ruled that under a law of July, 1919, it would not be a violation of international law for us to sell the allies a large supply or rifles, 75 mm. guns and ammunition officially labeled as "obsolete" war stocks. They are not to be sold directly to a belligerent but will be transferred to munitions makers in this country who will in turn sell them to the allies. We are thus doing by indirection what we would not do directly and what the senate foreign relations committee has in effect said we should not do when it voted 19 to 2 against the Pepper resolution to do this very thing.

MECHANICS TOIL ON U. S. BOMBERS GOING TO ALLIES

Buffalo, N. Y., June 7 (AP).—Mechanics swarmed over 50 United States navy warplanes concentrated at the Buffalo airport tonight, conditioning them for delivery to the allies at a time and under conditions veiled in official secrecy.

The planes, dive bombers one to three years old, are being turned back to the manufacturer, the Curtiss Aeroplane division of Curtiss-Wright, for resale to the allies. Burdette S. Wright, Curtiss Aeroplane vice president, and other company officials declined to say when and how the bombers will be started on their way to Europe.

The Bombers were flown here from five naval reserve bases and various midwestern points where they were being used for training of naval reserve officers. Because of their limited cruising range, well under 1,000 miles, they will have to be transported overseas by ship.

An additional police guard was ordered around the huge Curtiss hangar at the airport, within and just outside of which the bombers are lined up.

SAVE DEMOCRACY BY AVOIDING WAR, WHEELER PLEADS

U. S. Intervention Assailed at Peace Conclave.

Washington, D. C., June 7 [Special]—Opposition to United States participation in the war and to the "war trend" of American foreign policy was registered here today by more than 300 delegates from 19 states.

The delegates attended an anti-war mobilization meeting called by national peace organizations. They were addressed tonight by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], representative usher L. Burdick [R., N. D.], Norman Thomas, Socialist party leader; O. K. Armstrong, a member of the foreign relations committee of the American Legion, and others.

In resolutions adopted today and the addresses delivered tonight, American "intervention" was condemned.

Wheeler Assails Hysteria.

Senator Wheeler, asserting that "a mad hysteria today grips many of our people," warned that the cause of democracy would be lost, not served, if the United States entered the war.

"We are told that Europe is on fire—that we should help put out this fire before the wind shifts and the fire reaches us," he said. "I want to do everything possible to help put out that fire. I want to do everything to help the allies stamp out the brutal forces which seek to dominate Europe and perhaps the world. But by setting the United States on fire we will not help put out the fire in Europe."

Saying he had been referred to as an isolationist, the Montana senator declared that "what people really mean when they call you an isolationist is that you no longer consider this country a British colony—or that you are some one who doesn't want to see the youth of our country killed and maimed on the battlefields of Europe."

Advises War Advocates.

"There are many people in this country," Wheeler added, "who feel we should enter the war now. To all these, I say—you personally can go. Go to Canada and join the allied forces, or volunteer here for ambulance service abroad, or go to Germany if you want to fight for Hitler."

Wheeler asserted democracy could best be served by building a strong, healthy, and prosperous nation in the United States.

"In this war as in the last war," he said, "the victors will be the horsemen of the Apocalypse—famine, disease, and death. Starvation and poverty will hold sway thruout Europe. If Hitler wins he will have the same problems that the allies will have if they win—feeding hungry populations—endeavoring to prevent great revolutions from sweeping thru the conquered countries. These problems will be more than sufficient to occupy Hitler or the allies.

"Let us face the realities instead of bogey stories about air bases from which giant hordes of planes will bomb New York, St. Louis, and New Orleans."

Burdick Urges Sanity.

Representative Burdick, declaring that "this nation is in no position to tell others what to do or to assist them in their wars when we are unable to stop their wars," joined Wheeler in an appeal to "beware of war hysteria," which, he added, is being "generated in this country as rapidly as public opinion can be created."

Armstrong expressed the conviction that American "involvement in the wars now raging in the world is not inevitable and must not occur."

Thomas urged a five point program of action which included assumption of responsibility for care of refugees and protection at home of our civil liberties, "which already have suffered from war hysteria."

How Great Britain's production of airplanes and airplane engines has increased since Germany invaded the Netherlands and Belgium, according to Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production.

WAR DEPARTMENT ACQUIRES THREE BOMBING RANGES

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP).—Secretary Harry H. Woodring announced today the war department had started acquiring land in the far west for three bombing ranges. To be used by west coast bombarding groups, the ranges will be near Sacramento, Cal., Wendover, Utah, and Tonopah, Nev.

Arrows locate towns near new bombing ranges.

The largest will be near Wendover and will cover more than 5,800 square miles; the Tonopah tract about 5,400 square miles, and the Sacramento range 4,500 acres.

Woodring said the Wendover area is about 4,000 feet above sea level, and consists of the bed of a dry lake. The Tonopah site lies at a general altitude of 6,000 feet above sea level. The tract, a part of the public domain, is wasteland. The Sacramento range is about 15 miles east of Sacramento and adjoins Mather field, which was established in the world war to train pilots.

BRITAIN'S PLANE MAKERS REPLACE FLANDERS LOSS

'World's Biggest Bomber' Now Being Built.

LONDON, June 7 (AP).—Britain has more than made good her air losses in the battle of Flanders and has started building "the largest bomber in the world," Lord Beaverbrook, publisher and minister of aircraft production, declared today.

British factories, working incessantly to fill the royal air force's tremendous orders, turned planes out faster than they were lost during the three week Nazi drive across the Low Countries and northern France, Lord Beaverbrook asserted.

The new bomber, he said, has been tested successfully and is in production.

Plane Output Up 62 Per Cent.

He added that the increase in Britain's aircraft output per week since May 11, the day after Germany invaded Holland and Belgium, has been 62 per cent more planes per week, 33 per cent more engines per week, 186 per cent more planes repaired, and 159 per cent more engines repaired.

Lord Beaverbrook was unable to disclose production figures upon which these percentages were based. As for German figures, he was more specific.

"I believe they have 11,675 aircraft, that they have 16,000 pilots of whom 12,000 have had recent training," he said. "I believe that the number of their troop carriers is 505, and that these are able to carry 40 men or more each."

Can Transport 25,000 Men.

It was suggested to him that this would indicate an ability to carry about 25,000 troops, since some carrier planes transport 52 men. Beaverbrook nodded assent.

The minister said it would be about correct to say that two-fifths of Germany's planes are combat or front-line planes.

Of American planes, he said, "we will take and do take all we can get from America and will take more if new American sources develop." He spoke highly of the American Lockheed, called the Hudson here.

Located Prison Ship.

It was a Hudson, he said, which located the German prison ship Altmark, from which about 300 captive British merchant seamen later were rescued. He called the Hudson the enemy of the Dornier 18, particularly, and said one returned from a flight of more than 375 miles with 73 shrapnel holes in it.

Hurricanes, a type of British fighter, are being delivered from Canada, Lord Beaverbrook disclosed. He indicated numerous deliveries from America, but said he was unable at the moment to give figures.

The new Defiant fighter, which made its debut during the Flanders batle, has proved "immensely successful," Lord Beaverbrook declared, and already has accounted for 63 German planes definitely destroyed and 78 "believed" destroyed.

Lord Beaverbrook said his son, John William Maxwell Aitken, 30 year old squadron leader in the royal air force, has praised the British planes.

"I call him every morning before he goes out to fight and he calls me every evening after he has returned," Lord Beaverbrook said.

SENATOR VAN NUYS OPPOSES 3D TERM FOR ANY PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP).—Senator Van Nuys [D., Ind.] announced today he would reject an invitation from Indiana party leaders to be one of the state's delegates to the Democratic national convention if the delegation were instructed to support President Roosevelt for a third term.

"I am not opposed to President Roosevelt, but am unalterably opposed to a third term for any man, regardless of who he is," Van Nuys told a reporter.

Election of Mr. Roosevelt for a third term, the senator said, "would break down one of the last traditional strongholds of our form of government."

THE NEW DEAL CANNOT DEFEND US, SAYS DEWEY

It's Incompetent as Ever, He Warns Nation.

Charleston, W. Va., June 7 [Special].—America cannot rely on the hope that the New Deal administration can muddle thru the present critical period, Thomas E. Dewey declared in a speech here tonight.

"Since the crisis became acute," he said, "the administration has fumbled with national defense just as it fumbled for seven years with national recovery. Our national responsibility must not be left in the hands of our Chamberlains."

Addresses Big Rally.

The candidate for the Republican nomination for President gave his talk before a large G. O. P. rally. The meeting was under the sponsorship of the West Virginia members of the Republican national committee and the officers of the West Virginia Republican central committee.

Dewey warned that America already has lost precious time that should have been spent strengthening our national defense. Coupled with this in making the situation serious, he said, is that we face the tremendous task with our national finances strained and an industrial system that has been systematically sabotaged by government policy.

Unfit, He Charges.

He said the country realizes that the New Deal administration is unfitted for the task that confronts it.

"In the whole cabinet there is scarcely any industrial experience," Dewey asserted. "The administrative record of most of the cabinet is pathetic. Its outstanding characteristic is an appetite for partisan political activity."

EXCERPTS FROM SPEECH

Following are excerpts from Dewey's speech, as prepared for delivery:

"The American nation is entering upon one of the most critical periods in its history. It is imperative that we so strengthen our armed forces that no aggressor will dare to shatter the peace of the western hemisphere.

"My message to you today is: Vigilance is the price of safety.

"Here in America precious time has already been lost. We cannot rely upon the hope that our administration will muddle thru. Our national responsibility must not be left in the hands of our Chamberlains. America must have an administrative organization in Washington competent to carry out our national defense program swiftly and surely.

Calls Action Fumbling.

"To what extent have we such an administrative organization now?

"The actions of this administration during the last month must be weighed with the greatest of care. Since the crisis became acute the administration has fumbled with national defense just as it fumbled for seven years with national recovery.

"Now we must do at top speed what we should have been doing in orderly fashion during the last seven years. We must now multiply our industrial capacity over night. And fate leaves us for seven all-important months in the hands of men whose whole public life has been devoted to restricting our industrial output.

"Now that the situation has become critical; now that our people from one end of the country to the other are aroused to the need for strengthening America's armed forces, what sort of leadership does this administration offer?

"On May 16 President Roosevelt went before the congress of the United States to ask for additional appropriations for national defense. He asked for $1,182,000,000. He called for a program that would provide us with 50,000 military airplanes. He called for an industrial capacity to produce 50,000 airplanes a year.

"Obviously a Makeshift."

"The program that the President presented to congress was obviously a makeshift, hastily thrown together to catch up with the popular demand for action. Yet congress realized the need for speed and promptly took steps to furnish the required funds.

"The country appreciated the necessity for increased expenditures. But it began to ask whether this money was to be effectively used, or whether it was to be expended in the same wasteful manner as the 60 billion dollars which has already run thru the fingers of the New Deal spenders.

"There has probably never been a time in our history when the country has been so alert to the necessity for vigilance. The spontaneous desire to rally to national defense was immediately followed by a sobering realization. The country realized that this administration was utterly unfitted to the task that had been thrust upon it. In the whole cabinet there is scarcely any industrial experience. The administrative record of most of the cabinet is pathetic. Its outstanding characteristic is an appetite for partisan political activity.

The Outside Experts.

The President said that he would call to Washington a number of industrial and other experts. But he gave no indication that these experts would be given authority to carry out the defense plans. The country feared that industrial leaders were not to be placed in charge of the industrial production with authority to get it done.

"These fears were confirmed on the next day by the President's secretary. He told the press: 'They will come in not to supersede, but to work with, advise with, and coördinate with the officers of the government.' Industrial production was to be handled by proxy.

"As further confirmation of the country's fears, it was reported that industrial mobilization would be in the hands of the secretary of commerce, Harry Hopkins. This would have been as misplaced an assignment as was ever made by a President of the United States. The greatest industrial effort in our history intrusted to a man who had had no industrial experience whatever! Worse than that, a man who had been for seven years a leader of the New Deal war on industry!

"Alarm and Resentment."

"But the alarm and resentment of the country found prompt expression. The country demanded in unmistakable terms that the administration place the national defense program in the hands of competent men.

"Finally, but grudgingly, the New Deal gave in. On May 28 the President announced the appointment of an advisory commission on national defense, with seven members, two of whom were industrialists who were to devote their whole time to national defense. At first these advisers were to be subordinate to cabinet officers. It was not until May 31 that, again in response to the pressure of a now thoroly awakened public opinion, the President made the advisory commission directly responsible to himself.

"Once again the New Deal has shown its temperamental inability to follow a straight road toward a national goal. It has preferred to dawdle along the way, picking political daisies until prodded from behind by public opinion.

"The whole course of the preparedness program is a triumph for alert and intelligent public opinion. The New Deal has reluctantly retreated day by day from its objective of complete partisan control. It has at least promised to permit competent men to do the job that has to be done.

He Fears "Ham-Stringing."

"But we have seen too often how able administrators, invited into the councils of the New Deal, have been ham-strung by the politically minded advisers who surround the President. The gains that have been made in the past few weeks have been achieved only under the insistent pressure of public opinion. They will be held only by constant vigilance on the part of the people.

"The nation must continue to call a halt on each partisan move of the administration. By sheer pressure of public opinion it must compel the administration to permit the production of the equipment necessary to national defense. Our only safeguard in an hour of danger is the continued unceasing alertness of the people of this country. That unceasing alertness is the price of our national survival. Eternal vigilance is the price of safety."

SECOND CRUISER DISPATCHED TO SOUTH AMERICA

Wichita Follows Quincy on Patrol Mission.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—With the dispatch of a second cruiser to South American waters, the United States today apparently had adopted a policy of patroling the coasts of Latin America against trouble from without and within.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison ordered the heavy cruiser Wichita to South American ports. Last Friday the Quincy left for Rio de Janeiro and other South American ports. The state department indicated that other American ships might follow to form a "good will" patrol of that continent.

Called Friendly Visit.

While the trip was described in official circles as nothing more than "a friendly visit," the move was regarded by informed observers as an effort to give Latin American nations moral support in their campaigns against "fifth column" threats and to accustom southern neighbors to a patrol of American warships.

The move, it was said, will bring South American nations to look upon the United States as their protector and build a desired big brother rôle, which may have vast military importance should any South American nation be invaded and the United States prepare to go to its defense.

Sister Ship of Quincy.

The Wichita is the newest of the navy's 10,000 ton cruisers and like its sister ship, the Quincy, had been in Atlantic service in the neutrality patrol. Both vessels carry nine 8 inch guns, eight 5 inch guns, four planes, and a complement of 561 officers and men.

Both ships are expected to visit Montevideo, the capital of Uruguay, where Nazi activity is reported to be more intense than in any other South American nation. The Nazis also are active in Brazil, whose capital the cruisers are to visit.

It is expected that other cruisers will follow the Wichita and Quincy in relays, so that the United States will have, in effect, a constant patrol in South America.

TEST YOUR HORSE SENSE

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Here is the first instalment of my Test for the Boy Friend; so save it for your scrapbook. The specific likes and dislikes of 1,187 unmarried girls and women were obtained by private interviews. They spoke frankly, and revealed things they often would never have told their boy friends. Under Demerits are listed their componest criticisms, not of men in general, but of their own fiancés. Under Merits are the commonest virtues which they mentioned. Subtract your Demerit total from your Merit total to obtain your net score and interpret it according to the norms below.

| DEMERITS | MERITS. |
| 1. Too fresh. Tries to "paw" a girl. [6] | 1. Generous with his money but not a splurger. [6] |
| 2. Boasts about his other girls. [30] | 2. Frequently compliments girl on her looks, clothes, cooking, etc. [30] |
| 3. Pouts or sulks if he cannot have his own way in everything. [6] | 3. Uses good English with a minimum of slang. [6] |
| 4. Tactless and blunt. Does not make friends easily. Irritates people. [30] | 4. Has high ideals and firm convictions about right and wrong. [30] |
| 5. Too introvertive. Dislikes double dates, parties, and social affairs. [6] | 5. Lets girl drive his car, or teaches her how, if she is a novice. [6] |
| 6. Toots horn in front of girl's home instead of coming to the door. [6] | 6. Gives girl presents which are appropriate or useful. [6] |
| 7. No business ability. Can't hold on to his money or a job. Usually broke. [30] | 7. Is well read. Can discuss current events in addition to athletics. [6] |
| 8. Always trying to say things which will shock people. A grandstander. [6] | 8. Likes a wide range of foods. Not a finicky eater. [30] |
| 9. Tries to put on airs. Is affected in his speech. Snobbish. [6] | 9. Looks directly at a person when talking. Not shifty in gaze. [6] |
| 10. Cynical. Believes that everybody is bad until proved otherwise. [6] | 10. Always has entertainment well planned. Seldom asks "Where'll we go tonight?" [6] |

GLENVIEW FIELD SUPPLIES SEVEN SCOUT-BOMBERS

Seven Curtiss scout-bomber biplanes from the naval reserve air base at Glenview were flown to the Curtiss company's plant at Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday. The ships are identical with others that have been traded to the Curtiss company by the navy and presumably are part of a group of 50 of these planes that are to go to the allies.

At the air base here it was said that orders to ferry the planes to Buffalo had been received on Thursday. Reserve pilots accompanied by enlisted crew-chiefs made the flight in formation to the factory.

The airplanes are obsolete types of navy dive bombers, with 840 horse power Cyclone motors, retractile landing gear and ranges of 741 miles at a cruising speed of 200 miles an hour. Top speed of the ships was 249 miles an hour, according to the Curtis company. Their performance approximates that of the German Stuka dive bombers that have played such important rôles in the Nazis offensives in Poland, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France.

THE PRESIDENT IMPLIES HE'S FOR 'MUST' DRILLING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—President Roosevelt today gave by implication his indorsement to compulsory military training for all American youths.

At his press conference he was asked if he had read an editorial in the New York Times urging such a step. He replied that he had read only the first paragraph but he had liked that.

The first paragraph of the editorial said:

"The time has come when, in the interest of self-protection, the American people should at once adopt a national system of universal compulsory military training. We say this as a newspaper which has never before believed in the wisdom of such a policy in time of peace. We say it because the logic of events drives us remorselessly to this conclusion."

WM. GREEN ASKS LABOR-INDUSTRY PEACE, FAIR PLAY

Urges Action Against Traitor Groups.

A large crowd in the Coliseum last night heard William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, plead for industrial-labor peace and demand that the organized treachery of foreign fifth column activities be stamped out.

The meeting, sponsored by the Chicago Union Labor Post of the American Legion, was called that Chicago labor, American Legion members, and Chicagoans generally might reaffirm their faith in Americanism. Green, John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and Patrick Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building and Trades council, were given Legion Americanism awards.

Urges Fair Play in Industry.

"At a time like this industrial conflict would be stupid and dangerous," Green told the meeting. "We urge employers and employés alike to be calm and patient. We appeal to them to be governed by fair play in human relations in industry.

"American labor does not want strikes. It wants work. American employers do not want strikes, they want to produce. Let both sides follow the just and peaceful policy of collective bargaining in the settlement of any difference that may arise. That is our prayer and that is our purpose."

He pledged the service of labor to the promotion of a preparedness program, and then turned to a discussion of subversive activities.

Time for Drastic Action.

"The American Federation of Labor believes that the time has come for drastic action against traitors in our midst," Green said. "The communist party and the Nazi bund must be outlawed.

"No political, social, fraternal, or labor organization which is financed in part or in whole by a foreign government should be permitted to function in the Western hemisphere."

Green declared that communist and Nazi organizations are carrying on vicious campaigns of antagonism against the United States in Mexico, Cuba, Central America, and South America. In the United States, he said, the same organizations, on orders from Moscow and Berlin, flood the country with propaganda and keep up a constant din about the need of maintaining civil liberties.

Would Destroy All Liberty.

"The more fervently we believe in civil liberties," he continued, "the more searchingly we should question the present day abuses of civil liberties. The true defenders of civil liberties should recognize that propaganda emanating from communists and Nazis is designed to dupe them into becoming stupid accessories of a revolutionary process which would destroy all liberty in America.

"If we continue to extend civil liberties to the fifth column, we are inviting them and encouraging them to wipe out civil liberties.

"Let us rather clean house in America of the enemies of Americanism that have crept in. Let us build armed defenses to protect our house against the aggressor who covets our possessions. Let us keep peace in our house if possible. And let us unite in America for the preservation of all that we hold dear, which can be summed up in one word—Americanism."

Civilized Way of Life.

Green defined Americanism as a civilized way of life that had come to mean opportunity.

The Legion award was presented Green and the others by Commander L. N. Bittinger of the Illinois department of the Legion.

The Coliseum meeting was preceded by a testimonial dinner for Green in the Stevens hotel. Two hundred Chicago labor delegates and American Legion leaders attended. Following the dinner 2,000 Chicago labor men and Legion members paraded to the Coliseum. Kenneth Anderson, Austin High school student and winner of the recent Legion state oratorical contest, was introduced at the meeting.

IRELAND PASSES DEATH PENALTY FOR TRAITORS

More Recruits Sought by Government.

DUBLIN, Ireland, June 7 (AP).—Parliament today pushed thru all stages an emergency defense bill providing the death penalty for offenses against Irish military law.

The bill was passed in the senate after debate in which the government appealed for more recruits for defense forces and in which some members demanded conscription.

I. R. A. Suspect Accused Anew.

New charges of receiving $20,000 in United States money for use on behalf of the outlawed Irish Republican Army were filed today against Stephen Held, naturalized Irishman accused of sheltering a mystery enemy parachutist.

Police said the money, a portable radio transmitter, and a used parachute were found in Held's home May 24 in a search for the parachutist reported to have landed near Dublin.

Held denied knowledge of the radio set and parachute. He said they must have been left behind by a stranger who sought lodging at his house. His trial was set for June 21.

Act on North Ireland Defense.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, June 7 (AP).—Premier Lord Craigavon returned today from defense talks in London and said he had been given "a free hand" regarding defense in Northern Ireland.

He said "Britain regards Ulster [Northern Ireland] as a Rock of Gibraltar."

ADMITTED TO HIGH COURT.

Belvidere, Ill., June 7 [Special].—Miss Blanche De Wolf, daughter of former Judge W. C. De Wolf of Belvidere and only woman lawyer in Boone county, has been admitted to practice before the United State Supreme court before which she appeared yesterday.

NEW BILL ADDS OVER BILLION TO TAXPAYER LOAD

Two Million More Will Help Pay It.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—A far-reaching tax bill estimated to add 1 billion 6 millions of dollars to the revenues of the government was unanimously approved today by a house ways and means subcommittee. It is scheduled to be approved by the full committee tomorrow and passed by the house next week.

The measure calls upon nearly 16 million individuals to file income tax returns next March 15, by lowering the exemption of single persons from $1,000 to $800 and of married persons from $2,500 to $2,000.

Even tho personal exemptions and other deductions may exempt many from paying a tax, all persons with gross incomes of $800 and $2,000, respectively, must file a return. This is expected to include many WPA workers and other low salaried workers.

Surtaxes Revised Upward.

At present, income tax returns are filed by approximately 7,500,000 persons, of whom about 50 per cent pay taxes. Some 3,214,000 married persons and 5,122,000 single persons will be forced for the first time to file statements of their 1940 income next spring. More than 2,000,000 of these will pay taxes.

In addition the subcommittee drastically revised upward the surtaxes on net income beginning at $6,000 and extending to $100,000 a year. It left unchanged the present surtax of 4 per cent on net incomes between $4,000 and $6,000 a year and on incomes over $100,000.

The increased surtaxes and the lowered personal exemptions will produce an estimated $252,000,000 a year. To this will be added the flat 10 per cent increase on all income taxes approved by the subcommitte last week, approximately $25,000,000. The total increase in individual income taxes is therefore expected to be $277,000,000.

Increase Corporation Rates.

The subcommittee, in a last minute surprise action, also voted to increase corporation income taxes rates by 1 per cent, expected to yield, including the 10 per cent supertax, $77,000,000.

Under the present law, corporations with $5,000 yearly net income pay a 12½ per cent tax. This has been raised to 13⅛ per cent. Corporations in the $5,000 to $20,000 class will pay 15 per cent instead of 14 per cent. Those in the $20,000 to $25,0000 group will pay 17 per cent instead of 16 per cent, and those earning over $25,000 yearly will pay 19 per cent instead of 18 per cent.

The committee has already approved the flat 10 per cent increase on all income taxes, corporate and individual, and the increased excise taxes on gasoline, spirits, beer, cigarets and other commodities. These increases are expected to yield $652,000,000.

Debt Limit Boosted.

Representative Jere Cooper [D., Tenn.], chairman of the subcommittee, added the foregoing three amounts, $277,000,000, $77,000,000, and $652,000,000 to achieve the grand total of $1,006,000,000 as the expected yield of the new tax bill.

The bill also carries a provision for increasing the national debt limit from 45 billions to 49 billions of dollars and for the issuance of four billion dollars worth of "defense bonds" by the treasury to pay for the huge military expenditures of the administration.

The original bill contemplated the ear-marking of the new taxes to retire the defense bonds; in other words, to pay for at least four billion dollars of the defense program. Cooper said, however, that this stipulation was a matter for the full committee to decide.

How Law Will Work.

In attempting to make clear the changed income tax provisions tax experts cited a number of examples to show the increased tax various individuals will have to pay under the new law. Some of them follow:

1. A single man earning $800 a year and up must file a return which he never had to do before. His personal exemption of $800 and earned income credit of 10 per cent exempts him from paying a tax up to $880. If he earns $900 yearly, or $75 a month, he will pay the normal 4 per cent tax on net income of $20 or the purely nominal tax of 80 cents. It is the first time in the history of the United States, however, that a person earning such a low wage will pay an income tax. This provision will hit many persons on WPA, it was noted.

2. A single man earning $1,500 a year, or $125 a month, has a $1,000 personal exemption and a 10 per cent earned income exemption of $150 under the present law. He pays a $14.16 income tax under present law. Under the new law he has only a $800 personal exemption and earned income credit of $150. He will pay a $22 income tax, an increase of $7.84, plus a supertax of $2.20, an increase of $10.04.

3. A single man earning $5,500 a year now pays an income tax upon a net income of $3,950, just escaping the surtax brackets. His tax is $158. The lowering of his personal exemption from $1,000 to $800 under the new law will put him in the surtax brackets. He will pay the 4 per cent normal tax upon a net income of $4,150 plus 4 per cent surtax upon the $150 above $4,000, a total of $172, plus the 10 per cent supertax of $17.20, an increase of $31.20.

Figures for Married Men.

4. A married man earning $2,000 a year must file a return, which he did not have to do before. If he earns $2,750 a year, he pays no tax at present. His tax under the new law will be $20.90.

5. A married man earning $4,000 a year gets a $2,500 personal exemption and a $400 earned income credit at present. He pays the 4 per cent normal tax on net income of $1,100, or $44. Under the new law, he gets only a $2,000 personal exemption and a $400 earned income credit. He pays the 4 per cent normal tax on net income of $1,600, or $64, plus $6.40 supertax, an increase of $26.40.

6. A married man with two children earning $7,500 a year pays on a net income of $3,450 at present, deducting $2,500 personal exemption, $400 for each child, and earned income credit of $750. His tax is $138. His next year's tax will be $173.80.

Higher Brackets Hit Hard.

Committee members noted that the effect of the increased taxes upon those with moderate incomes is not severe. In the higher brackets, the increases will be substantial under the new law, they said.

For example, a married man receiving $25,000 a year pays a surtax of $2,240 at present plus the regular 4 per cent normal tax of some $900 after reductions, a total of some $3,100. Under the new law he will pay a surtax of $3,440 alone and his total tax will be about $1,700 more than this year.

Persons receiving $50,000 a year pay a surtax of $7,700 at present. The surtax under the new law will be $11,780. Those receiving $100,000 yearly pay a 55 per cent surtax at present, or $30,000. The surtax rate is 56 per cent under the new law, or $36,780.

Proposed Income Surtaxes

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—The following table shows the increased surtaxes on net income which a house ways and means subcommittee approved today. They are expected to yield an additional 252 million dollars yearly. Surtaxes under the present law and in the proposed law start on net incomes of $4,000 a year. They are imposed in addition to the normal 4 per cent tax on total net income. Net income is the amount remaining after personal exemptions, earned income credit, deductions for charity, etc., have been subtracted from gross income.

| Net income— | Surtax rate: Existing law— Pct. | Existing law— Total surtax on higher amt. | Proposed law— Pct. | Proposed law— Total surtax on higher amt. |

| 400,000 to 500,000 | 68 | 286,000 | 68 | 292,780 |
| 500,000 to 750,000 | 70 | 461,000 | 70 | 467,780 |
| 750,000 to 1,000,000 | 72 | 641,000 | 72 | 647,780 |
| 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 | 73 | 1,371,000 | 73 | 1,377,780 |
| 2,000,000 to 5,000,000 | 74 | 3,591,000 | 74 | 3,597,780 |

The table shows that the increased surtaxes are levied on persons receiving between $6,000 and $100,000 yearly net income. The surtaxes on incomes between $4,000 and $6,000 and on net incomes exceeding $100,000 remain the same as in the present law. To all surtaxes, as well as normal taxes, the 10 per cent supertax must be applied.

U. S. DECREE BANS RADIO AMATEURS' MOBILE STATIONS

Washington, D. C., June 7 [Special.]—Supplementing its recent order prohibiting amateur radio communication with foreign countries, the Federal Communications commission today imposed an immediate ban on the use of practically all portable or mobile amateur stations operating in the United States and its territories and possessions.

Exceptions were made for stations using short range frequencies above 56,000 kilocycles and amateurs operating portable stations on June 22 and 23 in connection with field day tests of portable transmitters designed for special use in time of emergency.

Altho several thousand stations are affected by the order, the commission said they did not operate regularly. Any amateur licensed by the commission has been permitted to operate a portable station provided that advance notice is given the FCC in writing. The frequencies still permitted generally do not carry farther than the line of sight, the commission said.

PLAN TO SET UP COUNTY BUREAU FOR TAX REFUNDS

County officials yesterday were studying plans to set up a tax refund bureau in the county treasurer's office to make refunds to all taxpayers for levies held illegal in the courts. At present only those taxpayers who protest the levies when they pay their bills are entitled to refunds.

Refunds could legally be made to all taxpayers only if authorized by new legislation, officials conceded. County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said he thought most people would be willing to finance a refund bureau by paying a special tax such as 5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, for its expenses.

Judge Jarecki said a system of refunds of illegal levies would result in prompter tax payments and fewer illegal levies. Tax preadjudication laws, designed to give all taxpayers a share in refunds of illegal levies have twice been held unconstitutional by the Illinois Supreme court.

THIEVES TAKE $145 IN TOBBACCO.

Ben Daidone, 1040 North Springfield avenue, reported to Woodlawn police yesterday that thieves took tobacco valued at $145 from his truck. Daidone is a driver for a tobacco company.

Vacation Queen

EVELYN ANDREWS.

Miss Evelyn Andrews has been chosen as "vacation queen" of the Hawthorne works of the Western Electric company and will be crowned at a special ceremony Tuesday noon at the plant. Miss June Travis of the movies will attend.

ARMY ARSENALS ORDERED TO RUN 24 HOURS DAILY

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP).—Army arsenals have been ordered to operate where feasible on a full 24 hour basis, officials disclosed today, to speed the production of munitions. Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, chief of ordnance, sent the order to commanders of the army's six ordnance manufacturing arsenals.

These establishments already employ more than 17,000 men and additional employés will be added locally as required.

Navy shipyards and other shore establishments were ordered put on a two shift, six-day-a-week basis last month.

The army order applies particularly to the arsenals at Watertown and Springfield, Mass., Watervliet, N. Y., Picatinny, N. J., Frankford, Pa., and Rock Island, Ill.

Officials said some departments of these plants already were working a 24 hour day, so that the new order extended a speeding up process which has been in progress for the last several weeks.

SUPERROAD LINK TO WEST URGED BY CIVIC GROUPS

10 Year Program to Curb Massacre Is Renewed.

BY HAL FOUST.

West side and west suburban civic organizations, at a meeting in the Oak Park club yesterday, renewed their advocacy for construction of a superhighway west from the loop to rural routes adjoining the built-up area. The meeting, sponsored by the Chicago Motor club, revived a 10 year campaign for this improvement, designed to curb the massacre on congested surface streets.

This campaign, with a popularity matured during the last decade, has been somewhat dormant since the Illinois Supreme court last February invalidated a financial setup enacted by the legislature last June. Public enthusiasm for the projects also was dampened by Chicago engineers becoming involved in ward politics.

New Plans to Be Prepared.

At this Oak Park rally, with Secretary Walter Kelly of the Garfield Park Business Men's association presiding, a committee headed by State Representative Arthur M. Kaindl (D., Chicago), was directed to prepare new engineering and financial plans for the west side superhighway. These will be presented to the Illinois highway department, the Cook county highway department, and the councils and boards of Chicago and its western suburbs.

A tentative location and design, presented at the meeting by James E. Bulger, a director of the motor club, call for an elevated structure to abut the existing earth embankment of the North Western railroad. The estimated cost is $27,500,000 for 11 miles, including terminal facilities downtown and on the west at about 25th avenue, Maywood.

Warns Against Overcrowding.

"The superhighway," said Emile Bloche, president of the Oak Park Optimists' club, "must not dump its traffic onto local loop streets that already are overcrowded. Nor must it dump traffic onto suburban residential or business streets."

"The superhighway," said Randall H. Cooper, secretary of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce, "must extend thru the western suburbs to the rural roads. I've inspected the highways in the New York area and experience discredits an apprehension here that these super routes will depreciate adjacent realty."

Mayor John L. Brink of River Forest challenged this statement and said he believed River Forest would rather have the highway go thru some other town.

Cites Decreased Hasard.

"I don't think our main concern should be the effect of a superhighway on realty values," said Bulger. "Our primary interest is in saving lives.

"A west side route would save 18 fatalities and about 800 personal injuries annually. Daily, 42,000 cars would travel the 11 miles expeditiously, but with only 2 per cent of the hazard now encountered traveling slowly on the surface streets.

"I have a letter from Mayor Kelly notifying me that his newly reorganized Chicago Plan commission will meet next Tuesday. If it is the wish of this meeting, I'll present your appeal for a west side superhighway at that time."

He was authorized to speak for the west side and west suburban organizations.

BATHE IN THE SUN, BUT NOT IN LAKE; IT'S 50 DEGREES

It's all right to trek down to the beaches on these hot summer days—but don't go near the water! This warning was issued yesterday by George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the Chicago Park district.

Donoghue explained that, despite high temperatures in Chicago, Lake Michigan's temperature is only about 50 degrees. A plunge into the icy water may result in shock and heart failure. And even a good swimmer may be helpless if he is seized by a cramp.

"Most drownings at park beaches occur before the opening day—and most of those 'drowned' aren't really drowned at all," Donoghue said. "They die from shock to hearts that can't take it. So keep out of Lake Michigan until the official bathing season begins, which is usually no sooner than July 1."

BAN DOWNTOWN PARKING STATION PERMITS 30 DAYS

A 30 day ban on permits for any new downtown parking lot, pending establishment of regulations on lots and the construction of parking lot buildings, was voted yesterday by a subcommittee of the council building and zoning committee.

The subcommittee, headed by Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], will make its recommendation to the building committee, which in turn is expected to ask for council action. Building Commissioner Richard E. Schmidt, said, however, that the order will go into effect immediately, pending the council action.

"The subcommittee does not intend to establish a monopoly for the present interests," McDermott said. "We feel, however, that the business needs regulation."

Central Police Warned Again to Ban Gambling

Punch boards, bingo and "26" games in the loop district must stop, Capt. Thomas J. Duffy warned his policemen in Central station yesterday. The captain ordered the gambling devices and games cleaned out of the district several weeks ago but said he had received reports that they still are in operation in a number of places.

LASKER ESTATE BECOMES U. OF C. PICNIC GROUNDS

Used by Student and Alumni Groups.

Another group of University of Chicago students today will have an outing at Mill road farm, the palatial 480 acre estate near Lake Forest which was given to the university last December by Albert D. Lasker, advertising executive and university trustee.

During the last month about 275 students, faculty members, alumni, and university employés have exploited the recreational possibilities of the $3,500,000 estate, and since the start of the annual alumni homecoming celebration last week and the coming of favorable weather there has been a large increase in those doing so.

A Two Year Experiment.

Mr. Lasker, in making the gift, specified that the university experiment with recreational and educational uses of the estate for two years. If at the end of this period the estate is not regarded as suitable for those purposes it may be sold.

So far university groups have put the estate mainly to recreational uses, altho Dr. Ezra J. Kraus, head of the department of botany, is at present conducting research in the greenhouses and cutting gardens.

Today's visitors will be members of the Anthropology club. During the coming week the class of 1920 will hold a reunion on the grounds, and regional alumni advisers and chairmen of alumni foundation committees will meet there. Other reservations include those of mathematical biophysics students, the dramatics group of the University Settlement league, the class of 1935, and Phi Delta Phi fraternity. The Western Junior Golf association tournament is to be held on the Mill Road golf course, considered one of the three finest in the country, from June 17 to 21.

Two Classes Hold Reunions.

Yesterday reunions were held on the estate by the classes of 1916 and 1917. Picnicking, party, and swimming facilities were employed. Those who make use of the farm can also use the log cabin, a shelter for picnickers; the recreation hall, available for meetings, dances, and parties; a playground, tennis courts, and baseball diamonds, and the farm house, which has been converted into a dormitory housing 20 persons.

Fees for use of facilities range from 10 cents for picnicking grounds, log cabin, or pavilion, to $50 for a dance in the rcreation hall. The swimming pool charge is 20 cents, while sleeping accommodations in the farm house may be had for 50 cents. University authorities have set 15 as the minimum size of any group using facilities for which a fee is charged.

DENTIST IS FINED $300 ON CHARGE BY INSURANCE FIRM

Dr. Kordyjan Dowgialio, a dentist with offices at 838 North Ashland avenue, was fined $300 yesterday by Judge William V. Daly in Municipal court on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses from the Zurich General Accident and Liability Insurance company, Ltd.

According to Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown, Dr. Dowgialio sued the company for $22,000 under an insurance policy as the result of an auto accident in 1931.

His suit collapsed in the Superior court in 1939, the state said, after the company produced witnesses who testified that the dentist treated them without apparent injury during the time he claimed total disability.

CANADA VISIONS HELP OF U. S. TO SMASH ENEMIES

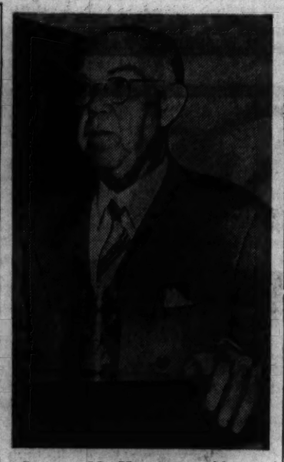
OTTAWA, Ont., June 7 (AP).—Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King, reminding Canadians "how earnestly and vigorously the President of the United States has spoken in the name of humanity," declared tonight that "if new enemies oppose us, we may be sure that old and new friends will arise to help us."

The world-wide significance of the conflict is being realized in every land," he said in a radio address.

Replying to Prime Minister Winston Churchill's challenge earlier this week to the new world—to carry on the fight should Britain and France suffer reverses, MacKenzie King said Canada would accept its new responsibility.

Red Cross First Aid Tests Passed by 50 City Firemen

Fifty members of the fire department have passed first aid tests and will be given certificates by the Red Cross, Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan announced yesterday. The certificates will be presented Monday in the civil service rooms at the city hall.



Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, speaking on the program.

TRIBUNE SALUTES SAFETY PATROLS IN SHOW ON W-G-N

600 Young Life Savers Are Studio Guests.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

An exuberant segment of the nation's first line of defense against the massacre by motors—the school safety patrol—packed W-G-N's main studio last night and heard its boys and girls called "America's greatest life saving corps."

This tribute to the safety patrol was paid by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, which under his leadership 18 years ago founded the corps in the midwest. Hayes spoke briefly during a half hour radio salute to the safety patrol presented thru station W-G-N by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Cites Saving of 4,000 Lives.

"Thru bitter cold and blazing heat they guard the lives of their fellow pupils every day of the year," said Hayes. "They have met with great success. I credit them with saving the lives of 4,000 children in Illinois and Indiana alone."

The 600 leaders of Chicago and Cook county patrols, who were the studio guests, received this praise modestly. That was true, too, of young Victor McElhose, a pupil of the Lavergne school in Berwyn, who occupied a place of honor on the stage while the story of his heroic feat of saving a life was recreated in a radio drama. Beside him sat David Velen and Stanley Burmeister, other life saving heroes of the patrol.

Salvos of applause swept the big studio as the W-G-N program of entertainment unfolded. There were cheers for Bob Ballantine, harmonica virtuoso, and for Yogi Jorgenson and his crystal ball prognostications. The guests were particularly enthusiastic about the singing of Marilyn Thorne, a 14 year old songstress from Sycamore, and the spirited music presented by Harold Stokes, the dance orchestra, and chorus.

Babe Ruth Presented.

After the broadcast a full hour extra show, with Jess Kirkpatrick as master of ceremonies, completely captivated the young guests and their elders. Bob Elson, W-G-N's ace sportscaster, introduced Babe Ruth as an extra special treat. Babe spun an entertaining yarn or two and gave the youngsters some sound advice on how to play baseball.

After Babe Ruth came two other heroes of the diamond—Rabbit Maranville, famous in other years, and Bill Nicholson, the Cubs' new slugger, who has been pounding out home runs this week.

Next came Philip Maxwell, master of ceremonies of the Citizens of Tomorrow broadcast. He asked all youngsters of seven who were members of the patrol to rise. One bright young lad arose and received a volley of applause.

Maxwell also introduced several of Chicago's leaders in the safety movement who were guests: George W. Fleming, general secretary of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee; A. H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education for Chicago's public schools; Leslie J. Sorenson, city traffic engineer, and Otto Jelinek, chief of the traffic department of the park district.

Chester Gould, Tribune cartoonist, entertained the patrol corps with a chalk talk on "Dick Tracy"; Bill Anson, W-G-N entertainer, provoked many a laugh with his Hollywood impersonations, and Bill Mayoh, the magician, opened up a neat bag of tricks. The show concluded with a presentation of the movie, "Trees to Tribunes," showing how the world's greatest newspaper is created.

War Posters to Be Shown at Army and Navy Club

A public exhibit of posters, maps, and documents relating to the world war and the present European conflict will be held today and tomorrow in the room of the Army and Navy club on the top floor at 600 South Michigan avenue.

About 600 school children, teachers and business men gathered in the Morrison hotel yesterday for the Victory luncheon celebrating the Chicago Association of Commerce's 1940 clean-up, paint-up, light-up campaign. John R. MacGregor, chairman of the association's community service committee, presided. Trophies were presented to Lane Technical, McKinley, Farragut, and Harper High schools for their aid in the campaign for a cleaner Chicago. Dozens of plaques and certificates were presented to other schools and individual students for their contributions, such as posters, slogans and songs.

ROOSEVELTS PLAN MEXICAN SCHOOL IN KIN'S MEMORY

MEXICO CITY, June 7 (AP). — A school dedicated to the memory of Daniel S. Roosevelt, nephew of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who died in an airplane accident April 18, 1939, will be erected at Canoitas, state of Puebla, where the plane crashed. Funds provided by the young man's family will pay for the construction.

STATE EXPECTED TO DISBAR LEGAL AID OF MANTON

New York, June 7 [Special].—Already barred from practice in federal courts, Louis S. Levy, wealthy lawyer, today was found guilty of professional misconduct by John F. Collins, State court referee. Both actions resulted from Levy's association with former United States Circuit Judge Martin T. Manton, now serving a two year prison term for selling judicial decisions.

Referee Collins told the state Supreme court in Manhattan that Levy knew it was not a straight business proposition when he engineered a $250,000 loan from Lord and Thomas, Inc., advertising representatives of the American Tobacco company, to the late James J. Sullivan, business associate of Manton before whom the tobacco company had a case pending. Collins was appointed to hear the disciplinary action sought by the New York City Bar association.

The referee reported: "The testimony of Levy is so replete with alleged failures of recollection, half truths, inconsistencies and evasions that his testimony upon important particulars involved in this proceeding is unbelievable."

If the appellate division follows precedent, it will uphold the referee's report.

1 KILLED, 8 HURT WHEN AUTO HITS VIADUCT PILLAR

Skidding Car Injures 4 School Children.

One man was killed and eight other persons, including his wife and their six children, were slightly injured last night when their car struck a viaduct support of the North Western railroad at Oakley boulevard and Kinzie street. The victim was Konstanty Przbylowski, 59 years old, 3453 38th street.

Those injured were John Wanec, 28, of 1328 Thomas street, the driver, and Przbylowski's wife, Mary, and the following sons and daughters, Marie, Theresa, Rita, Irene, Phyllis, and Anthony. Phyllis is 2 years old and Anthony is 8 months. The eight injured were extricated from the wrecked car by police and members of the Chicago Ambulance board and taken to the county and St. Mary's hospitals. The Przbylowskis and Wanecs were returning from a wake at the time of the accident.

Aged Pedestrian Killed.

Olaf Jansen, 77 years old, 864 North Wells street, was fatally injured by an automobile in front of 861 North La Salle street last night. He died in the Henrotin hospital. The driver, John M. Shepherd, 60, of 122 Locust street, told police the accident was unavoidable.

Daniel Seneke, 10 years old, 4516 North La Porte avenue, was fatally injured last night when struck by an automobile under the Wilson avenue viaduct of the North Western railroad near La Porte avenue. The driver, Harold Hendricks, 4925 Berenice avenue, said the boy stepped in front of his car from between two pillars. Hendricks was held by Irving Park police.

Four School Children Hurt.

Four school children and two women were injured yesterday when an automobile skidded out of control on the wet pavement and struck them as they started to walk across Lawndale and Diversey avenues. Earl Parker, 3041 North 76th court, Elmwood Park, the driver of the car, was charged with reckless driving.

The injured are: Dorothy Gordon, 12 years old, 3026 Davlin court; her sister, Vivian, 8; George Foerster, 13, of 2976 North Ridgeway avenue, and his sister, Barbara, 6, all pupils at the Monroe school; Miss Orpha Niedergesaess, 44, of 5406 Leland avenue, a Monroe school teacher, and Mrs. Minnie Wroblewski, 55, 2626 North Lawndale avenue. All except the Foerster girl were released after treatment at the Belmont hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 364 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 284 were killed in Chicago where 9,465 were injured in the same period.

ANNENBERG ASKS CREDIT ON TAXES OF 7 DAUGHTERS

Argues They Paid Levies on Part of Income.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

The seven daughters of Moses L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher, were credited with approximately $2,500,000 on the books of his top operating company in four years and drew out more than $520,000 in that period for their personal expenses.

This was disclosed yesterday before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson as Annenberg's lawyers continued their fight to save him from a prison term for income tax evasion. The government charges that the publisher has sole control over the top company, the Cecelia company, and is responsible for income taxes on all its profits.

Argues Daughters Paid Taxes.

Yesterday the chief of Annenberg's defense counsel, Weymouth Kirkland, argued for two hours that much of the Cecelia income actually went to his daughters who paid state and federal taxes on it.

Part of the Cecelia stock is listed in the daughters' names. When dividends were declared they received credits on the company books which in effect were huge drawing accounts, Kirkland explained. In 1936 they had credits aggregating $453,775. These mounted to a total of $769,580 in 1937. By last year they had dropped to $126,928, he said.

Kirkland told the court that the government is charging Annenberg with evading taxes on this same money altho the books of the company show that the daughters regularly drew out large amounts for themselves. In 1936 alone the company paid more than $8,000 for dresses for two of the daughters.

New York Tax Paid.

Last year the daughters paid more than $100,000 in New York state income taxes. Annenberg, by virtue of his residence in Pennsylvania, where there is no state income tax, could have avoided this expense had the money ascribed to his daughters actually belonged to him, Kirkland contended.

Annenberg has pleaded guilty to evasion of $1,217,296 for 1936 and faces maximum punishment of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. He is trying to show mitigating circumstances to escape the prison term. The arguments probably will be concluded Monday. Judge Wilkerson is expected to take the matter under advisement for a few days before imposing sentence.

Annenberg has agreed to pay the government 9½ million dollars in the next seven years to settle all civil claims for back taxes dating to 1923.

Reunited by Court

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Aino Orgo Tossavainen and her daughter, Taimi, after custody ruling.

Taimi, blonde haired and blue eyed, was at the store with her young mother yesterday, buying a pink ribbon for her hair, at the moment Judge Frank Bicek, in Juvenile court, was signing the order ruling on her custody. Taimi's mother is Mrs. Aino Orgo Tossavainen, 25 years old, who, after a two year fight for the child, fatally shot the court appointed foster mother. She was acquitted of murder on May 17.

The little girl—4½ years old—was returned Thursday to her mother, tho technically Judge Bicek's ruling gives custody to Mrs. Elda Slikki, the maternal grandmother. Mrs. Tossavainen lives at 734 Briar place and her mother has a room next door. Both women are on relief. The court will maintain supervision over the child.

Taimi's father was drowned in an accident. Mrs. Tossavainen said it was to fit herself for a job that she went to Wright Junior college, permitting her baby to be placed in a foster home. A job, she said, was her greatest need.

'MISSING' STATE WITNESS FOUND IN JURY FIX CASE

Testifies for Defense on Wire Tapping.

Mrs. Lillian Connors, considered one of the state's star witnesses in the so-called jury fix case, yesterday appeared to testify for the defense a few hours after Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Bugan had described her as "missing."

Mrs. Lillian Connors.

Mrs. Connors, who also is known as Mrs. Shaw, was a member of the jury and, according to state investigators, admitted accepting a $100 bribe. Yesterday she testified before Judge James F. Fardy that she refused to make a statement until told by prosecutors that her telephone wires had been tapped. She said she was shown a transcript of her telephone conversations with another suspected juror.

Ask Indictment Be Voided.

The defendants, Attorney George Crane and five associates, have been arguing a motion to suppress the indictment on the ground that the state's evidence was obtained by wire tapping, a process recently held illegal by the United States Supreme court. They are charged with bribery and conspiracy to obstruct justice. Attorney Crane represented Sam Orlando and Joseph Vinci, Democratic precinct officials of the 11th ward, who were acquitted of election fraud in the trial that developed into a jury fixing scandal.

Walks in with Lawyer.

In response to a demand for Mrs. Connors' appearance made by defense attorneys Prosecutor Bugan said, "We wish we knew where she was." Shortly after noon Mrs. Connors walked into court, accompanied by Ward Swalwell, an attorney for Crane.

Asked where he had located Mrs. Connors, the lawyer said:

"I took a subpena, went to her home at 7833 Evans avenue, rang the bell, and she answered the door."

A MILLIONAIRE'S 'SLAVE' AWARDED MILLION BY JURY

Had to Eat Oyster Stews —Which He Detested!

Providence, R. I., June 7 [Special].—For gulping oyster stews, which he detested, and performing other "invaluable services," Dutee W. Flint today was awarded $1,000,000 plus $33,338.21 interest in his promissory note suit against the estate of Samuel M. Nicholson, millionaire industrialist.

Dutee W. Flint. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Flint, whose suit for $1,000,000 has been heard for the last several weeks, claimed he and the late Col. Nicholson had made a "sacred covenant" in 1930 that he would give Nicholson all his time in exchange for the amount, payable after death.

Four Women on Jury.

The jury, composed of eight men and four women, had deliberated since noon yesterday. Foreman Kenneth B. Stover, after finding for the plaintiff, set the verdict at $1,000,000 and the interest at $33,333.21 in answer to a question by Judge Patrick P. Curran.

William H. Edwards, counsel for the Nicholson estate, immediately announced the defense would demand a new trial.

Trial of the million dollar suit started last April 23 with Flint testifying he lost a $10,000,000 motor car business in the 1929 crash and that Col. Nicholson had promised to "make him a millionaire again" in return for his "virtual enslavement" to the head of the Nicholson File company.

Valet and Business Mentor.

He described his "enslavement" as valet, butler, "Man Friday," travel agent, backgammon opponent, and business mentor to the aged man, in return for which Col. Nicholson handed him the million dollar note. He said he even neglected his wife and daughter to fulfill his obligations.

Defense witnesses testified Nicholson was of unsound mind at the time the note was signed in October, 1937, and, in the closing argument, counsel contended it had been obtained by fraud.

FATHER HUNTED AS KIDNAPER OF HIS OWN SON, 4

Elkhart, Ind., June 7 [Special].—A lonesome father and his 4 year old son, whom he allegedly stole this morning from a street near the home of his divorced wife, were being hunted by Indiana and Michigan police tonight.

The child, Jean Joseph Poucher, was taken away by two men in an automobile. Several hours later his frantic mother received from White Pigeon, Mich., a telegram signed by her ex-husband, Clifford Poucher, 28 years old, a barber of St. Petersburg, Fla. It read: "Baby in my possession; you can see him in Florida."

Mrs. Poucher, who was awarded custody of the child when she was divorced in St. Petersburg four years ago, obtained a warrant charging Poucher with stealing.

Quake Hits Los Angeles and Breaks Some Dishes

Los Angeles, Cal., June 7 (AP).—An earthquake strong enough to break dishes and jar pictures from walls struck Inglewood, Hawthorne, and Los Angeles today. Damage was reported slight.

CHICAGO DOCTOR GETS A YEAR FOR LOTTERY FRAUD

Hospital He Headed Is Involved.

Boston, Mass., June 7 [Special].—Dr. Frank Deacon, a well known surgeon and hospital head in Chicago for about a quarter of a century, was sentenced to a year and a day in a penitentiary today for allegedly operating a $20,000,000 fake lottery.

Dr. Frank Deacon. [A. P. Photo.]

Sentence was imposed immediately following Dr. Deacon's conviction in federal court, where a jury, after deliberating 11 hours, found him guilty of conspiracy to transport lottery matter interstate causing lottery matter to be brought into Massachusetts.

Defense Counsel William H. Lewis indicated the case would be carried to the United States Circuit court of Appeals.

His Chicago Hospitals.

Dr. Deacon was one time owner of the Jackson Park hospital in Chicago and later was head of the now defunct Will Rogers Memorial hospital at 6970 North Clark street in Chicago. The government charged that the doctor and 71 others used the latter hospital as a blind for their scheme.

All of Dr. Deacon's 71 co-defendants pleaded guilty, but he elected to stand trial. Altho he was described as the key figure in the fraud, the doctor insisted he was given to understand by Abraham F. Zimmerman, promoter of the lottery, that funds were to be raised for the benefit of the hospital by conducting athletic and other entertainment events.

In support of the government contention that the doctor knew of Zimmerman's plans to promote a lottery, Zimmerman testified as a prosecution witness that he paid Deacon about $5,000 in the deal.

Million Tickets a Month.

After contracting to pay Dr. Deacon a part of the money to be collected, Zimmerman testified, he printed more than a million lottery tickets monthly for sale at 50 cents each. Four prizes of $20,000 each were offered to the winners.

Zimmerman, a former Chicago newsboy who became known as the "king of the lotteries," was among those who pleaded guilty to charges similar to those against Dr. Deacon. Zimmerman was brought to Boston from the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary, where he is serving a term for income tax evasion.

Dr. Deacon served in the medical corps during the world war and holds a reserve colonel's commission. He organized one of Chicago's four base hospital units for the American Red Cross during the war.

SCHENCK, FILM HEAD, PROTESTS U. S. TAX CLAIM

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP).—Joseph M. Schenck, Hollywood film producer, protestd to the tax appeals board today against the treasury's claim he owed $283,083 in income tax and penalties for 1935 and 1936.

Schenck, an executive of the 20th Century Fox Film corporation, contended the internal revenue commissioner erroneously disallowed a $173,228 loss in 1935 on sale of stock and disallowed deductions of $28,028 in 1935 and $44,676 in 1936 which were "legitimate expenses in earning a salary."

Schenck added that he "sustained depreciation, exhaustion, wear and tear of a yacht and certain automobiles" to the extent of $6,530 in 1935 and subsequently took a $33,145 loss on sale of his yacht, the Invader, for which deductions were disallowed.

Speaker at Peoria Beaten by Mob; Driven from City

Peoria, Ill., June 7 (AP). — Joseph Pirincin, 36 years old, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was beaten and escorted from town by a mob last night after delivering an address on behalf of John W. Aiken, whom he described as a presidential candidate on the Socialist-Laborite ticket. Pirincin was thrown from a car on the Tazewell county side of the Franklin street bridge. Officers then took him to the East Peoria police station for protective custody. Later he was released and left for Springfield.

Dairyman Appeals Term on Sales Tax Charge

John Player, dairyman near Warrenville, in Du Page county, appealed yesterday to the Illinois Appellate court at Springfield for a review of his conviction a year ago for failure to file sale tax returns. He was sentenced to 90 days in the Sangamon county jail and was fined $1,000. Player, who is at liberty on bond, has opposed the sales tax on the ground it is unconstitutional and unfair.

June 7, 1940.

BOTH sportsmen and scientists in the Illinois Natural History survey have been in touch with this department during the last few days about the plight of ground nesting game and song birds as the time approaches for farmers to get out the mowing machines and use them in the fields. The request in all of the communications was: Won't you please relay the word to all farmers to watch out for the nests of quail, pheasants, and other birds, and whenever possible put a flushing bar on the mower?

The Natural History survey has just issued a helpful pamphlet [Biological Notes No. 13] on quail and pheasant studies in Calhoun county. The pamphlet tells how hundreds of adult game birds and nests are destroyed by mowers every year, altho these valuable birds could be saved if landowners were a little more careful with their machines.

Prefer Nests in Alfalfa.

The nest loss of quail is greatest in fields of alfalfa, only a small percentage of them escaping by hatching before the mowers destroy them. Quail, pheasants, bobolinks, meadow larks and other ground nesting birds which are useful to farmers seem to prefer alfalfa for nesting sites.

In Calhoun county, where the survey made an investigation of bird losses caused by mowing machines, it was found that all known pheasant losses resulted from mowing. Not one of five quail nests watched in alfalfa fields was saved, and several grown birds were killed by the clashing blades of the mowers.

Lowell W. Proctor of Dubuque, Ia., writes that sportsmen ought to help on this problem. He wants sportsmen to write to the farmers with whom they hunted last fall and remind them about the use of a flushing bar. If the farmer doesn't have a flushing bar Proctor believes that the sportsman ought to offer to send one to him.

Easy to Make Bar.

A flushing bar is easily made. It is simply a bar suspended ahead of the blades with a curtain of burlap sacking hung from it. This curtain sweeps over the vegetation and naturally frightens a nesting bird which rises from the ground in a hurry. The operator of the machine invariably has time to stop the machine or lift the blades in time to skip over the nest. The use of a flushing bar has been recommended for years by conservation organizations and departments of conservation, for one placed on the mower of a careful worker may save scores of young birds.

The value of this contrivance has been demonstrated many times on the Du Page county farm, where every effort is made to increase the song and game bird population. Many a bobolink, a useful and beautiful songbird, can be saved by the use of a flushing bar because this songster shows a marked preference for raising its young in the thick growth of an alfalfa field.

On our hike thru some of the farm fields this week we had the impression that both bobolinks and meadow larks were more numerous this year than last season. While walking only about 125 feet in one alfalfa field we flushed nine bobolinks and saw several meadow larks near us.

ROOKIE COP WHO KILLED GUNMAN WINS HERO MEDAL

Policeman William Phillips, who as a rookie policeman won the Tribune hero award of $100 in April, 1939, for killing one of three bandits in an attempted tavern holdup, yesterday was awarded the Lambert Tree gold medal for bravery. The award was made by the civil service commission on the recommendation of the police efficiency committee.

William Phillips.

While a probationary patrolman and off duty Phillips walked in on a holdup of a tavern at 1124 West 69th street on April 19, 1939. Disregarding the guns of the three bandits, Phillips pummeled one with his fists, then opened fire and killed another as they fled. Phillips, who is 31 years old, is assigned to the Hyde Park station.

Sixteen other patrolmen and two lieutenants received honorable mention for acts of bravery.

FLAMES CAUSE $75,000 DAMAGE AT WAREHOUSE

Fire caused damage estimated at $75,000 last night in an open frame warehouse of the United States Brewing company at 2518 Elston avenue. The warehouse is across the street from the brewery.

The fire started shortly before dark, and spread rapidly. Because other factories are nearby, extra alarms were turned in.

Approximately 150,000 wooden cases filled with empty beer bottles were destroyed. George H. Kiefer, vice president of the brewery, estimated the damage. Traffic in Elston avenue was tied up for several hours. One fireman was slightly injured.

Trial Board Turns Back Cases of Three Policemen

The police trial board decided yesterday that the evidence was insufficient to warrant the discharge of Policemen Vernon Potts and Terrence Kane of the Austin station and Sergt. John M. Lynch of Racine avenue. Potts and Kane were charged with accepting a bribe and Lynch with altering records. The cases were referred to Police Commissioner Allman.

Ohio Kidnaping Suspect Held Under $10,000 Bond

Robert Eppstein, 26 years old, was held in bond of $10,000 yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker for removal to Toledo, O., to face charges of kidnaping. He was identified as one of a band of robbers who kidnaped Lynn Lepold, a bank messenger, on April 27, 1938, in Toledo, and took him to Jonesville, Mich., after robbing him of $3,500.

Cicero Police, Firemen Sue for $45,850 Wages

One hundred and thirty-one Cicero policemen and firemen filed suit in Circuit court yesterday asking a total of $45,850 in salaries allegedly due them for April and May. The suit charges Cicero officials have not been paying salaries on schedule.

ROMANO SEIZURE OF UNION IS TOLD TO GRAND JURORS

Two former officials and one incumbent official of the Bartenders' and Beverage Dispensers' union were reported to have told the grand jury yesterday that Louis Romano ordered them to get out when he took over the union as president. The witnesses were Robert Nixon and Donald Seagar, former business agents, and Harold Young, a member of the executive board.

Nixon and Seagar, it was reported, implied that Romano told them to get out "or else" and they heeded the warning. Young, said to have given similar testimony, told investigators he has agreed to resign his post.

The grand jury, under guidance of State's Attorney Courtney, is investigating reports that Romano is the union front man for Frank [the Enforcer] Nitti, head the the revived Capone gang. The jury is also seeking to learn what became of nearly $1,000,000 disbursed from the union treasury.

LOOK AT THE ACTUALITIES.

Inflamed by commercial radio commentators, the east has fallen into a complete state of hysteria. Old men who have avoided every war during their lifetime are screaming to send conscripted boys overseas to the shambles. Once staid newspapers are crying for conscription of man power and capital. The mental confusion could hardly be worse if the enemy were in Long Island again.

It becomes doubly incumbent, therefore, upon the more solid western minds to guide the nation. We must keep our feet on the ground and face the actualities.

The fact is that congress has enacted more legislation than the executive can possibly execute for many months. The regular army is being increased faster than arms can be provided for it. When the arms arrive, the generals must learn how to use them, as they displayed they did not know how to use them in the recent maneuvers.

The aviation corps has got to learn to cooperate with the other arms, as the German aviators do.

The army itself must be reorganized and officers too old for service must give way to younger ones. When the regular army has been put upon a war basis the National Guard must be brought up to date. The Guard must be armed, trained, and the old men removed. When this has been accomplished it will be time enough to look for further effectives. As these must be specialists, it will be vain to enact a general conscription law which will break down our industries while not providing troops. It will be disastrous to destroy our financial structure to satisfy the communist's phrase of "conscription of capital."

We can cease looking for trouble overseas.

Even at this late date, with such a bad record behind our diplomacy, it may be possible to bring a tolerable peace in Europe.

NOW ABOUT SUBURBAN SERVICE.

During the last year American railroads have shown a great deal of individual initiative and enterprise despite handicaps imposed upon them by burocratic control. Lack of publicity regarding this accomplishment has prevented a full capitalization on the achievement. Most of them have adopted fast, streamlined passenger equipment on their thru runs. They have tried out new forms of service to capture business. Such innovations include special train-auto service which has just gone into effect. Diesel-electric locomotives are being efficiently developed for almost all types of service. With the example of instalment buying provided by the furniture and automobile industries, the managers of railroads have decided to try applying that principle to the sale of transportation.

In competition for freight tonnage they have shown a great improvement in combining efficient operation, economy, and safety with an improved service to shippers that is giving their competitors a run for the money. They have bid for shippers' patronage by running freight trains at passenger train speed, making overnight deliveries at points as far as 500 miles distant and cutting days from former perishable freight schedules.

For some time we have been asking the roads involved to supply a faster and more modern train service between Chicago and Florida to meet the increasing public demand, and to furnish transportation for some of the thousands who have been driving their own automobiles to and from that winter resort country. It is pleasing to note that announcement was recently made of an improved Diesel-electric, streamlined service to be started before the end of the present year by three Chicago roads, which are alive to the situation and bidding for the profit in this business. The new service will cut about two hours and ten minutes from the time of the fastest winter season train and five hours and three minutes from the next three fastest. Judging by the experience of the lines connecting New York with Miami, this new venture should be extremely profitable.

Why should something not be done to improve suburban service? Most of the Chicago lines regard suburban traffic as a necessary evil. They claim they lose money on every passenger carried. They have thrown up their hands in despair and have allowed to go by default any possibility of turning a liability into an asset.

Thousands of suburbanites are driving their own cars to their places of business in the city at an expense of more than double the suburban fare rather than submit to the inconvenience of antiquated schedules and equipment and loss of time in patronizing the suburban trains. Modern Diesel and Diesel-electric locomotives furnish high speed and a quick start and stop facility at an economical cost. The cost of adjusting the levels of suburban station platforms would not be prohibitive, and little ingenuity would be required to improve the muzzle loading type of civil war coach equipment now in use.

We cherish the hope that some day in the not too distant future the management of at least one Chicago road will take the lead in developing a new and improved service, and, by actual demonstration, furnish an example for other roads to follow in transferring an important account from the loss to the profit side of the ledger.

A MUDDLED SENATOR.

Senator Pepper of Florida has been leading the war hawks in congress. He is not only willing, he is eager, to have the equipment of the army and navy sent abroad even tho it is plain that to do so might leave us unarmed or insufficiently armed to face an invader.

The senator suggested in the course of the debate that those who disagree with him on questions of foreign policy do so out of admiration or approval of Herr Hitler.

In fact, the senator was seeking to conceal his own malign purposes of reducing this country to helplessness by directing false and misleading accusations at his opponents. Americans wish to stay out of the war because, in their calculation, the gain which might come to us from an allied victory would not be worth its cost in blood and money, in economic disorganization, and in the fastening on this country of a dictatorship from which we might not emerge for a generation. They are thinking as Americans, not as transplanted Europeans.

Mr. Pepper may pretend that he wishes this country merely to adopt "all measures short of war" as the formula goes. That position is morally indefensible and is calculated to lead to war. If the welfare of the United States is wholly dependent upon an allied victory, as he believes, then it is both cowardly and absurd to withhold an ounce of our power from the battlefields of Europe. We ought to send not only our so-called surplus equipment but our men as well. To do less is to acknowledge that we fear Hitler more than we fear dishonor.

The "short of war" formula did not work in 1914-1917. We started with supplies, and they were followed by loans, and with increasing diplomatic pressure upon the central powers. The day came when we declared war, tho at the time vast numbers of Americans believed that our contribution was to be limited to the navy, the merchant marine, and extensive credits. The expectation proved wholly wrong. When the war ended there were two million American soldiers in Europe, and 50,000 had been killed in battle. That experience should not be forgotten by those who talk of measures "short of war," and they do not help their case by denouncing their opponents as friends of Hitler.

OUR CHEMISTS RELIEVE THE FLEET.

The B. F. Goodrich company had a happy idea when it gave the name Ameripol to the synthetic rubber its chemists have made. Ameripol. The name signifies a combination of molecules obtained exclusively from American raw materials. The Goodrich research organization, with those of other corporations working on the synthetic rubber problem, has removed the last excuse for sending the United States fleet on a difficult if not fatal mission—the protection of the Dutch East Indies.

The raw material for the Goodrich synthetic rubber, which the company says it has been testing for months and found satisfactory for automobile tires, is gases obtained by cracking petroleum. Our supply of these gases is more than ample to meet our rubber requirements.

Research on several other rubber substitutes has reached or is rapidly approaching the stage where they can be put in production in this country. The du Pont company has been producing for several years a synthetic material more satisfactory than rubber for many uses, but somewhat more expensive. A subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is working on the buna process originated in Germany, and its chemists, it is understood, have improved and cheapened the German product. This company is building a plant at present in Louisiana.

Cost is an important factor. Our present annual bill for natural rubber, of which we use nearly 600,000 tons a year, is about $250,000,000. Crude rubber is selling at present at about 21½ cents a pound. While it is impossible to say accurately what the synthetic products will cost when they go into large scale production, some of the estimates run as low as 20 cents a pound for the cheaper varieties.

Another important factor is the time required to build the plants to make the new materials. The corporations that have developed them naturally would prefer to start production on a small scale, that later plant installations might take advantage of technological advances. In a national emergency, however, these economies could and would be sacrificed for immediate volume of production. Estimates of the time required to build plants range from nine months to three years, depending to some degree on the processes used.

Among the principal exports of the Dutch East Indies and the neighboring British possessions that are essential to our national defense are rubber and tin. Since Bolivia furnishes a fairly adequate alternative source of tin, rubber is the crucial item.

If this nation were dependent upon natural rubber there might be some excuse for using our navy to resist any change in the ownership of the Indies that might threaten our supply. Even under those circumstances the task is not one that the navy would relish, and there is grave doubt whether it could accomplish it.

But our American chemists have rendered us independent of natural rubber. In the future, therefore, any attempt to use our fleet in an East Indian adventure can be regarded almost purely as an attempt by the Roosevelt administration to sacrifice American ships and men for protection of European colonial empires. That is not an issue for which Americans are willing to fight.

THE ARMY MISSES THE BUS.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The president of one of our great aircraft companies said the other day in Washington:

> We built 200 planes with self-sealing tanks in 1922. This equipment later was left out of army air corps specifications. We built planes with armorplated engines and cockpits in the early '20s—attack planes mostly. This equipment later was left out of army air corps specifications.

SPEAKING OF CONTRIBUTORS.

We fly a flag at half mast in memory of a contributor, the late Horace Spencer Fiske, whose long life was largely spent at the University of Chicago. Several verses of his writing have been published here since we took over the column, and no doubt his work for the Line runs back to the earliest days of the B. L. T. period. He could turn an excellent sonnet and rhyme a rousing ballad; and his several published collections of verse remain as testimony of his literary gift. Moreover, he was an old friend whose kindliness and encouragement are a part of the memories of our student years.

We wish that Aborigine, a valued member of the old guard, would send us his real name, written legibly, and also his address. His signature would baffle a bank clerk.

The life of a columnist is complicated by his friends who refuse to believe that he has to go to work. "Go to work?" they roar. "Why, the paper for tomorrow is on the street with the column in it. Sit down and have a drink"—or "another drink," as the case may be. So to avoid long, technical explanations, we've stopped saying that. "Got to catch a train," or "meet a girl," or "see a show" seem to work better. . . . Methods of escaping from friends who try to prevent you from going to work should be taught in schools of journalism.

The shade tree now in gallant bloom with tall, erect spires of white flowers is the horse chestnut or buckeye. You will see a row of them along the south side of the Edgewater Beach hotel. . . . The buckeye is the most handsome nut in the world, and our grandsires thought that if carried in the pocket it would cure rheumatism.

CASUALTY AT DUNKIRK.

It is so then,
that he is fallen
and his dreams and hopes are done;
and he shall no longer love,
nor struggle towards some star,
nor feed his heart with songs.

It is to be then;
his life blood drains itself
to warm the soil of France;
one so tall, so lean, so gay,
lusty and dreamful and young
has joined the quiet dead.

It is to be.
Weep not for those blue eyes
over which flicked no shadow of defeat;
weep not for that which is dead
but only for those he left

Dinner at "The States," 1907.

Do you remember when a fellow could dine "in state" at the States restaurant in the Republic building, State and Adams streets? There were 48 booths, representing the states of the Union. Each was decorated with the colors of the state university, the state seal, pictures of historical and scenic places, and a photograph of the governor. The souvenir menu for New Year's day, 1907, contained pictures of theatrical stars then on the Chicago stage:

Don't Cheer, Boys; "Swing" Is Dying.

A national survey of college campuses, conducted by the Billboard, indicates that "hot swing" is headed toward the graveyard and that "jitterbugs" are out of date. The prom trotters are hollering for "sweet" stuff, and even for waltzes. Out of 108 colleges, the spokesmen in 56 turned thumbs down on "swing."

HIGH SCHOOL REUNION.

Last week I took a trip into the land
Of long ago—no less than thirty years;
The class of nineteen ten, a jolly band,
Met where they had prepared for their careers.
Loud were the shouts: "O, I remember you!"
"You look just fine!" "You have not changed at all!"
"Where is wee Willie?" "Where's Ilma, Rose, Maylou?"
"So you're a doctor!" "But you were so small!"
And then in softer tones: "Our belle, Kathleen,
Is gone." "And smiling redhead Ralph, our wit."
"And three or four besides; it seems so mean;
It's hard to reconcile oneself to it."
Then came biographies; and I learned who
Did what, who was a great celebrity,
And who was wealthy; ah, but well I knew
They were just kids that went to school with me.
Now Mr. Sloan, who once had taught us art,
(Without whom no "affair" could be complete,
And here he was again, bless his kind heart),
Told us of Mr. Hooper, Olson, Sweet.
At last farewells, and many solemn dates
To meet quite soon; I'm sure they will be kept,
For we had found we still were true classmates.
I smiled "Good-by!" but inside, softly wept.

Gaycelle.

A Voice from Egypt, Ill.

Regarding the pronunciation of Cairo, Ill. [June 3]: Its citizens do not say "Kay-ro," as your correspondent stated, but "Care-oh." My grandfather named the place, not after Cairo, Egypt, as every one assumes, but after a certain Dr. Cairo, who pronounced his name "Care-oh." The southern part of the state came to be called Egypt because northerners thought the city was named after the oriental Cairo.

My grandfather, Miles A. Gilbert, was one of the original incorporators of the Illinois Central Railroad company. B. G.

DON'T ALLOW SPEECH DEFECTS TO PERSIST.

When a child becomes so anxious to express himself that thoughts race ahead of the powers of utterance, certain irregularities may be observed. Eager to be heard, to explain some experience, there are times when he must be slowed up if interference with speech is to be avoided.

There is no excuse for halting or stammering, altho an occasional stumble over words may not be significant. We would not blame the little chap should his feet tangle because he is trying to run too fast. About all that is needed is to tell him that he has plenty of time and that mother will listen just as long as he has something to say.

But should the fault occur routinely the remark, "O! Well, Johnny will outgrow it," may not be well founded. Certainly, after four years of age—if intelligible articulation has not been acquired—the condition should not be disregarded. At that age a program of retraining will be effective. There are not a few students in high school and college thus handicapped, because no attempt at correction was made.

It will be granted that normal, satisfactory conversation—that can be understood readily—is a most desirable social and business asset. Nevertheless some will stutter while others may fail to finish a sentence or complete a word. Still others may retain a lisp quite beyond the period when it is cute.

When we look to the cause we must first examine the boy or girl to make sure that there is no physical defect: that the tongue is able to move freely, that the jaw is properly formed, and that the teeth are in correct alignment with accurate occlusion. Many little ones with hugely overgrown tonsils, adenoids, or polyps in the nasal passages may manifest muffled, harsh tones.

But—assured that there is nothing wrong—we may investigate the environment. Now and then a mother will unwisely accentuate baby talk by regarding it as "sweet" and clever. She may even take delight in showing off her young hopeful to friends. Sometimes a tot will exhibit great skill in mimicry—reeling off long words before he is really ready to use them. This habit should not be encouraged, as mispronunciation may only result in trouble later.

There is a definite tendency for every child to be either right or left handed and—in reading, spelling, writing, as well as in speaking—these functions are developed strongly on one side or the other of the brain. If we expect the pupil to employ words accurately and with fluency we must encourage this one-sidedness—allowing the process to take its course. A large number of our stutterers, naturally left handed, have been created because they were obliged in school to change to right handedness. Somehow or other this unfortunate teaching carries with it a good deal of nervousness, a slowing up of reading ability, and often indecision in making up one's mind. No, we must permit every youngster to mature as he will so that he may become adept in speech and dexterous and sure with one hand or the other.

I haven't the slightest idea why left handed individuals should be looked upon as "curios." They are neither more awkward nor are they less bright. In fact, in baseball circles a skilled southpaw is a valued member of any professional team.

Patience and sympathy must be accorded every young stammerer. If playmates are cruel the victim is likely to be the center of ridicule, as children are always amused by any type of behavior that is different. On the contrary, the teacher, who is concerned as well as interested, may solve the difficulty by putting the lad at his ease. Then it is that his nervousness unwinds. Father and mother must set the example and they can aid materially by speaking slowly and distinctly. The unafraid child will follow the pattern set for him. Needless to say, scolding and punishment will make the matter worse.

OVEREATING.

N. Y. writes: Is it not harmful for a diabetic, 72 years old, to eat large amounts of meat and as many as 12 eggs a day?

REPLY.

Entirely too much even for one in robust health. The protein and fat allowance in the diabetic diet may be slightly more than normal, but since insulin has come into vogue we are able to feed a balanced menu without difficulty. After 60 the rule should be less food rather than more.

URINE TESTS.

M. N. writes: Does testing the urine reveal the presence of venereal disease or tuberculosis?

REPLY.

Neither. Examination of the blood and a microscopic check of certain secretions determine the presence or absence of venereal infection. If tuberculosis of the kidney is suspected, the sediment found in the urine is studied.

SMOOTH TONGUE.

M. M. writes: Is a smooth tongue a sign of some disease?

REPLY.

One who has a smooth, oily tongue is thought to be clever with words; able to extricate himself from difficult situations. Absence of rugae [furrows] may mean slight atrophy [wasting]. If the organ is clean and of normal color there is no occasion for concern.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 27 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. How long was a round of boxing when John L. Sullivan ruled the ring?
[a] Thirty minutes. [b] Until a knockdown occurred. [c] There were no rounds; the fight was to a finish.

2. What was the nationality of Maxim Gorki, novelist?
[a] German. [b] Russian. [c] Finnish.

3. In what country is the lira the unit of currency?
[a] Japan. [b] Italy. [c] Belgium.

4. In what famous song does the phrase "grapes of wrath" appear?
[a] "Marching Thru Georgia." [b] "Battle Hymn of the Republic." [c] "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

A VOICE FROM THE EAST.

Montclair, N. J., June 5.—I am amazed at your editorial, "Lindbergh vs. Brynes," in your issue of May 25. Apparently the momentous events of the last few weeks have meant nothing to your editors. They quote with approval Lindbergh's statement that "There is small reason to fear bombing attacks or an armed invasion of this country" and say that Lindbergh "sought to quiet the growing hysteria in this country, particularly in the seaboard states."

It seems well nigh incredible that a great newspaper, such as THE TRIBUNE undoubtedly is, should fail so far short of its responsibility for wise and patriotic leadership in a great national crisis.

For a single question: Hitler, by his conquest of Holland, now controls Dutch Guiana. Should the United States sit still and see a German base established there, close to the Panama canal?

CHARLES WHITING BAKER.

AND FROM THE FAR WEST.

Burlingame, Cal., June 5.—What abysmal fools we Americans are to shrink our plain duty of standing shoulder to shoulder with the few surviving democracies on the wretched pretext of nonpayment of debts ad nauseum, while Britain, foolish only for believing the most monstrous liar on earth, fights with her back to the wall our battle and hers to the ever insistent cry of "cash on the barrel head."

Suppose Britain loses, and has to face the alternative of turning over intact her mighty fleet to the most dreadful mass murderers of history. In such an emergency we should be placed in the position of supplicating Britain not to surrender her fleet so that we might have a chance to defend ourselves, tho we have done literally nothing to deserve such consideration.

In God's name, what is the matter with us? Has our blood turned to water? Have we no sense of the impending danger to our national security, any of us?

Yours sincerely,
HAROLD LINCOLN BROWN.

JOBHOLDERS JOYFUL.

Herbster, Wis., June 6.—So the President has intimated that he will run for a third term. There will be joy in the breasts of the hordes of parasitical plunderers. Weep, you taxpayers, and all you that believe in the system that made the United States a nation built on individual initiative and work.

Now the great issues are out in the open and the American people must make a choice that will forever settle problems as great as those involved in the civil war. M. J. B.

DEFENDS OXFORD GROUP.

Chicago, Ill., June 5.—The cartoon by McCutcheon yesterday grossly misrepresents the stand of certain groups of people who take the Oxford pledge against war. The cartoon inferred that all such groups are left wing radicals and slackers. As a religious pacifist I say we believe that in not supporting war we are serving our nation and the world better by following the Prince of Peace. Must all minority groups be branded as part of the fifth column?

PATRICIA MCCHESNEY.

A FAMILY FOR HOOVER.

Evanston, Ill., June 4.—Our family and all our neighbors and friends agree with John Spargo, in Voice of the People today, that former President Herbert Hoover is entitled to a second term for President. Hoover has continued to show what a wonderful man he is by standing by, willing to help in time of need.

THE JOHNSON FAMILY.

THE ATROCITY STORIES.

Chicago, June 4.—When are the Nazis going to start cutting off the hands of the Belgian children and doing war dances with babies impaled on their bayonets—or did we believe too much propaganda in the last war? W. P.

SWEEPSTAKES FOR REARMAMENT.

Chicago, June 5.—We notice that our government is about to spend billions for preparedness but that we have not yet decided how all this money is to be obtained. I would suggest that our government start an American sweepstake based on the Arlington Futurity, and others on other American tracks.

It has been said that two-thirds of the Irish and Canadian sweepstake tickets are sold in the United States. The Irish have four every year and the Canadians two, and this year Nicaragua enters the field by flooding the country with her tickets.

When we think of the millions taken out of this country on foreign ventures every year we feel that our government is letting us down by making its citizens foot their bills by direct taxation when a good share of this money could be obtained thru sweepstakes.

In the Theodore Roosevelt administration our government conducted a sweepstake down in Panama for the education of the Panamanians and it proved a huge success. Why not operate a sweepstake here and now for rearmament?

JOHN H. SOLLER.

FEARS ANOTHER NEW DEAL FLOP.

Chicago, June 5.—Will the people of the United States make the terrible mistake of entrusting the paramount task of our national defense program to a partisan group of old men, some of whom are living on borrowed time? Will this gigantic preparation turn out to be just another New Deal flop like the N. R. A.?

The fireside chat turned out to be a swell "Pot of Gold" program for the New Deal. B. E. N.

A BILLION DOLLARS A CHAT.

Chicago, June 4.—These fireside chats by Mr. Roosevelt are getting on our nerves. Every time we get a chat it costs us about one billion dollars. I think he ought to cut them out and also try to swap some of his dams for war defense tools. This will give the public an idea how much they are worth.

SAM TAYLOR.

FORTY-SIXTH WARD'S SHARE.

Chicago, June 5.—The Chicago recreation commission announces that there have been 640 playlots erected in the city. That's about 12 to the ward. Can some one inform me where to find the 46th ward's 12? YEHUDI.

WRITE TO CITY HALL.

Chicago, June 3.—I hope you can clear up a deplorable condition that has existed for some years.

In the alley between 58th and 59th at Sangamon street only part of the people have garbage cans. There are two two-flat buildings that have cans with no backs in them and when garbage is put into them it merely goes into the alley. Naturally we have rats roaming around the alley.

This same condition exists in the alley between 60th and 61st at Carpenter street.

If the garbage was picked up at regular intervals it might help some.

Whom should we notify to get this matter cleared up? E. KROPKE.

WHAT HITLER GOT.

Chicago, June 2.—Many people wonder at the successive victories of the German forces. Remember Munich? Chamberlain and Daladier gave Hitler the Czechs' Maginot line, which could detain about 40 divisions of German forces. They gave Hitler the Skoda ammunition works. They gave Hitler 1,482 airplanes, 501 anti-aircraft guns, 468 tanks, 100,000 rifles, 3,000,000 shells, 1 milliard of rifle bullets, not to mention the few million Czech working men who helped manufacture the much needed war materials that the Germans use in their present invasion of the civilized world.

P. S. München is paying interest.
JOHN GINCA.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING.

Chicago, June 4.—Your editorial regarding conscription should meet with the hearty approval of the country, but will it? It would improve the physique of the young men called; should also improve their morals and teach them obedience and respect for authority.

Furthermore, I really believe it would reduce the number of gangsters and petty thieves. It would give us an army with a knowledge of military training. For the good of the country's future it should be done as soon as possible.

J. A. M.

MORE USEFUL THAN GOLD.

Holland, Mich., June 3.—Why does our government not store up great quantities of tin, manganese, tungsten, latex, and other vital elements we do not produce in America, and a little less gold? Why is it not done now?

E. M. WILLIAMSON.

LIABILITY FOR NOTES.

Chicago, May 30 [Legal Friend of the People].—I would like to avail myself of your free legal advice by asking for the solution of the following problem: The head of a one man organization dies and in his will recommends to his widow the formation of a corporation of the business, giving the widow and two of the important employés [whose services are vital to the continuance of the business] the stock, and specifying that all assets at date of [1] death accrue to said widow.

The two employés who receive control of business are required to give notes to widow covering the assets payable over a period of years.

2. If these notes are signed by these two employés before corporation is formed, would they be personally liable for the amount of these notes in the event that the business subsequently failed?

If these notes were signed after the formation of corporation by these two men as officers of said corporation [2] would that relieve them of any personal liability?

4. How could this matter best be handled to eliminate personal liability?

T. H.

1. Death of whom? The facts are not clear to us.

2. In general, notes are personal obligations of the parties who sign them.

3. No, but the creditor should be prepared to prove that there was legal consideration for signing the notes.

4. Since the purpose of signing notes is to create a personal liability, it does not seem to make sense for you to ask how such a transaction can be handled to eliminate personal liability. In general, we would advise the employment of an attorney.

TODAY IN HISTORY

June 8, 1915

William Jennings Bryan, who from the outbreak of the world war had sought to restore peace, resigned as secretary of state in disagreement with President Wilson over the latter's attitude on the sinking of the Lusitania. Bryan opposed loans to the allies and preparedness measures in America. However, when war was declared he asked to be enrolled as a private, altho he was 57 years old, and stanchly supported Wilson's war measures.

LOOK AT THE ACTUALITIES.

Inflamed by commercial radio commentators, the east has fallen into a complete state of hysteria. Old men who have avoided every war during their lifetime are screaming to send conscripted boys overseas to the shambles. Once staid newspapers are crying for conscription of man power and capital. The mental confusion could hardly be worse if the enemy were in Long Island again.

It becomes doubly incumbent, therefore, upon the more solid western minds to guide the nation. We must keep our feet on the ground and face the actualities.

The fact is that congress has enacted more legislation than the executive can possibly execute for many months. The regular army is being increased faster than arms can be provided for it. When the arms arrive, the generals must learn how to use them, as they displayed they did not know how to use them in the recent maneuvers.

The aviation corps has got to learn to coöperate with the other arms, as the German aviators do.

The army itself must be reorganized and officers too old for service must give way to younger ones. When the regular army has been put upon a war basis the National Guard must be brought up to date. The Guard must be armed, trained, and the old men removed. When this has been accomplished it will be time enough to look for further effectives. As these must be specialists, it will be vain to enact a general conscription law which will break down our industries while not providing troops. It will be disastrous to destroy our financial structure to satisfy the communist's phrase of "conscription of capital."

We can cease looking for trouble overseas.

NOW ABOUT SUBURBAN SERVICE.

During the last year American railroads have shown a great deal of individual initiative and enterprise despite handicaps imposed upon them by burocratic control. Lack of publicity regarding this accomplishment has prevented a full capitalization on the achievement. Most of them have adopted fast, streamlined passenger equipment on their thru runs. They have tried out new forms of service to capture business. Such innovations include special train-auto service which has just gone into effect. Diesel-electric locomotives are being efficiently developed for almost all types of service. With the example of instalment buying provided by the furniture and automobile industries, the managers of railroads have decided to try applying that principle to the sale of transportation.

In competition for freight tonnage they have shown a great improvement in combining efficient operation, economy, and safety with an improved service to shippers that is giving their competitors a run for the money. They have bid for shippers' patronage by running freight trains at passenger train speed, making overnight deliveries at points as far as 500 miles distant and cutting days from former perishable freight schedules.

For some time we have been asking the roads involved to supply a faster and more modern train service between Chicago and Florida to meet the increasing public demand, and to furnish transportation for some of the thousands who have been driving their own automobiles to and from that winter resort country. It is pleasing to note that announcement was recently made of an improved Diesel-electric, streamlined service to be started before the end of the present year by three Chicago roads, which are alive to the situation and bidding for the profit in this business. The new service will cut about two hours and ten minutes from the time of the fastest winter season train and five hours and three minutes from the next three fastest. Judging by the experience of the lines connecting New York with Miami, this new venture should be extremely profitable.

Why should something not be done to improve suburban service? Most of the Chicago lines regard suburban traffic as a necessary evil. They claim they lose money on every passenger carried. They have thrown up their hands in despair and have allowed to go by default any possibility of turning a liability into an asset.

Thousands of suburbanites are driving their own cars to their places of business in the city at an expense of more than double the suburban fare rather than submit to the inconvenience of antiquated schedules and equipment and loss of time in patronizing the suburban trains. Modern Diesel and Diesel-electric locomotives furnish high speed and a quick start and stop facility at an economical cost. The cost of adjusting the levels of suburban station platforms would not be prohibitive, and little ingenuity would be required to improve the muzzle loading type of civil war coach equipment now in use.

We cherish the hope that some day in the not too distant future the management of at least one Chicago road will take the lead in developing a new and improved service, and, by actual demonstration, furnish an example for other roads to follow in transferring an important account from the loss to the profit side of the ledger.

A MUDDLED SENATOR.

Senator Pepper of Florida has been leading the war hawks in congress. He is not only willing, he is eager, to have the equipment of the army and navy sent abroad even tho it is plain that to do so might leave us unarmed or insufficiently armed to face an invader.

The senator suggested in the course of the debate that those who disagree with him on questions of foreign policy do so out of admiration or approval of Herr Hitler.

In fact, the senator was seeking to conceal his own malign purposes of reducing this country to helplessness by directing false and misleading accusations at his opponents. Americans wish to stay out of the war because, in their calculation, the gain which might come to us from an allied victory would not be worth its cost in blood and money, in economic disorganization, and in the fastening on this country of a dictatorship from which we might not emerge for a generation. They are thinking as Americans, not as transplanted Europeans.

Mr. Pepper may pretend that he wishes this country merely to adopt "all measures short of war" as the formula goes. That position is morally indefensible and is calculated to lead to war. If the welfare of the United States is wholly dependent upon an allied victory, as he believes, then it is both cowardly and absurd to withhold an ounce of our power from the battlefields of Europe. We ought to send not only our so-called surplus equipment but our men as well. To do less is to acknowledge that we fear Hitler more than we fear dishonor.

The "short of war" formula did not work in 1914-1917. We started with supplies, and they were followed by loans, and with increasing diplomatic pressure upon the central powers. The day came when we declared war, tho at the time vast numbers of Americans believed that our contribution was to be limited to the navy, the merchant marine, and extensive credits. The expectation proved wholly wrong. When the war ended there were two million American soldiers in Europe, and 50,000 had been killed in battle. That experience should not be forgotten by those who talk of measures "short of war," and they do not help their case by denouncing their opponents as friends of Hitler.

OUR CHEMISTS RELIEVE THE FLEET.

The B. F. Goodrich company had a happy idea when it gave the name Ameripol to the synthetic rubber its chemists have made. Ameripol. The name signifies a combination of molecules obtained exclusively from American raw materials. The Goodrich research organization, with those of other corporations working on the synthetic rubber problem, has removed the last excuse for sending the United States fleet on a difficult if not fatal mission—the protection of the Dutch East Indies.

The raw material for the Goodrich synthetic rubber, which the company says it has been testing for months and found satisfactory for automobile tires, is gases obtained by cracking petroleum. Our supply of these gases is more than ample to meet our rubber requirements.

Research on several other rubber substitutes has reached or is rapidly approaching the stage where they can be put in production in this country. The du Pont company has been producing for several years a synthetic material more satisfactory than rubber for many uses, but somewhat more expensive. A subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is working on the buna process originated in Germany, and its chemists, it is understood, have improved and cheapened the German product. This company is building a plant at present in Louisiana.

Cost is an important factor. Our present annual bill for natural rubber, of which we use nearly 600,000 tons a year, is about $250,000,000. Crude rubber is selling at present at about 21½ cents a pound. While it is impossible to say accurately what the synthetic products will cost when they go into large scale production, some of the estimates run as low as 20 cents a pound for the cheaper varieties.

Another important factor is the time required to build the plants to make the new materials. The corporations that have developed them naturally would prefer to start production on a small scale, that later plant installations might take advantage of technological advances. In a national emergency, however, these economies could and would be sacrificed for immediate volume of production. Estimates of the time required to build plants range from nine months to three years, depending to some degree on the processes used.

Among the principal exports of the Dutch East Indies and the neighboring British possessions that are essential to our national defense are rubber and tin. Since Bolivia furnishes a fairly adequate alternative source of tin, rubber is the crucial item.

If this nation were dependent upon natural rubber there might be some excuse for using our navy to resist any change in the ownership of the Indies that might threaten our supply. Even under those circumstances the task is not one that the navy would relish, and there is grave doubt whether it could accomplish it.

But our American chemists have rendered us independent of natural rubber. In the future, therefore, any attempt to use our fleet in an East Indian adventure can be regarded almost purely as an attempt by the Roosevelt administration to sacrifice American ships and men for protection of European colonial empires. That is not an issue for which Americans are willing to fight.

THE ARMY MISSES THE BUS.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The president of one of our great aircraft companies said the other day in Washington:

> We built 200 planes with self-sealing tanks in 1922. This equipment later was left out of army air corps specifications. We built planes with armorplated engines and cockpits in the early '20s—attack planes mostly. This equipment later was left out of army air corps specifications.

SPEAKING OF CONTRIBUTORS.

We fly a flag at half mast in memory of a contributor, the late Horace Spencer Fiske, whose long life was largely spent at the University of Chicago. Several verses of his writing have been published here since we took over the column, and no doubt his work for the Line runs back to the earliest days of the B. L. T. period. He could turn an excellent sonnet and rhyme a rousing ballad; and his several published collections of verse remain as testimony of his literary gift. Moreover, he was a bold friend whose kindliness and encouragement are a part of the memories of our student years.

We wish that Aborigine, a valued member of the old guard, would send us his real name, written legibly, and also his address. His signature would baffle a bank clerk.

The life of a columnist is complicated by his friends who refuse to believe that he has to go to work. "Go to work?" they roar. "Why, the paper for tomorrow is on the street with the column in it. Sit down and have a drink"—or "another drink," as the case may be. So to avoid long, technical explanations, we've stopped saying that. "Got to catch a train," or "meet a girl," or "see a show" seem to work better. . . . Methods of escaping from friends who try to prevent you from going to work should be taught in schools of journalism.

The shade tree now in gallant bloom with tall, erect spires of white flowers is the horse chestnut or buckeye. You will see a row of them along the south side of the Edgewater Beach hotel. . . . The buckeye is the most handsome nut in the world, and our grandsires thought that if carried in the pocket it would cure rheumatism.

CASUALTY AT DUNKIRK.

It is so then,
that he is fallen
and his dreams and hopes are done;
and he shall no longer love,
nor struggle towards some star,
nor feed his heart with songs.

It is to be then;
his life blood drains itself
to warm the soil of France;
one so tall, so lean, so gay,
lusty and dreamful and young
has joined the quiet dead.

It is to be.
Weep not for those blue eyes
over which flicked no shadow of defeat;
weep not for that which is dead
but only for those he left

Dinner at "The States," 1907.

Do you remember when a fellow could dine "in state" at the States restaurant in the Republic building, State and Adams streets? There were 48 booths, representing the states of the Union. Each was decorated with the colors of the state university, the state seal, pictures of historical and scenic places, and a photograph of the governor. The souvenir menu for New Year's day, 1907, contained pictures of theatrical stars then on the Chicago stage:

Don't Cheer, Boys; "Swing" Is Dying.

A national survey of college campuses, conducted by the Billboard, indicates that "hot swing" is headed toward the graveyard and that "jitterbugs" are out of date. The prom trotters are hollering for "sweet" stuff, and even for waltzes. Out of 108 colleges, the spokesmen in 56 turned thumbs down on "swing."

HIGH SCHOOL REUNION.

Last week I took a trip into the land
Of long ago—no less than thirty years;
The class of nineteen ten, a jolly band,
Met where they had prepared for their careers.
Loud were the shouts: "O, I remember you!"
"You look just fine!" "You have not changed at all!"
"Where is wee Willie?" "Where's Ilma, Rose, Maylou?"
"So you're a doctor!" "But you were so small!"
And then in softer tones: "Our belle, Kathleen,
Is gone." "And smiling redhead Ralph, our wit."
"And three or four besides; it seems so mean;
It's hard to reconcile oneself to it."
Then came biographies; and I learned who
Did what, who was a great celebrity,
And who was wealthy; ah, but well I knew
They were just kids that went to school with me.
Now Mr. Sloan, who once had taught us art,
(Without whom no "affair" could be complete,
And here he was again, bless his kind heart),
Told us of Mr. Hooper, Olson, Sweet.
At last farewells, and many solemn dates
To meet quite soon; I'm sure they will be kept,
For we had found we still were true classmates.
I smiled "Good-by!" but inside, softly wept.

Gaycelle.

A Voice from Egypt, Ill.

Regarding the pronunciation of Cairo, Ill. [June 3]: Its citizens do not say "Kay-ro," as your correspondent stated, but "Care-oh." My grandfather named the place, not after Cairo, Egypt, as every one assumes, but after a certain Dr. Cairo, who pronounced his name "Care-oh." The southern part of the state came to be called Egypt because northerners thought the city was named after the oriental Cairo.

My grandfather, Miles A. Gilbert, was one of the original incorporators of the Illinois Central Railroad company.

DON'T ALLOW SPEECH DEFECTS TO PERSIST.

WHEN a child becomes so anxious to express himself that thoughts race ahead of the powers of utterance, certain irregularities may be observed. Eager to be heard, to explain some experience, there are times when he must be slowed up if interference with speech is to be avoided.

There is no excuse for halting or stammering, altho an occasional stumble over words may not be significant. We would not blame the little chap should his feet tangle because he is trying to run too fast. About all that is needed is to tell him that he has plenty of time and that mother will listen just as long as he has something to say.

But should the fault occur routinely the remark, "O! Well, Johnny will outgrow it," may not be well founded. Certainly, after four years of age—if intelligible articulation has not been acquired—the condition should not be disregarded. At that age a program of retraining will be effective. There are not a few students in high school and college thus handicapped, because no attempt at correction was made.

It will be granted that normal, satisfactory conversation—that can be understood readily—is a most desirable social and business asset. Nevertheless some will stutter while others may fail to finish a sentence or complete a word. Still others may retain a lisp quite beyond the period when it is cute.

When we look to the cause we must first examine the boy or girl to make sure that there is no physical defect: that the tongue is able to move freely, that the jaw is properly formed, and that the teeth are in correct alignment with accurate occlusion. Many little ones with hugely overgrown tonsils, adenoids, or polyps in the nasal passages may manifest muffled, harsh tones.

But—assured that there is nothing wrong—we may investigate the environment. Now and then a mother will unwisely accentuate baby talk by regarding it as "sweet" and clever. She may even take delight in showing off her young hopeful to friends. Sometimes a tot will exhibit great skill in mimicry—reeling off long words before he is really ready to use them. This habit should not be encouraged, as mispronunciation may only result in trouble later.

There is a definite tendency for every child to be either right or left handed and—in reading, spelling, writing, as well as in speaking—these functions are developed strongly on one side or the other of the brain. If we expect the pupil to employ words accurately and with fluency we must encourage this one-sidedness—allowing the process to take its course. A large number of our stutterers, naturally left handed, have been created because they were obliged in school to change to right handedness. Somehow or other this unfortunate teaching carries with it a good deal of nervousness, a slowing up of reading ability, and often indecision in making up one's mind. No, we must permit every youngster to mature as he will so that he may become adept in speech and dexterous and sure with one hand or the other.

I haven't the slightest idea why left handed individuals should be looked upon as "curios." They are neither more awkward nor are they less bright. In fact, in baseball circles a skilled southpaw is a valued member of any professional team.

Patience and sympathy must be accorded every young stammerer. If playmates are cruel the victim is likely to be the center of ridicule, as children are always amused by any type of behavior that is different. On the contrary, the teacher, who is concerned as well as interested, may solve the difficulty by putting the lad at his ease. Then it is that his nervousness unwinds. Father and mother must set the example and they can aid materially by speaking slowly and distinctly. The unafraid child will follow the pattern set for him. Needless to say, scolding and punishment will make the matter worse.

OVEREATING.

N. Y. writes: Is it not harmful for a diabetic, 72 years old, to eat large amounts of meat and as many as 12 eggs a day?

REPLY.

Entirely too much even for one in robust health. The protein and fat allowance in the diabetic diet may be slightly more than normal, but since insulin has come into vogue we are able to feed a balanced menu without difficulty. After 60 the rule should be less food rather than more.

URINE TESTS.

M. N. writes: Does testing the urine reveal the presence of venereal disease or tuberculosis?

REPLY.

Neither. Examination of the blood and a microscopic check of certain secretions determine the presence or absence of venereal infection. If tuberculosis of the kidney is suspected, the sediment found in the urine is studied.

SMOOTH TONGUE.

M. M. writes: Is a smooth tongue a sign of some disease?

REPLY.

One who has a smooth, oily tongue is thought to be clever with words; able to extricate himself from difficult situations. Absence of rugae [furrows] may mean slight atrophy [wasting]. If the organ is clean and of normal color there is no occasion for concern.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 27 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. How long was a round of boxing when John L. Sullivan ruled the ring?
[a] Thirty minutes. [b] Until a knockdown occurred. [c] There were no rounds; the fight was to a finish.
2. What was the nationality of Maxim Gorki, novelist?
[a] German. [b] Russian. [c] Finnish.
3. In what country is the lira the unit of currency?
[a] Japan. [b] Italy. [c] Belgium.
4. In what famous song does the phrase "grapes of wrath" appear?
[a] "Marching Thru Georgia." [b] "Battle Hymn of the Republic." [c] "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground."

CAN'T SEE THE FIRE FOR THE SMOKE

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A VOICE FROM THE EAST.

Montclair, N. J., June 5.—I am amazed at your editorial, "Lindbergh vs. Brynes," in your issue of May 25. Apparently the momentous events of the last few weeks have meant nothing to your editors. They quote with approval Lindbergh's statement that "There is small reason to fear bombing attacks or an armed invasion of this country" and say that Lindbergh "sought to quiet the growing hysteria in this country, particularly in the seaboard states."

It seems well nigh incredible that a great newspaper, such as THE TRIBUNE undoubtedly is, should fall so far short of its responsibility for wise and patriotic leadership in a great national crisis.

For a single question: Hitler, by his conquest of Holland, now controls Dutch Guiana. Should the United States sit still and see a German base established there, close to the Panama canal?

CHARLES WHITING BAKER.

AND FROM THE FAR WEST.

Burlingame, Cal., June 5.—What abysmal fools we Americans are to shrink our plain duty of standing shoulder to shoulder with the few surviving democracies on the wretched pretext of nonpayment of debts ad nauseum, while Britain, foolish only for believing the most monstrous liar on earth, fights with her back to the wall our battle and hers to the ever insistent cry of "cash on the barrel head."

Suppose Britain loses, and has to face the alternative of turning over intact her mighty fleet to the most dreadful mass murderers of history. In such an emergency we should be placed in the position of supplicating Britain not to surrender her fleet so that we might have a chance to defend ourselves, tho we have done literally nothing to deserve such consideration.

In God's name, what is the matter with us? Has our blood turned to water? Have we no sense of the impending danger to our national security, any of us?

Yours sincerely,

HAROLD LINCOLN BROWN.

JOBHOLDERS JOYFUL.

Herbster, Wis., June 6.—So the President has intimated that he will run for a third term. There will be joy in the breasts of the hordes of parasitical plunderers. Weep, you taxpayers, and all you that believe in the system that made the United States a nation built on individual initiative and work.

Now the great issues are out in the open and the American people must make a choice that will forever settle problems as great as those involved in the civil war.

M. J. B.

DEFENDS OXFORD GROUP.

Chicago, Ill., June 5.—The cartoon by McCutcheon yesterday grossly misrepresents the stand of certain groups of people who take the Oxford pledge against war. The cartoon inferred that all such groups are left wing radicals and slackers. As a religious pacifist I say we believe that in not supporting war we are serving our nation and the world better by following the Prince of Peace. Must all minority groups be branded as part of the fifth column?

PATRICIA MCCHESNEY.

A FAMILY FOR HOOVER.

Evanston, Ill., June 4.—Our family and all our neighbors and friends agree with John Spargo, in Voice of the People today, that former President Herbert Hoover is entitled to a second term for President. Hoover has continued to show what a wonderful man he is by standing by, willing to help in time of need.

THE JOHNSON FAMILY.

THE ATROCITY STORIES.

Chicago, June 4.—When are the Nazis going to start cutting off the hands of the Belgian children and doing war dances with babies impaled on their bayonets—or did we believe too much propaganda in the last war?

W. P.

SWEEPSTAKES FOR REARMAMENT.

Chicago, June 5.—We notice that our government is about to spend billions for preparedness but that we have not yet decided how all this money is to be obtained. I would suggest that our government start an American sweepstake based on the Arlington Futurity, and others on other American tracks.

It has been said that two-thirds of the Irish and Canadian sweepstake tickets are sold in the United States. The Irish have four every year and the Canadians two, and this year Nicaragua enters the field by flooding the country with her tickets.

When we think of the millions taken out of this country on foreign ventures every year we feel that our government is letting us down by making its citizens foot their bills by direct taxation when a good share of this money could be obtained thru sweepstakes.

In the Theodore Roosevelt administration our government conducted a sweepstake down in Panama for the education of the Panamanians and it proved a huge success. Why not operate a sweepstake here and now for rearmament?

JOHN H. SOLLER.

FEARS ANOTHER NEW DEAL FLOP.

Chicago, June 5.—Will the people of the United States make the terrible mistake of entrusting the paramount task of our national defense program to a partisan group of old men, some of whom are living on borrowed time? Will this gigantic preparation turn out to be just another New Deal flop like the N. R. A.?

The fireside chat turned out to be a swell "Pot of Gold" program for the New Deal.

B. E. N.

A BILLION DOLLARS A CHAT.

Chicago, June 4.—These fireside chats by Mr. Roosevelt are getting on our nerves. Every time we get a chat it costs us about one billion dollars. I think he ought to cut them out and also try to swap some of his dams for war defense tools. This will give the public an idea how much they are worth.

SAM TAYLOR.

FORTY-SIXTH WARD'S SHARE.

Chicago, June 5.—The Chicago recreation commission announces that there have been 640 playlots erected in the city. That's about 12 to the ward. Can some one inform me where to find the 46th ward's 12?

YEHUDI.

WRITE TO CITY HALL.

Chicago, June 3.—I hope you can clear up a deplorable condition that has existed for some years.

In the alley between 58th and 59th at Sangamon street only part of the people have garbage cans. There are two two-flat buildings that have cans with no backs in them and when garbage is put into them it merely goes into the alley. Naturally we have rats roaming around the alley.

This same condition exists in the alley between 60th and 61st at Carpenter street.

If the garbage was picked up at regular intervals it might help some.

Whom should we notify to get this matter cleared up?

E. KROPKE.

WHAT HITLER GOT.

Chicago, June 2.—Many people wonder at the successive victories of the German forces. Remember Munich? Chamberlain and Daladier gave Hitler the Czechs' Maginot line, which could retain about 40 divisions of German forces. They gave Hitler the Skoda ammunition works. They gave Hitler 1,582 airplanes, 501 anti-aircraft guns, 468 tanks, 100,000 rifles, 3,000,000 shells, 1 milliard of rifle bullets, not to mention the few million Czech working men who helped manufacture the much needed war materials that the Germans use in their present invasion of the civilized world.

P. S. München is gaining interest.

JOHN GINCA.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING.

Chicago, June 4.—Your editorial regarding conscription should meet with the hearty approval of the country, but will it? It would improve the physique of the young men called; should also improve their morals and teach them obedience and respect for authority.

Furthermore, I really believe it would reduce the number of gangsters and petty thieves. It would give us an army with a knowledge of military training. For the good of the country's future it should be done as soon as possible.

J. A. M.

MORE USEFUL THAN GOLD.

Holland, Mich., June 3.—Why does our government not store up great quantities of tin, manganese, tungsten, latex, and other vital elements we do not produce in America, and a little less gold? Why is it not done now?

E. M. WILLIAMSON.

LIABILITY FOR NOTES.

Chicago, May 30 [Legal Friend of the People].—I would like to avail myself of your free legal advice by asking for the solution of the following problem: The head of a one man organization dies and in his will recommends to his widow the formation of a corporation of the business, giving the widow and two of the important employés [whose services are vital to the continuance of the business] the stock, and specifying that all assets at date of [1] death accrue to said widow.

The two employés who receive control of business are required to give notes to widow covering the assets payable over a period of years.

2. If these notes are signed by these two employés before corporation is formed, would they be personally liable for the amount of these notes in the event that the business subsequently failed?

If these notes were signed after the formation of corporation by these two men as officers of said corporation [2] would that relieve them of any personal liability?

4. How could this matter best be handled to eliminate personal liability?

T. H.

1. Death of whom? The facts are not clear to us.

2. In general, notes are personal obligations of the parties who sign them.

3. No, but the creditor should be prepared to prove that there was legal consideration for signing the notes.

4. Since the purpose of signing notes is to create a personal liability, it does not seem to make sense for you to ask how such a transaction can be handled to eliminate personal liability. In general, we would advise the employment of an attorney.

TODAY IN HISTORY

June 8, 1915

William Jennings Bryan, who from the outbreak of the world war had sought to restore peace, resigned as secretary of state in disagreement with President Wilson over the latter's attitude on the sinking of the Lusitania. Bryan opposed loans to the allies and preparedness measures in America. However, when war was declared he asked to be enrolled as a private, altho he was 57 years old, and stanchly supported Wilson's war measures.

KELLY SAYS IT'S TO BE ROOSEVELT ON FIRST BALLOT

Addresses Faction Torn Wisconsin Democrats.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., June 7.—Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago predicted the renomination of President Roosevelt on the first ballot at the national Democratic convention in an address tonight to Wisconsin Democrats before the opening of the state convention here tomorrow.

Mayor Kelly steered clear of any reference to the factional quarrels which have split the Democratic party in Wisconsin into at least three groups. He talked exclusively on national problems and the third term.

Voices Faith in President.

It is no longer President Roosevelt's right, Mayor Kelly asserted, to choose to pass the burden of his office to other shoulders.

"We've had our Washington, our Jefferson, our Jackson, and our Lincoln," the mayor said. "We had our fathers and our great emancipators and our great common men, but nowhere in history has there been one the like of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"In these most trying days of our history, with world chaos changing maps by the minute, with governments shifting power between radio broadcasts, there is no irreverence, there is only the simplest and finest faith in the thought of our people that says, 'In God and Roosevelt we trust.'"

Defends Precedent Breaking.

Criticizing those who argued that a third term for the President would break an age-old American tradition, Mayor Kelly declared: "We midwesterners are frequently accused of being precedent breakers, but we don't mind that, because we come of a people who take their democracy 'straight' and know the true meaning of the rights and responsibilities that go with being free men in a free country."

Factional differences among the Democrats attending tonight's meeting indicated that attendance at the convention tomorrow would be only a small fraction of the number at the Republican state convention a week ago. Early attendance here was so light that it gave credence to reports that the Democratic party organization group, headed by Gustave Keller and Edward P. Curry, would bolt the convention and hold its own convention later in Madison.

L. R. LOHR QUITS RADIO TO HEAD SCIENCE MUSEUM

Lenox R. Lohr.

The resignation of Lenox R. Lohr as president of the National Broadcasting company to accept the presidency of the Museum of Science and Industry was announced yesterday by Col. A. A. Sprague, vice president of the museum. Col. Sprague has been acting president of the museum, which is housed in the restored Columbian Exposition Fine Arts building in Jackson park, since the death Jan. 8 of Rufus C. Dawes.

Maj. Lohr is expected to take over his new post about July 15. It was announced by NBC in New York City that Lohr's resignation would be accepted July 12 at a meeting of the board and that his successor would be selected.

Four new museum board of trustees members were announced yesterday. They are Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railroad; A. H. Mellinger, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company; Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of the Commonwealth Edison company, and Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Horner's Office Says He Has Approved Five Bills

Springfield, Ill., June 7 (AP).—Gov. Henry Horner's office announced today that the chief executive had approved and filed with the secretary of state five bills passed in the legislature's special session. Bills approved included one validating the Chicago Sanitary district's $5,000,000 pegged levy, one appropriating $46,393 for payment to 71 county fairs, and three appropriating $88,000 for special session expenses.

Samuel D. Jackson Made Indiana Attorney General

Indianapolis, Ind., June 7 [Special].—Samuel D. Jackson, Fort Wayne attorney, was appointed attorney general of Indiana today. Omer S. Jackson of Greenfield, his predecessor, died a week ago. Samuel Jackson was a Democratic candidate for the United States senate nomination two years ago. He was permanent chairman of the Democrat's state convention in 1936 and chairman of the state committee's speakers' bureau in 1934. He was prosecuting attorney of Allen county for two terms beginning in 1922. In 1928 he was an unsuccessful candidate for congress.

Exempt More Small Wheat Farmers from Quota Law

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP).—Wheat farms with an average annual production of 200 bushels or less annually will be exempt from marketing quotas under the farm act as a result of legislation signed by the President today. Formerly this exemption applied only to farms producing 100 bushels or less annually.

Kills Baby and Self

MRS. MABEL CRANDELL.

Mrs. Mabel Crandell, 30 years old, 1722 Jonquil terrace, was found drowned in a bathtub in her apartment yesterday, holding her dead baby son, Charles Don, 3 months old, in her arms. Dr. Patrick Mackler, 7001 Clark street, told Rogers Park police the child evidently had been asphyxiated.

W. L. C. Chambers, whose wife manages the building, broke into the apartment with the aid of Harold Bloomfield, 7423 Rogers avenue, a deliveryman, after he smelled gas. Police said Mrs. Crandell apparently had draped a blanket as a hood over her child's face and held him over an open kitchen burner. She then disrobed, slashed her wrists, and entered the tub, which was filled with water.

Mrs. Crandell's husband, Charles A. Jr., 30, a maintenance man, said his wife had been under the care of a physician since February because of a nervous ailment. She left a note saying she did not want to be a burden.

CITY STRUGGLES TO KEEP 33,000 ON ITS WPA ROLLS

City and Work Projects administration engineers yesterday began a two day series of conferences in an attempt to solve the crisis precipitated Thursday by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission in allotting only 63 per cent of the money requested by the city to keep city sponsored WPA projects operating this month.

Oscar E. Hewitt.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, and Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, said they hoped to have a program ready Monday. Mayor Kelly announced that all street projects will be cleaned up by June 30, when the IERC will cease helping to pay for city sponsored projects.

The IERC's allotment totaled $18 each for 6,182 of the 33,000 WPA employés on city projects, plus a flat $100,000 for clearing up torn up street projects. In the event the city cannot continue to employ 33,000 men during June, it will lose $18 in state funds for each of the first 6,182 men it discharges. Mayor Kelly said that 10,000 to 13,000 workers may have to be released at the end of the month.

OBJECT TO WPA SHOE REPAIRERS IN CITY SCHOOLS

More than 500 members of the Master Shoe Repair and Valet association of Illinois are expected to attend a meeting tomorrow afternoon in the Skyline Athletic club, 188 West Randolph street, to protest against the WPA cobbling project in the public schools.

Attorney Irving E. Hollobow, general counsel for the association, said that many of its 2,000 members are losing business because of this project. The WPA has a cobbler in each of the 120 elementary schools and last year they repaired more than 100,000 pairs of shoes with material furnished by the School Children's Aid society.

The shoe repair association asserts that many of the WPA cobblers are inexperienced and that their work is of poor quality, frequently injuring school children's health.

Chicago Bar to Install New Officers Thursday

The annual meeting of the Chicago Bar association will be held next Thursday evening in the headquarters at 29 South La Salle street. New officers will be installed. They are: William H. King Jr., president; Lloyd D. Heth and Harry N. Gottlieb, vice presidents; Whitney Campbell, secretary; Stephen E. Hurley, treasurer, and Alfred Beck, librarian.

New City Plan Commission Meets with Mayor Tuesday

Members of the new Chicago Plan commission will meet with Mayor Kelly Tuesday afternoon, the mayor announced yesterday. The membership of the commission was completed Wednesday when Mayor Kelly named George T. Horton chairman of the commission and Morton Bodfish vice-chairman.

Claude Baker Re-elected President of Printers

Indianapolis, Ind., June 7 (AP).—An unofficial summary of complete official returns today showed reelection of Claude M. Baker of San Francisco as president of the International Typographical union. Baker has 30,854 votes to 28,487 for his opponent, Francis G. Barrett of New York City.

RUBINOFF TO BE HEARD ON W-G-N SYMPHONIC HOUR

Famous Violinist Plays Tomorrow Night.

Rubinoff and his violin will be featured in the Chicago Tribune Symphonic Hour tomorrow night on W-G-N. He will be heard in a coast-to-coast program on the Mutual network, from 9 to 10 o'clock in the audience studio of W-G-N.

Rubinoff.

Rubinoff will be supported by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus, directed by Henry Weber. Marion Claire, Chicago's operatic soprano, will be soloist.

Col. McCormick to Speak.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will be speaker of the evening. In the studio will be 600 guests representing the National Small Business Men's association. Special guests of the association at the broadcast will be Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] and James S. Kemper, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Rubinoff is in Chicago to appear at the All Chicago Flag day celebration next Wednesday in Grant park.

Star of Music Festival.

His last appearance here was in the summer of 1937 when he played before 80,000 music lovers at the eighth annual Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field.

In tomorrow night's radio program, Rubinoff will play the "Dance of the Russian Peasants," a number of his own composition, and another selection which will be announced tomorrow night.

The violinist has just concluded a three-year nation-wide tour of four hundred cities. Yesterday he played in 12 Chicago high schools, and announced that by next Wednesday he hopes to have appeared at the rest of the city's public schools.

STRITCH NAMES MSGR. DUNNE AS MILK ARBITRATOR

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of the archdiocese of Chicago announced yesterday that he had appointed Msgr. Dennis J. Dunne, pastor of Holy Cross church and former chancellor of the archdiocese, to act as arbitrator in a wage controversy between the Milk Wagon Drivers' union and their employers.

The recent strike of the drivers was ended with an agreement that points of difference unsettled by June 10 should be submitted to an arbitration board, with the impartial member to be designated by the archbishop, if he could not act himself. The archbishop said that Father Dunne is "in every way qualified" for the task.

Negotiations continued yesterday between the union and the Associated Milk Dealers. Some minor points were settled, but the parties admittedly were far apart on the question of wages. The dealers have insisted that the drivers take a substantial wage cut, asserting that otherwise many routes will have to be discontinued.

Fire Destroys Winery; 300,000 Gallons Lost

Lawton, Mich., June 7 [Special].—Wine ran a foot deep in ditches here today when a $200,000 fire destroyed the winery of William C. Houppert. Nearly 100 firemen fought the flames, Lawton is being assisted by forces from Paw Paw, Mattawan, and Kalamazoo. To prevent explosions, huge casks were opened and emptied into ditches. Houppert estimated that about 300,000 gallons were lost, in addition to about 6,000 cases of bottled wine and six carloads of empty bottles.

Circus Tent Falls in Storm; Golfer Dies, Boy Drowned

Detroit, Mich., June 7 (AP).—Lightning killed a golfer, a boy swimmer drowned, and a circus crowd became panic stricken at the collapse of a tent during electrical storms in Michigan today and tonight. Kenneth Knubbe, 22, Detroit, was killed on a Jackson golf course. Donald Brown, 13, Jackson, drowned. At Port Huron two persons required first aid after the circus panic. The main tent collapsed over an audience of 500, mostly children.

Prof. S. N. Stevens of N. U. Elected Grinnell President

Prof. Samuel N. Stevens, dean of the university college of Northwestern university, was elected president of Grinnell college, Grinnell, Ia., yesterday. He becomes the college's sixth president and succeeds John S. Nollen, who retires as president emeritus. The appointment is effective on Aug. 1. Prof. Stevens is 39 years old and has been dean of university college since 1934. He is well known in the psychological field.

Courts Go on Vacation from July 3 to Sept. 4

The Circuit and Superior courts will hold their a nual summer recess from July 3 to Sept. 4, Chief Justice Cornelius Harrington of the Circuit court said yesterday. Only emergency courts will be held during the vacation period. Next Friday the judges of both courts will hold their annual meeting to make assignments and appointments.

SAILOR BLAMES A MONKEY FOR REVOLT ON SHIP

New York, June 7 (AP).—Tony Sokolowsky, boatswain of the Matson Line's steamer Ewa, testified in federal court today that his buying a monkey in Colombo, Ceylon, started trouble aboard the ship.

The first defense witness in the trial of him and 15 other seamen on charges of conspiring to make mutiny, Sokolowsky explained the monkey and his money were stolen while he was ashore. He complained to authorities, who caught the thief, he said, but the Ewa master refused the crew permission to go ashore the next day to identify the culprit in court. Most of the crew sided with the boatswain, he testified, and eventually he went ashore.

Questioned about the crew's refusal to obey orders later at Colachel, India, Sokolowsky said the men refused to work when Capt. William G. Leithead refused to pay them advances on their wages to which they were entitled.

Search Lake in Michigan for Resort Owner's Body

Sturgis, Mich., June 7 [Special].—State police and sheriff's deputies were dragging Sand Lake at Nottawa, 10 miles north of here, late today in a search for the body of Herman Sabrofsky, 65 years old, who disappeared earlier in the day after rowing his boat out into the lake. The search was begun after Mrs. Sabrofsky noticed the boat and her husband's hat drifting toward the shore. Sabrofsky operated a summer resort and picnic grounds at the lake.

Advertising Man Hangs Self in Downtown Hotel

Oakman A. Ellis, 33 years old, an advertising salesman, hanged himself yesterday in his room at the Blackstone hotel, where he had registered June 1. He left a note asking that small bills for a total of $67 be paid, and adding that he "couldn't take" losing his job. The police learned Ellis formerly was employed by the magazine "This Week," and that his mother lives at 2853 North Marietta avenue, Milwaukee.

47 HONOR ROLL STUDENTS TO BE CHICAGO GUESTS

Will Be Part of Show on W-G-N.

Forty-seven of the 50 honor roll students of The Chicago Tribune's Citizens of Tomorrow program on W-G-N, will be entertained at lunch next Wednesday noon by the Junior Association of Commerce in the Red room of the La Salle hotel. That night they will participate in the last of the first series of the Citizens of Tomorrow broadcasts, dedicated to the Youth of America.

Kenneth P. Wood.

Thomas R. Reid, executive vice president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, will give the address of welcome at the luncheon. Kenneth P. Wood, president of the Chicago junior chamber, will preside.

Come from 35 Cities.

The 47 students, chosen by their high school principals, will come to Chicago Wednesday from nearly 40 cities and towns of Chicagoland for a day of festive activities. After the luncheon they will be taken on an airplane ride over Chicago from the Chicago airport in a TWA plane. Before the broadcast they will be guests at supper-tea of the Chicago Woman's club.

The 47 students will present at the luncheon their first rehearsal of the part they will play in the broadcast, giving their names, home towns, and ambitions. Only three of the honor roll students will be unable to attend.

Responding to Mr. Reid's address of welcome will be Robert Ray, senior student at Davenport, Ia., who won the national high school championship for the most humorous speech at the national speech tournament, and Ann Condit, vice president and valedictorian of the Central High school class in South Bend, Ind.

Actors to Be Present.

Four members of the Citizens of Tomorrow radio cast also will be present. They are Philip Maxwell of The Tribune's editorial staff, who plays the rôle of "the principal"; Miss Dorothy Gregory, "Jerry," the perennial sophomore co-ed; Ed Sprague, "Charlie Jones," the high school engineer of the script, and Pierre Andre, W-G-N announcer.

The reception committee for the visitors will include six members of the Chicago junior chamber: President Wood; Robert M. Harrison, president elect; Harold C. Olsen, executive secretary; Ramon Millard, who is secretary of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Joe L. Mayberry and Robert E. Davis.

1,000 MUSICIANS IN KANSAS CITY FESTIVAL TODAY

Kansas City, Mo., June 7 [Special].—More than 1,000 musicians will participate in the second annual Heart of America music festival tomorrow in the Municipal auditorium here. Sponsored by the Kansas City Journal, contests will be held thruout the morning and afternoon and at the concert tomorrow night.

The festival is held as a preliminary to the Chicago Tribune's eleventh annual festival in Soldiers' field Saturday night, Aug. 17, and the winning instrumental and vocal soloists tomorrow will represent this festival at Chicago in August.

Proceeds of the festival here will go to the Red Cross for assisting refugees in the European conflict. Douglas Cook of the Kansas City Journal staff, is director of the festival.

FRANCIS J. PASK, HOSPITAL PATIENT FOR 27 YEARS, DIES

Francis J. Pask, who entered the Sherman hospital in Elgin expecting to be out in two or three weeks and who instead spent 27 years and 3 months there, died in the hospital Thursday night. He was 80 years old.

Pask entered the hospital Feb. 18, 1913, with a back injury suffered from a fall from a barn. Paralysis in both legs developed and he stayed in the hospital, outliving about six of his doctors. He left his bed each day for an hour to visit other patients in a wheel chair.

Pask, who was a carpenter before he was injured, was born in Elgin and never married. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. today in the chapel at 266 East Chicago street, Elgin, with burial in Bluff City cemetery.

A. C. Millspaugh, Clerk to Secretary of State, Dies

Springfield, Ill., June 7 (AP).—A. C. Millspaugh, chief clerk in the office of the secretary of state and a state employé for 40 years, died tonight at St. John's hospital after a month's illness. Millspaugh, widely known as "Colonel," was made chief clerk by Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson. Succeeding secretaries had retained him. A native of southern Illinois, Millspaugh held city offices in Shawneetown before moving to Mount Vernon, where he served as clerk of the Appellate court for two terms. Surviving is his widow.

JOHN J. FIRESTONE, VETERAN ALLEGAN PUBLISHER, IS DEAD

Allegan, Mich., June 7 [Special].—John J. Firestone, 81 years old, one of the oldest newspaper editors in Michigan, died at his home today. He was a second cousin of the founders of the Firestone Tire company at Akron, O.

Born near Goshen, Ind., Firestone learned the printer's trade and entered the newspaper field early in life. He was a compositor on THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in 1878 and was a correspondent for that paper for 20 years until his death. During his long career he published weekly newspapers at Syracuse, Wakarusa, and Argos, Ind., and at Sturgis and Allegan, Mich.

Surviving him are his widow, the former Lizzie A. Evelind, who assisted him in his newspaper ventures; a son, Claude E., and a daughter, Mrs. Fred M. Moore, all of Allegan. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Allegan Episcopal church.

Death was due to coronary thrombosis. Jones came here a week ago to take part in mediation proceedings concerning the Rutland railroad wage questions.

OBITUARIES

John S. Cohen Jr.

Atlanta, Ga., June 7 (AP).—John S. Cohen Jr., former New York motion picture critic, died today. He was motion picture editor of the New York Sun when ill health forced his retirement seven years ago. He resumed writing for a radio company in Chicago but illness again forced his return to Atlanta. Born in Atlanta 40 years ago, Cohen was the son of the late Maj. John S. Cohen Sr., former United States senator and editor of the Atlanta Journal. He was graduated from Annapolis in 1919 and served two years in the navy before entering newspaper work.

Miss Minnie Luken.

Miss Minnie Luken of 1104 East 46th street, well known as a painter of china, died yesterday after a brief illness in St. Elizabeth's hospital. She was 75 years old. Miss Luken received a convent education in Chicago and studied at the Art institute for many years. She was a member of the Big Sisters. She leaves a brother, Norbert H. Luken. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in St. Ambrose church, with burial in Mount Olivet cemetery.

James Hall.

Jersey City, N. J., June 7 (AP).—James Hall, 39 years old, a former movie actor, died today in Jersey City Medical center. He had been a patient there since May 28. Hall appeared with the late Jean Harlow and Ben Lyon in the picture "Hell's Angels" and in several other films. He had been living here for several years and had been master of ceremonies in several New York and New Jersey night clubs. He is survived by his widow.

Nathaniel Robbins.

Grand Haven, Mich., June 7 (AP).—Nathaniel Robbins, operator of the former Goodrich and the Wisconsin and Michigan Steamship Lines whose boats sailed Lake Michigan for many years, died at the age of 75 years last night. A native of St. Joseph, Mich., Robbins long had been active in western Michigan business and industrial affairs. Funeral will be held Sunday.

In Memoriam.

JENKIN—Genevieve Jenkin. To cherish ever increasing, unforgettable memory of my beloved wife, Genevieve, who passed away two years ago the ninth day of June.
J. JENKIN.

MERCIER—Emile A. Mercier. A tribute of love and sacred memory of my beloved husband, who passed away June 8, 1938 two years ago today.
My heart at dusk when the low winds moan
Seeks ever the place where you sleep,
My lips are tired with prayers I pray,
And I wait the dawn of a splendid day,
And a country fair, by the heaven's blue,
The eyes, the arms, and the lips of you,
Somewhere you wait for me, I know,
Because, beloved, I love you so.
LONELY WIFE, ELSIE.

McCONNELL—Thomas McConnell, June 8, 1936. In loving remembrance.
We cannot forget you, Tommy dear,
We are always wishing you were here.
'Tis just four years since you passed away,
Leaving friends and family alone today.
YOUR GRIEVING FAMILY.

STERN—Isidor Stern, June 8, 1939. Memories of you are always with us dearest husband and father. Loving wife and children.

First of Horse Shows Opening at South Shore

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE first of three "horsey" weekends starts today with the South Shore Country club's annual horse show. There will be a morning performance, starting at 10 o'clock, and one this afternoon starting at 2. The show will close with an afternoon performance tomorrow, which also begins at 2 o'clock. Next Saturday and Sunday it will be the Hinsdale show that will attract horse lovers, and the following week, starting on the 19th, it will be Lake Forest's big show that will draw hundreds to Onwentia's huge outdoor ring.

The South Shore shows have been held under unfavorable weather conditions for several years but it is hoped that today and tomorrow will be bright and warm. The shows always are successes, however, rain or shine, for the Infant Welfare society has been enriched by about $10,000 each year. The Kenwood Social Service club and the South Shore Center of Infant Welfare unite to sponsor it. it.

Mrs. Frederick Herendeen is chairman of the committee that has planned the show with Mrs. K. Ray Ballantine, Mrs. Eugene K. Lydon, Mrs. Robert McDougal Jr., Mrs. Kenneth MacLellan, Mrs. Vincent J. Ream, Mrs. B. S. Rockwell, and Mrs. James C. Thompson as her chief coworkers. Mr. Thompson is chairman of the stable committee of the club and Mr. Herendeen will be master of ceremonies. The usual horse show ball will be given tonight.

Young Exhibitors to Be Hosts at Luncheon.

Three young exhibitors in the Hinsdale show are inviting all of the other boys and girls who will be riding to come to luncheon on the opening day of the show, June 15. The hosts will be Paddy, Peggy, and John Price Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John MaC. Price of Hinsdale. They expect about 100 guests for an outdoor luncheon on the lawn of the Price home. The show, which will benefit the Infant Welfare society, will be given at the Oak Brook Polo club. Mr. Price is in charge of local entries and the equitation classes.

Boxes have been selling well for the largest outdoor horse show in this part of the country, the Lake Forest show, to be held June 19-22. Charles H. Schweppe and his daughter, Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., and Mr. Armour will share a box, as will Mrs. Philip D. Armour and Mrs. Mason Phelps. The senior and the junior Mrs. Albert B. Dicks each will have a box.

Others in the long list of boxholders are Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Irving S. Florsheim, Clark J. Lawrence, and Denison B. Hull; Dr. Walter G. McGuire, Gen. Robert E. Wood, Theodore W. Robinson, and the Solomon A. and Walter Byron Smiths.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Borland Are Parents of Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Borland II. [Barbara Hutchins] announce the birth of a daughter, their first child, yesterday at the Michael Reese hospital. The baby is being named for her mother. Tiny Miss Borland is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Borland, whose first grandchild she is.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carlson of Bristol, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mavis Currier, to James Percy Pollock, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis John Pollock of Chicago. Miss Carlson, a great-granddaughter of the late Nathaniel Currier of Currier & Ives fame, was graduated from the Knox school and attended Simmons college in Boston. Mr. Pollock attended Dartmouth for three years and in 1935 was a member of that school's first expedition to collect ore and fossil specimens for the Wilson museum. He was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1938, and for the last two years has held a teaching fellowship there, receiving his master's degree this year. The wedding probably will take place next fall. Dr. Pollock is a member of the staff of the Passa-

They'll Help Salvation Army Doughnut Day

William Tracy Alden Jr. (right) and his brother, John Edwards Alden, have a two man orchestra at home, but they won't be practicing on Tuesday for they are going to help the women's division of the Salvation Army that day, which has been set as Doughnut day. A large group of Chicago Latin school boys, including the Alden brothers, will act as "top sergeants" for the feminine captains in charge of the taggers who will give pasteboard doughnuts to those who contribute to the cause. # Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

A Sothern Exposure.

Hollywood, Cal., June 8.—Ann Sothern believes that in Hollywood the first 10 years are the hardest. . . . It took her 10 years to become important out here and it was fortunate that she started young, because today she is still an attractive wench with the sort of sophisticated blonde appeal that women enjoy and men admire. . . . In other words, Hollywood "discovered" her before she became a character actress, but The Sothern will tell you that she often doubted that they'd ever get around to her.

It was in 1929 that she came here. . . . She was known as Harriette Lake then, and she had been on the Broadway stage from the time she had outgrown her swaddling clothes. Her first job in Hollywood was a bit rôle in "Hearts in Exile," in 1929, starring Dolores Costello. The late Paul Bern saw her in the picture and, summoning her to Metro, where he was one of Thalberg's right hand men, gave her a screen test. The studio did nip-ups over the test and immediately signed her to a contract. . . . But for months the closest she came to the screen was an assignment in connection with a dog comedy. Ann's voice was used on the sound track of the short.

Finally Ann received an offer from Flo Ziegfeld to appear in his show, "Smiles," on Broadway. She went into a huddle with Paul Bern about it and he advised her to accept Ziegfeld's offer. . . . Bern's advice proved to be wise. The Ziegfeld show was a flop, but it turned out to be just what the doctor ordered for Ann. The New York critics reacclaimed her, and a scout was dispatched by Columbia to offer her a screen test.

Once again Ann came to Hollywood, this time with plenty of advance ballyhoo. Her name was changed from Harriette Lake to Ann Sothern, and her hair went from brunette to blonde to complete the transformation of her personality. Her first picture for Columbia was "Let's Fall in Love," and she was a sensation. Columbia followed up her initial success with a succession of inferior rô'es and, when RKO put in a bid for her services, she switched studios. . . . At RKO Ann again had a series of bad breaks. Tho they proved to be incompatible as a team, she and Gene Raymond were teamed repeatedly in a series of bad pictures. . . . Thoroly discouraged, Ann asked RKO to release her from her contract. By this time Ann considered herself a failure in pictures and, figuring she was washed up, retired from the screen.

After a frightening layoff for a year, minus salary, she was lucky to get a supporting rôle with Fredric March and Joan Bennett in "Trade Winds" and walked away with the picture. Then Metro cast her in "Maizie" and overnight she became one of Hollywood's topflight stars.

Ann is married to Roger Pryor. . . . She lives with her husband in a small house in Beverly Hills which they bought a few months ago. Despite the fact she's really in the chips now, she says she's learned a lesson and she'd rather own her own home, no matter how small, than rent the largest house in California.

Ann was born in Valley City, N. D., on Jan. 2, 1909. She's five feet one and a half inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. . . . Her husband calls her "The Madame," but every one else calls her "Doc Sothern," because she's one of those persons who is always doctoring people. . . . She loves clothes trimmed with ostrich feathers and fur coats.

Good Morning!

This, they tell me, is the picture that started it all—the romance between Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier. . . . Be that as it may, there IS a mothering something or other in her attitude toward him, the sort of mothering something or other that a woman usually feels and shows only for the man she genuinely loves.

Some people are of the opinion that the movie makers are always trying to put something over on them. Such suspicious souls have written asking a wary question:

"Isn't 'Twenty-One Days Together' a modern version of Elinor Glyn's 'Three Weeks'?" The answer is—NO.

The film is an adaptation of John Galsworthy's story, "The First and the Last," and it tells of two lovers who live three desperately gay weeks together in the shadow of what they feel is to be certain death for one. Because, if a certain man being tried for murder is not acquitted, Larry must confess that he, not the convicted, has been guilty of the deed. . . . True—the act was committed in self-defense. But the circumstances were such as not to be likely to convince a jury of innocence of intention. . . . Larry's brother, a well known barrister, has pleaded with family skeleton—namely, Larry—to go away to Rio—anywhere—so that any description the accused may give of the young man who had given him a cigaret and a match—might not by chance point to the real killer. But Larry, for all his unconventionalities, is thorobred underneath. And his Wanda is that way, too.

The three weeks of the trial drag on. The lovers lead crowded days. And then the verdict. I tell you the suspense is almost more than you can bear before—the—H. E.!

This movie was made some three years ago—as the length of Miss Leigh's skirts will prove. But don't get the idea that it's in any way "dated." It is excellently staged, dialoged and quite well photographed—tho the co-stars have bloomed more vividly under other camera technique. Just the same, they are both charming and convincing. I love the two of them!

The best supporting work is done by Leslie Banks as Larry's stiff necked brother, Esme Percy as the killee, and Hay Petrie as the suspect. . . . Courtroom scenes are splendidly presented and those on a river boat the last day of the 21 are effective and moving. That "clipped British accent" is all over the film, but is so well clipped, as it were, that you have no difficulty in understanding all that's said.

The film's only 72 minutes long, glory be! Wish some of our American producers would learn to depict a story thus tersely.

See you tomorrow.

Picking Greens in the Ozarks.

On typical gold-and-azure mornings Aunt Lizzie comes down the hill with paring knife and basket in hand. I ask no questions. I simply grab my own paring knife, sunbonnet, and sugar sack, and we are off to hunt greens. In the North Forty we find dozens of mushrooms, growing around stumps and under brush heaps, where they are protected from the sheep. Aunt Lizzie cautions me for the hundredth time to leave some of the stem in the ground, so another mushroom will grow on it. And I must always be careful to cut each mushroom I look at, since a mushroom, according to Ozark lore, that is once looked upon by human eyes will not grow 'nary other inch.' Shaped like fat little artificial Christmas trees, with convolutions that make them practically solid, our favorite mushrooms grow as large as one's fist. We pick both gray and dubonnet-colored ones, and I marvel as always that they are icy-cold to the touch, altho the sun is high and hot. Both types will be cooked the same way; sliced, dipped in batter, and fried in butter.

Then our paring knives are busy with greens. Poke is the favorite. We select many tender young green stalks, about the size of one's thumb. These will be soaked, then cooked in salted water, and sealed in hot, spicy vinegar for delicious pickles. The leaves, tiny and brilliantly green in their new growth, are picked for greens. Later the plant will grow head-high, with long, narrow leaves, strangely tropical in appearance. Then we find rock lettuce, with scalloped leaves, wild lettuce with plain leaves, sour dock, wild cabbage, wild onions, and the two sorrel sisters, one with lavender flowers and the other with yellow flowers. Aunt Lizzie knows them all and tells me which goes with what, and what ones to avoid. Farther along, where the old cabin once stood, we find tender blackberry sprouts, dandelion greens, plantain, and mouse's ears.

The sun grows warmer, but what hunter ever wished to stop when game was plentiful? We trudge on and find wild beet, wild sweet potato, and fuzzy britches. Aunt Lizzie reminds me to look for pink in the cut stem or 'turn 'em loose!' I slyly throw all three away. They may not be pink enough. Then, in the area that was once a tended garden, we find an abundance of lamb's quarters, a beautiful, low growing plant with a mild flavor. Near it is a sturdy growth of wild mustard. I tell Aunt Lizzie I need some horseradish leaves and then it's home for me. In the next bend of the creek we find them. A few tender horseradish leaves, in my opinion, are a mightly tasty addition to our favorite greens combination of poke, lambs' quarters, sour dock, and mustard.

Tired, but happy as any successful hunter who ever bagged a deer, we return home thru the North Forty. Close to the old well, where Jesse James used to water his horse, we stop in the shade of the honey locust trees. With paring knife a bit grimy with Ozark soil, I cut the sprawling branch of wicked looking thorns over my head and place it tenderly on the greens, careful not to blunt the points. We never knew how delightful our pet phonograph records could sound until one day, in a frenzy born of desperation, we substituted these long, sharp, honey locust thorns for the regulation needles. Now we use them thru preference.

Yes . . . Mother Nature is kind to her children in the Ozarks.

Weather and Concert Double to Make Grant Park a Pleasant Place

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Balmy weather and a program which mixed the grave with the gay in attractive proportions made Grant park a pleasant place to spend a portion of last evening.

This was the eighth of the 101 free concerts which are being presented on the lake front this summer by the Chicago park district, the Chicago Federation of Musicians, and the board of education.

Daniel Saidenberg conducted an orchestra of his own choosing for the first, or professional, half of the program. Following him came the Parker High school band, Alfred H. Hansen, conductor, and the Hirsch High school band, John Steinbach, conductor.

Mr. Saidenberg, who is a former first cellist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and who is now active in the fields of chamber music and radio, listed for his graver items the fifth symphony of Beethoven and Sibelius' tone poem, "Finlandia." For light relief there were the "Semiramide" overture of Rossini and Strauss' "Wine, Woman, and Song."

The performance was a conscientious one in which the radically differing styles of the four pieces were well grasped and carefully projected. Especially noteworthy were the sturdy, unsentimental delivery of the slow movement of the Beethoven symphony and the unforced nobility of the hymnlike melody of the Sibelius tone poem.

Art Institute School Exhibit Highly Praised

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

For the first time in several years it is my great pleasure to be able to write in glowing terms of the exhibition of work by students of the art school of the Art institute. The exhibit opened yesterday in the east wing galleries of the museum. It is beautifully arranged and amazingly fine in quality. As a helpful innovation one should mention the placing in each gallery of an index giving the contents of that gallery and the prices.

But one is not so much concerned with the contents or prices as with the fact that this year the work shows a distinct trend toward recognition of craftsmanship and honesty of workmanship as part and parcel of art, whether it be in the graphic arts, in the fine arts of painting and sculpture, or in the industrial and commercial branches.

The room hung with figure studies is stunning; that in the center of the wing, hung with portrait studies in color, is brilliant. There are splendid still lifes present and a glorious change in every direction in the emphasis on color, good drawing, and sane contents as essentials to a picture.

This year there are no violently clashing colors lined up to challenge the eye and win an apologetic "But isn't it daring?" from the lips of those trying their hardest to see good where only bad taste prevails. This year the students have gone ahead of being daring; they have dared to be reasonable.

There is naturally a certain amount of derivative work; Renoir and Matisse cannot be swiftly forgotten. But there seem to be no Picassos present and no Dalis. The Art institute students are to be congratulated on a fine achievement.

The commencement exercises took place yesterday in the Goodman theater. Chauncey McCormick, vice president of the institute, presided. The address was given by the noted painter, Peppino Mangravite, who summed up the whole question of art in his first statement that art is a service to the people. He welcomed the graduating students to equal fellowship with the mature artists who are now carrying many of the world's troubles and burdens on their shoulders: "You, too, can help!"

One hundred two students received degrees or certificates; 32 the bachelor of fine arts degree; 16 the bachelor of art education; 4 the degree of bachelor of fine arts in the department of drama; 13 the certificates in the department of drama, and 30 the diplomas in the school.

The Fate of the Darmenys

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Knowing she has but a few months to live, Madge Darmeny gathers her family about her to select an heir, unbeknowing to them. She tells them that she has to retrench financially and cannot give them such large allowances any longer and suggests that to save they all move into her house, which is too large for her and Amelia Pennyfeather, a distant and dependent relative who has lived with Madge for some time. Madge has no children of her own and her nearest kin is her own niece, Leda, who is married to her husband's nephew, Frank, who has an 8 year old daughter, Betsy, by his first wife. Madge has Shirley Westall, a charming young girl who is her neighbor, come over and act as governess for Betsy. Geoffry, another nephew of her husband, is really her favorite. Geoffry wins his aunt thru his charming manners and his continuous playing up to her, and she overlooks his escapades, but she becomes suspicious of him when Alfred Barnes, her solicitor, tells her Geoffry has written a bad check for an expensive bracelet, and Leda shows up wearing a diamond bracelet, claiming a girl friend gave it to her. Frank is an old friend of Shirley's father, and one day while visiting Mr. Westall, he sees Shirley and realizes she reminds him of his first wife and that he loves her. On the way home Betsy tells her father that her stepmother and Geoffry are in love and that it was Geoffry who gave Leda the diamond bracelet. Frank trails Leda to a friend's house, where he finds her and Geoffry in the midst of a drunken party. Frank orders Leda to come with him, and she refuses, and Geoffry tries to start a fight but is too drunk to do any harm. Frank takes Leda home and puts her to bed. Madge wants to know what happened.

INSTALMENT XII.

GOOD ADVICE.

"I expect it's Geoffry's car. Well, I might as well get along to bed," Frank said uneasily.

Madge Darmeny smiled and shook her head.

"O, no—O, no, you don't," she said with a trace of the old firmness in her voice.

It was a flashback to his childhood, when Aunt Madge so often had had him and Geoffry on the carpet, and invariably it was Geoffry—older and infinitely more subtle—who had come thru the subsequent inquisition with his character intact.

Frank looked as uneasy and guilty and almost as young as when 20 years ago, as a snub-nosed, freckle-faced lad, he had met defeat at the combined hands of Geoffry and Aunt Madge.

"Tell Geoffry when he comes in that I want to see him," Madge said.

Frank groaned audibly.

"I thought so," she added. "But nobody's going to fool me all of the time."

He went into the big hall to wait for Geoffry. To pass the time, he lighted a cigaret, and as he raised his head and shook out the match he caught a glimpse of a peaked red nose topped by a row of steel curling pins just visible around the bend of the stairway.

"Come on down, Amelia," he called out. "The fun's just going to begin."

The apparition vanished.

Geoffry came thru the swing baize doorway at the back, walking a little unsteadily. At the sight of Frank his face glowered.

"What the hell are you dodging around for?" he demanded. "Get out of my way before I——"

"Ssh!" said Frank, motioning toward the study. "She wants to see you—to see us both."

Geoffry's hair was wind-ruffled, his eyes bloodshot, and one of them was circled with dark red that tomorrow morning, unless he did something about it quickly, would be a beautiful black and blue.

"I don't want to see anybody at this hour of the night," Geoffry growled. "And you least of all. I wish to God I never had to set eyes on you again."

"We'll settle our final score later," Frank said. "You don't want me to take you by the scruff of your neck, do you, and hale you before the seat of justice?"

"Try it—that's all," said Geoffry.

Nevertheless, he did not put Frank's threat to the test.

Madge Darmeny made them both stand in front of her. To her the passing of the years meant nothing; they were merely a couple of unruly boys who had been up to something, and it was her job to probe the matter to its depths.

"What happened to you, Geoffry? Where and how did you get that black eye?"

Geoffry put up his hand, winced, and withdrew it quickly.

"How do I know? Didn't know I had one," he replied.

"You look as tho you had been in a brawl. You—you're tipsy, too."

"Im nothing of the sort!" Geoffry said hotly. "Whatever this—this sneak has told you. He's a liar and always was."

"Easy," said Frank, a dangerous edge in his voice. "You don't want another black eye, do you?"

"So you gave it to him!" Madge exclaimed. "I suspected as much. And there was a brawl."

She leaned back, tapping the arm of her chair, a meditative expression in her fine gray eyes.

"Geoffry, I'm not a bit pleased with you, really," she said.

This observation came as a great surprise to Frank Darmeny. It was entirely without precedent, and he could hardly believe his ears.

"But you have many endearing qualities——"

"Ah," Frank thought, "I might have known there would be a letout for him!"

"I'm going to put it plainly to you. In so many words. I want you to marry and settle down. There's been too much philandering—I won't mention any names, but perhaps you know more tbout that than I do. I know you're heavily in debt, tho. Alfred Barnes has kept me informed. It was his business to do so. It would please me very much, Geoffry, if you married Shirley Westall. I think she likes you. I've noticed little things. Shirley is a girl who would be a fine, steadying influence on any man, but especially on you, Geoffry."

Frank went white to the lips; a vein was pounding in his temple, and his hands were tight-clenched.

Madge leaned forward, eagerly, an ill, anxious old woman, her whole attention focussed on the wounded gladiator, hitherto the apple of her eye, the prodigal who, altho practically caught in the act, could do no wrong.

And altho Geoffry Darmeny was half tight, he played up to her.

He hung his head and shuffled his feet a little.

"Nothing would suit me better," he said. "I've fallen deeply in love with Shirley. Only—there are disturbing influences."

"Nonsense!" Madge interrupted harshly.

She was afraid he was going to mention Leda, and that would never do in front of Frank.

"If you mean your debts," Madge added hastily, "I'll tell Alfred Barnes to settle them. We'll just make a clean sweep of your debts, at whatever cost. We can retrench a little more, if necessary. I'll find a way."

"Dash it all, you're too good to me," Geoffry murmured.

Frank turned away. "I'll ask you to excuse me, if you don't mind," he said. "This doesn't seem to concern me."

Geoffry was infinitely relieved when the door closed behind his cousin. It gave him a much freer hand.

He flopped onto his knees beside his beloved Aunt Madge, laid his head in her lap, and if he wasn't exactly blubbering he was next door to it.

He would have been surprised, even alarmed, could he have seen the faint distaste in her eyes.

Madge Darmeny did not like scenes, even when there were no witnesses. Moreover, for the first time in her life, she was experiencing distrust of Geoffry. Her words to him had been fair enough, and she meant all she had said, but there were reservations he did not dream of behind her soft-spokenness.

In the old days it had been a little different. But now, with doom hanging over her, all her senses seemed sharpened, and a new sense added that gave her seeming power to pierce the armor of those who strove to hide their inmost motives from her.

Freed of Frank's galling presence, Geoffry gave her his version of what had happened at Marta Shott's. How Frank had forced himself in and struck him, Geoffry, when he had ventured mildly to protest at his violent intrusion.

Indeed, said Geoffry, Frank's manner had been such that Leda was afraid to comply with his demand that she should leave the party, and the other women present were terrified.

At mention of Leda, Madge's strained gaze grew a little hard.

"I want to speak to you about Leda," she said. "Probably it doesn't mean a thing, but you must stop paying her these foolish attentions. That expensive bracelet, for instance. I happen to know that you gave it to her. I can see she's rather taken with you, and I don't altogether blame her—but she's Frank's wife, in case both of you have overlooked that fact. What I haven't seen for myself, Amelia has told me."

Geoffry got uncertainly to his feet. He was blazing with temper. Damn Leda and Amelia Pennyfeather, too.

"Even the servants have noticed. They said things in front of Betsy," Madge went on. "And now I've spoken my mind and you may go, Geoffry."

When he had gone, she sat for a long while, her chin on her hand, thinking deeply.

A little twinge of pain caught her and she pressed a hand to her left side.

Tomorrow she would go up to see that heart specialist again.

But nobody must know. On the whole it was rather fun to outwit Amelia about those visits to London. It was almost killing Amelia to be kept in the dark.

Camp Algonquin Has $58.64 on Hand to Start Season

Ruth A. Stran yesterday sent a check for $9.34 to the Camp Algonquin fund maintained by readers of THE TRIBUNE. Thru her generosity one needy boy or girl will have a 10 day vacation this summer at beautiful Camp Algonquin on the Fox river.

Her contribution brings to $58.64 the total with which the fund starts its 31st summer. Thru it more than 1,250 persons, children and mothers with babies, were given 10 day outings last summer at the 43 acre camp operated by the United Charities and supported by Tribune readers.

All donations should be sent to Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower. Each gift will be acknowledged in these columns.

Mary Ayer Boyden Arrives Today; to Wed June 15.

Miss Mary Ayer Boyden arrives today from New York, where she has been attending the Katherine Gibbs school, and immediately will plunge into preparations for her marriage next Saturday to Everett Lee Jones. The wedding is to be a garden affair at the Lake Forest home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase. The service will be read at 5 o'clock by the Rev. H. Lee Jones of Lawrence, Kas., father of the bridegroom.

Mr. Jones, who is at Lehigh university in Bethlehem, Pa., on a teaching fellowship, and his bride will reside in Bethlehem for at least a year while he completes work for his master's degree in English literature. Miss Boyden, eldest of the Preston Boydens' three children, was educated at the North Shore Country Day school, the Englewood school in Greenwich, Conn., and Antioch college in Ohio. It was at Antioch college that she and Mr. Jones met.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Emily Ingersoll Case and Robert Gregory Keeffe of Cleveland, O., which will take place on July 4 in Perry, O. Miss Case, who lived in Cleveland for several years, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Warren Case of Winnetka and Chicago. Mr. Keeffe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bardol.

Saddle and Cycle Has First Summer Dance Tonight.

White or pastel evening gowns are in order for the Saddle and Cycle club's first summer dinner-dance tonight, and a large crowd is expected. Among those who have reserved tables for the party are the Louis C. Sudlers and John W. Roots, the Marshall Sampsells, Lawrence Hastings, the Thomas R. Gowenlocks, Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Van Alyea, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield T. Ellis and the Joseph T. Ryersons.

For the third consecutive year the Louis E. Leverones are giving the use of their farm on the Des Plaines river, west of Highland Park, for a picnic for the benefit of Northwestern University settlement. The party will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening. Mrs. Francis Knight, Mrs. William H. Barnes, Mrs. Donald P. Welles, Mrs. D. Robert Pearson, and Mrs. Frank S. Cunningham are among those planning the affair.

Mrs. William Jewett Davis of Jackson, O., and Charles Davis of Lima, O., have arrived for the wedding next Monday of their son and brother, Lewis C. Davis, and Miss Ann Elizabeth Hall. Charles Davis' wife and their two daughters, Joan and Jean, also are here. Burton Foley, uncle of Miss Hall, is giving the bridal dinner tonight. Miss Jane Zimmerman, who is to be the maid of honor, is entertaining the bridal party today at the summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earle J. Zimmerman, in Lake Geneva.

Must Be White, Whatever It Is in Accessories

BY REA SEEGER.

Popcorn white costume accessories are rating the best fashion excitement these days. Shoppers with summer sheers in dark colors, with costumes of gingham, swiss or chambray, also in dark shades, are sleuthing about gathering white coolers for good contrast.

White gloves, the kind that stand up under the summer chore of sudsings, are much smarter for cottons and street costumes if they're short and snappy. New affairs end just at the wrist and fasten on top with a huge flat pearl button larger than a quarter.

White pique hats have a new way of going up . . . a high small crown accents a shallow down curved brim and bows of grosgrain ribbon in either white or contrast color add the desired inches. White bag collections look like piles of snow. You may take your pick from cotton fabrics with a coarse homespun weave, ribbed shantungs, crocheted white string, white straw cloth, sailcloth and the tricky leather coverings that stay clean with a flip of a damp cloth. Smart bags have dark linings the better to look spotless, even tho used daily for lipstick, vanities and the general extras.

White jackets to wear with dark skirts, boleros, mess jackets, little boy coats, and tailored fitted models with plenty of pockets and glittering brass buttons, white blouses that look like jackets, white costume jewelry, belts, and white rim spectacle or sun glasses, parasols of white, and shawls of white all line up for a busy summer ahead. The latest arrival is the white terry cloth shoulder shawl with cotton fringe for beach lounging.

Daughters of Sweden to Award Scholarship

The American Daughters of Sweden will award a one year scholarship at the University of Chicago to Miss Elaine Ruth Anderson at their annual scholarship luncheon today at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Miss Anderson, who was graduated from Von Steuben High school with honors in February, was chosen as a candidate for the award by vote of her classmates and her teachers. She also was given the school's outstanding science award by her teachers. Mrs. Hedwig Melinder heads the Daughters, who award this scholarship each year.

For Your Sports Wardrobe

WOMAN'S AND MISS' SPORTS APPAREL.

These really are seasonal patterns. At this time of year, with the beaches soon to open and with tennis and swimming paramount on the summer sports program, you'll want as many costumes as possible. Today's patterns offer a shorts-and-shirt outfit and a bathing suit with a coat.

The shorts are the new longer length, with cuffs, and are teamed with a softly tailored shirtmaker blouse, the sleeves of which may be long or short. Wrap a gay hanky or turban around your curls when you wear this costume.

The bathing suit makes up well in striped materials. The waistline is "corseted," the top is the bra type, and the skirt is full. There are matching or contrasting panties to be worn beneath. The coat is a full, hip length style, with large pockets and no collar.

Style No. 3261 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 1¾ yards of 39 inch material for shorts; 2½ yards for long sleeved blouse.

Style No. 3276 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2½ yards of 39 inch material for bathing suit; 2¼ yards for coat.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Memory Lapse Inattention, Not Old Age!

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

How often one hears people say: "My goodness, but I am getting old. I can't remember names any more." Or, they can't remember places, events, and so on.

This confessed memory lapse, along with the equally common apology for having "to get my specs out," are the most frequently expressed admissions one is not the girl she used to be. Isn't it right?

It's pretty maddening to flounder around trying to dig a name out from some deep memory archive when that person stands before you waiting to be introduced to your companion. You know it as well as you know your own, you alibi. But there's a slight depression left behind from the experience, isn't there?

It may cheer the guilty, therefore, to know that this poor memory business in people "getting on" has been studied scientifically and the fault is set down, not to old age, but to inattention. "It seems to be a shift," the study report confides, "of attention to other interests, away from the immediate environment." Think back to that last embarrassing moment when you couldn't, for the life of you, remember Maud's, Grace's, or Kathryn's name. Your mind and eye were full of such a number of things that the name temporarily was lost in the shuffle.

The remedy, therefore, is attention.

By Evelyn Holmes

June 8, 1940.

Universal Day—Don't "miss the bus" today. It is the day for acting promptly on a new idea.

Year Ahead—The above advice applies to you all this year if this is your birthday, or if you are experiencing a one year. If you don't get started out on the right foot this year, you may stumble along for the next few years in an effort to catch up with the bus! At least by September you should have definitely begun a project that will stretch into the years ahead.

Names—F and O in a name, especially at the beginning as in Florence, indicate responsibility, and such persons so named usually have heavy family obligations to fulfill, or go into humanitarian work. X carries the same significance but is seldom found in names. Double F or O in a name indicate unusually strong emphasis on this "mother" or "father" quality.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Broiling is one of the most satisfactory ways of cooking meats because it leaves them well browned, properly cooked, and un-greasy, and saves all of the juices. But there are some meats which can't be satisfactorily cooked by broiling.

Pork and veal are chief among these. Pork chops and steaks are tender cuts of meat, and one might naturally think that broiling would be a good cookery method to employ, but pork requires thoro cooking which can best be done by braising. Braising brings out more aroma, better flavor, and a more tender product than broiling could possibly produce in pork. That's why cooking experts tell us never to broil pork.

Veal isn't suitable for broiling because it lacks fat and contains a large proportion of connective tissue which requires long, slow cooking in moist heat to produce tenderness.

These are the cuts of beef to cook by broiling: Sirloin, porterhouse, T-bone, club and rib steaks, tenderloin, chuck steaks of good quality, and ground beef cakes.

Almost any steak or chop cut from lamb may be broiled. Best for cooking this way are shoulder, rib, and loin chops, English lamb chops, steaks cut from the leg of lamb, and patties made of ground lamb and wrapped with bacon strips.

Cured pork may be prepared in the broiling oven. Ham slices, bacon, and sausage links broil very nicely, altho fresh pork cuts do not.

Meat will dry out too much if it is cut thin for broiling. Steak should be an inch to two inches thick. Lamb chops should be at least an inch thick, too. Ham can be thinner. From ½ to 1 inch is recommended. Since we want bacon crisp and dry, it may be sliver-thin for broiling, and will turn out beautifully if the broiling oven isn't too hot.

A two pound, inch-thick porterhouse will take 10 minutes to the side for rare meat, 12½ minutes to the side or slightly longer, perhaps, for well done beef. A half-inch thick slice of ham will take about 15 minutes to the side, since we always want it well done. Lamb chops an inch thick take six minutes to the side.

$15,000 Literary Prize to Be Awarded at Lake Forest U.

A $15,000 literary prize, believed to be one of the highest such awards ever offered, will be presented at the Lake Forest university commencement this morning for "the best book on the connection and relation of the humanities and practical sciences with the Christian religion." The winning book, chosen from 212 volumes submitted, will be announced by Dr. Herbert McComb Moore, president of the university. The award is from a trust created by William Bross, pioneer Chicagoan and one of the early owners of THE TRIBUNE. He also served as president of Lake Forest college. The trust was established 50 years ago and this is the first time the prize has been given.

Cross-Stitch Motifs

BY NANCY CABOT.

Cross-stitch needleworkers will find the designs for today have "everything," both in the line of cross-stitch embroidery and in attractiveness of the motif. This hot iron transfer pattern contains all the motifs shown, which are simple to work, and make excellent decorations for children's dresses, aprons, and bibs, crib covers, bedroom curtains, towels, and miscellaneous other articles.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of cross-stitch motifs, No. X-617, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Every so often it is my pride and pleasure to publish a real gem among bridge hands. The one described below might fittingly be called a ten-carat, blue-white diamond. The sparkle comes from the defense that was waged by the East player Ivar Andersson of Sweden. Apparently the alarums and excursions of war have not reduced the caliber of bridge played in that unhappy part of the world.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ 10 8 5
♥ 10
♦ A K Q J 10 6

WEST
♠ 7 4 3
♥ 9 6 5 2
♦ 9 7 5

EAST
♠ K Q 9 6
♥ K Q 8 4 3
♦ None
♣ A Q 9 8

SOUTH
♠ A J 2
♥ A J 7
♦ 8 4 3 2
♣ 7 5 3

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 3 diamonds | Double | 3 no trump | Pass |
| Pass | Double | Redouble | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

West, with an almost worthless hand, made the sound and shrewd opening lead of the club jack. Dummy ducked and the club ten was continued. The king was put up and East collected the ace and queen. At this point I think I can safely say that not more than ten bridge players in the world, in East's position, would fail to cash the thirteenth club. And this is just another way of saying that not more than ten players would defeat the contract if their opponent, the declarer, were an excellent card player, because the cashing of the thirteenth club would make the contract as cold as ice via a squeeze play. First, let us follow the course of Mr. Andersson's actual play, in which he refused to cash his good club and shifted to the heart king. Obviously, declarer had to take this trick or concede defeat, since then East would have been delighted to lay down his club trick. After winning with the heart ace, declarer could do no better than run the diamond suit. This was the position with one diamond left to play:

♥ None

WEST
♦ None
♣ None

EAST
♥ Q
♦ None

SOUTH
♥ J 7
♦ None
♣ None

Now, when North played the last diamond, East nonchalantly discarded his good nine of clubs! Declarer could not establish the ninth trick. On the first spade lead East's spade trick was established and, of course, declarer had to surrender the last two tricks to the spade king and the heart queen.

To see what would have happened if East had cashed his good club at the fourth trick, then had made the best return of a heart, take one card out of each hand in the four card diagram above. This would leave North with the 10-8 of spades and a diamond, East with the K-Q of spades and the queen of hearts, South with the A-J of spades and the jack of hearts. Notice that when North's diamond is played, East is squeezed to a pulp. If he discards a spade, South throws off the heart and makes two spade tricks. If East lets go the heart queen, South abandons the spade jack and makes his fulfilling tricks with the spade ace and heart jack.

I call Mr. Andersson's defense rather neat!

Frances Matz Becomes Bride This Afternoon

Miss Frances Matz will wear the wedding gown of her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Schramm of Laconia, N. H., when she becomes Mrs. Victor Paul Kayser this afternoon in Hinsdale. Mr. Kayser is the son of Mrs. Theodora Kayser of Chelsea, Mich.

The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in Grace Episcopal church, with the Rev. Richard J. Lee officiating. A small reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Matz.

The bride's sister, Miss Betty Matz, will be maid of honor. Another sister, Miss Louise, will be a bridesmaid, with Miss Florence Yochum and Miss Patricia Dean. Little Carol Matz, a cousin, will be flower girl.

Branard Nies is to be best man. Ushering will be Dewey Fagerburg, Henry Clo, Henry Merry, and Ernest Keyes.

Miss Lucille Wright, who will be married to Norman McClave Jr. this afternoon in Highland Park, will wear an old rose point lace veil that has been lent to her by Mrs. Sumner Koch, whose namesake she is. The marriage will take place at 4:30 o'clock in Trinity Episcopal church, the Rev. Christoph Keller officiating. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terry Wright, in Bannockburn.

The bridegroom's parents have come from their home in Grand Rapids, Mich., for the ceremony. Also here from out of town are the Milton Millers of Grand Rapids, the Alexander Pattersons of Paoli, Pa., and the William Forresters and William McClave of New York. The latter will be his brother's best man.

Miss Betty Wright will be her sister's only attendant. Mr. Forrester and James McClave of Grand Rapids, will usher. After a two weeks' wedding trip to Charlottesville, Va., Mr. McClave and his bride will be at home in Evanston.

The marriage of Miss Harriet Marion Doll, daughter of Dr. Frank R. Doll of Whiting, Ind., and of Mrs. Eugenie Cobert of Berkeley, Cal., to John R. Van de Water, son of Mrs. Charles F. Van de Water of Long Beach, Cal., will take place at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Bond chapel at the University of Chicago. The bridegroom's mother will be present at the ceremony, as she is National Republican committeewoman from California and is on her way to the Republican convention in Philadelphia. Mr. Van de Water will receive a law degree at the University of Chicago in June, 1941. He and his bride, who was graduated at the university in 1937, will spend the summer in California.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

Here are "10 commandments of beauty" offered by one of the great beauty specialists. You might consider them as a stiff reminder of what you can do to make yourself over if you're dissatisfied:

1. Restore yourself to normal weight. If overweight, reduce. If underweight, build yourself up by eating the right quantity of food with plenty of fruit and vegetable juices.

2. Learn to walk easily and gracefully; to sit down naturally; to stand as if relaxed; to take postures that have charm and ease of manner.

3. Relax completely while resting or sleeping so that your mind as well as your body is in repose.

4. Find out the most effective and most becoming ways of fixing your face and your hair and do both thoroly each time you dress or make up. The rest of the time have the courage to let your face and hair alone.

5. Spend 10 minutes daily on simple skin care and you will always have a lovely youthful skin. Don't go to bed at night with your makeup on. The two essentials in skin beauty are cleansing and lubrication.

6. Give your body a straight spine; a raised bust; a flat abdomen; squared shoulders; a proud neckline and a slender proportion—all obtainable with exercises which stretch and mold the figure into better contours.

7. Make a fetish of femininity; of cleanliness and daintiness, because that is one of women's most important functions in life since time immemorial.

8. Cultivate a soft, pleasing voice and beautiful gestures. Many a beautiful woman becomes ugly the moment she speaks.

9 Be polite and courteous whether at home or at work. Nothing carves wrinkles and droopy lines in the face faster than sulky, cross expressions.

10. Radiate sex appeal. Age 6 to 60, and all between ages, women either have a magnetic charm that draws people—specially men—toward them, or they haven't. If not, it can be acquired with an understanding of beauty.

Ideas for the Autographs in Album Season

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It surely does take all sorts of people to make up a world. Only once in a great while do I receive indignant or unpleasant letters. Those usually are either from some one who is very tender on one special subject, or who has misunderstood what I've said, altho naturally I realize that often I must make statements or voice opinions with which my readers disagree.

But I must say I was surprised to receive one day late last spring a scathing letter from a woman, after the harmless column appeared which contained poetry and prose selections to be written in autograph albums. Did I think my readers were so stupid that they couldn't think up things themselves to write in an autograph album? she asked.

To tell the truth, I didn't feel much like a worm after receiving that letter. I've seen some pretty intelligent people wrack their brains to think of something to write besides, "Roses are red," or "Be good, sweet maid and let who will be clever," or, "Early to bed and early to rise." And only a few days ago we had a request for our autograph collection from Princeton university, not to mention the people of all ages who write in thanking us for the work of getting these together.

The selections printed last spring still are available in leaflet form. But I was interested in adding to the collection. So I spent two hours going thru a comprehensive anthology I have, looking for wise or beautiful, or gay or funny bits of prose or poetry that would be suitable for autograph albums of either boys or girls. Here is the fruit of my search:

Truly one thing is sweet,
Of things beneath the sun;
This, that a man should earn his bread and eat
Rejoicing in his work which he hath done.
—Josephine Preston Peabody.

The days that make us happy make us wise.
—John Masefield.

May your joys be as deep as the ocean,
Your sorrows as light as its foam,
May the blessings of God be about you
Everywhere you may roam.

Do what thy manhood bids thee do,
from none but self expect applause;
He noblest lives and noblest dies who makes and keeps his self-made laws.
—Sir William Howard Russell.

Youth's for an hour,
Beauty's a flower,
But love is the jewel that wins the world.
—Moira O'Neill.

Give me but a tearing,
A scrap of Beauty's cloth,
Warm from her wearing;
A song, a shell, a moth,
Still faintly fragrant;
Her glove, her torn veil,
And I will find
Vagrant Beauty's trail.
—Isabel Fisk Conant.

These will be added to our original "Autograph Album" leaflet. Send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 7.—Marquette university's track team, heralded as the best balanced in the university's history, successfully defended its central collegiate championship tonight in its own stadium. The hosts took only one undisputed individual title, shared another in a three way tie, and captured one relay championship, but scored in 11 of the 16 events.

Marquette piled up 41 1-5 points with Indiana in second place, with 28 3-5 points. Wisconsin was third with 27 1-10 points, and Notre Dame fourth with 24 1-10 points.

The victory was Marquette's fourth in the outdoor meets since the games were established 15 years ago and the team retains the Knute Rockne memorial trophy which was first awarded in 1931, shortly after the death of the former Notre Dame football coach.

Harris Wins Trophy.

The John P. Nicholson memorial trophy, offered this year by the Notre Dame council of the Knights of Columbus in honor of the late track coach at Notre Dame, was awarded tonight to Archie Harris of Indiana. The husky weight man, who won two titles and established the only meet record, easily was the individual star. He also demonstrated his versatility when he ran the first lap of the half mile relay and passed the baton in fourth position, which was Indiana's final spot in the relay.

For the third successive year rain hampered the athletes. As the runners in the mile, the opening event, went to their marks, the overcast skies loosed a light drizzle which, by the final lap of the event, had increased to a driving rain. This ceased a bit later and the crowd of 3,000 returned to their seats only to be caught in the deluge that fell with four events remaining.

Because of the rain the results in four events—shot put, discus, javelin, and broad jump—were carried over from the afternoon trials. These had qualified six men in each. There could have been no change in the results had these men competed.

Three Tie in Pole Vault.

The pole vault and high jump were run off after a fashion with three men, Earl Stolberg and Don Bertsch of Marquette, and Bill Williams of Wisconsin, the Western conference champion, sharing the vault title at 12 feet 9 inches. Six men shared fourth place.

Harris set his record in the discus preliminaries tossing the platter 163 feet 8¾ inches to displace the mark of 162 feet 9½ inches which Bill Faymonville of Notre Dame made last year. Harris took the shotput with an average put of 49 feet 1¾ inches.

William Southworth of Butler won the mile by taking the lead after Curtis Hester of Notre Dame had paced the first lap in 59 seconds. Southworth's time was 4:16.4. Ed Hedges of Indiana sprinted around the final turn to take second place five yards behind Southworth.

Lenover Is Sixth.

Max Lenover of Loyola, who had set an indoor central collegiate record this winter, finished sixth and never was better than fifth in the field of 16.

Indiana's Roy Cochran, still handicapped by his leg injury received in the 100 yard sprint in the Western conference, did not attempt the quarter mile in the afternoon trials and then dropped out on the half mile preliminaries.

Summaries:

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

AD SCHACHT, White Sox trainer, is a man of a million reminiscences, few of them about baseball. . . . Perhaps his favorite is the one about how Frank Gotch chilled Seattle's confidence in the integrity of wrestling by doing a bit of leveling 30 years ago. . . . Relates Dr. Schacht: "Dr. Roller was the idol of the Pacific northwest and I was the proudest youth in Washington, because I served in Roller's corner in many of his cleanup matches. . . . I believed at the time that all matches were on the level and was convinced, with thousands of others, that Roller could throw Gotch. . . . Finally Gotch came west to meet Roller and I was in the latter's corner. . . . The bout went exactly 30 minutes, then Gotch picked up Roller, held him at arm's length above his head and asked the Roller fans at the ringside, "Where do you want me to put him?" . . . Somebody indicated the spot desired, and that's where Gotch dumped him. . . . Folks in Seattle never since have gone to a wrestling match with the same enthusiasm." . . . Ray Morrison has an all-southern coaching staff at Temple university and some of the players on the squad have a tough time understanding what the mentors are talking about. . . . Don Hutson, the Green Bay Packers' star forward pass catcher, never has missed an attempt for extra point in four years of high school, three years of college, and five years of professional football. . . . Nile Kinnick, Iowa's All-America half back, will be named to the Hawkeyes' freshman football staff next fall, this department is informed. . . . Kinnick already has indicated he will enter law school at Iowa City in September. . . . It seems that a sore arm at first has nothing to do with jaw muscles. . . . Lefty Gomez is ailin' in the arm, but his loquaciousness has increased many fold, which makes him very loquacious, indeed. . . . Of course, if the arm is dead too long the trouble spreads to the vocal cords, but why pick on Dizzy Dean for proof? . . .

The New Orleans Pelicans claim the smallest keystone combination in baseball. . . . Pat Ankenmann, second baseman, stands 5 feet 4 inches, and Shortstop Frank Scalzi is 5 feet 6 inches. . . . Joe Kurth, an outstanding tackle on Notre Dame's 1932 eleven, is a radio announcer at Escanaba, Mich. . . . It is interesting to observe that some of the sports writers who were most ruthless in deriding Ernie Lombardi last winter now are trying to clamber to a seat beside him in the Cincinnati bandwagon. . . . Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential candidate, was one of the early supporters of state high school basketball tournaments in Indiana. . . . He was president of the Boosters' club at Indiana university, sponsor of the tournament in 1913 when the meet was opened for the first time to all high schools which were members of the state high school athletic association. . . . Charley Root, who has been a Cub since 1926, hopes before the season ends he can score his 200th major league victory. . . . He must win seven games to attain his objective. . . . Jimmy Wilson Jr., son of the Reds' coach, will enter Princeton next fall on a scholarship. . . . Jimmy, like his dad, is a catcher. . . . He has three years on his Philadelphia high school varsity to his credit. . . . Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears, former Columbia university star, frequently lectures on Shakespeare at colleges and high schools in the east.

CUBS BEAT BEES, 5-3, FOR FOURTH VICTORY IN ROW

Home Run by Nicholson Provides Margin.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs' current ensemble made up of a sprinkling of Boy Scouts and a few old standbys carried on successfully again yesterday, giving Boss Gabby Hartnett another 24 hours of leisure. The Boy Scouts and their seasoned helpers, despite the unusual persistency of Boston's Bees, who either were ahead or in a tie most of the time, marched to their fourth straight in the series opener, much to the delight of Claude Passeau, for whom victories have been exceedingly scarce. The score was 5 to 3.

Passeau, who is gradually becoming hardened to the punishment caused by the failure of his mates to supply more than a few runs per diem, had reason, at least for five innings, to suspect it was going to be the same old story. At that stage his job showed a 1 to 0 deficit and his mates had nothing more than a few worthless hits to show for their swinging against Richard Errickson. But after the fifth they moved their bats as well as their legs in effective fashion, finally plastering the trimming on Dick Coffman in the eighth.

Nicholson Hits Another.

The chief item contributed by those present only because Hartnett has thrown all his old formulas overboard had a Billy Nicholson label. He blew his seventh homer into the seats with a mate aboard in the sixth and the smack was badly needed at the time. It changed the Cubs from 1 to 0 trailers to 2 to 1 leaders. However, the Bees continued to peck at Passeau, notably a 425 foot homer by Chet Ross in the eighth, so the Nicholson homer was forgotten in the rush of business transacted by other Cubs in the seventh and eighth.

The Cubs had quite a session with their left on base problem in the first inning. Hack led off with a two bagger to left and Cavarretta walked. A short fly off Gleeson's bat fell in left for a single, filling the bases. Nicholson wasn't ready to act when a third strike drifted past. Herman popped to Cuccinello and Dallessandro flied to Cooney.

The Bees didn't score until the fifth, when Lopez led off with a single, and after two were gone Cooney and Warstler singled to score him.

Mattick Generous to Bees.

With two out and Cavarretta on first in the sixth Nicholson drove his seventh homer into the right field runway, putting the Cubs ahead by 2 to 1.

As a preliminary to Mattick's mistakes on which the Bees tied the count in the seventh, Miller singled to center. Errickson tapped to Passeau and Mattick in his haste to complete a double play, left second be-

Cards' New Pilot

BILLY SOUTHWORTH.

Cardinals Fire Blades; Call Up Southworth

St. Louis, Mo., June 7 (AP). — Ray Blades, hailed as one of the greatest tacticians of baseball last year, was fired outright today as manager of the faltering St. Louis Cardinals. He was replaced by Billy Southworth, successful manager of the Rochester club of the International league.

The sudden shakeup aimed at getting the Redbirds back into the National league race was not altogether unexpected. Picked by the experts as almost a cinch pennant winner this season, the club has been a dismal failure and was only one game out of the cellar before today's game with the Giants. The 3 to 2 victory over the Giants moved the team from sixth to fifth place.

In making the announcement, President Sam Breadon said Southworth would take charge of the team Monday. Meantime, Mike Gonzales, veteran Cardinal coach, will act as manager.

Crabtree Succeeds Southworth.

Estel Crabtree, veteran member of the Rochestar team which is leading the league by 4½ games, was named to succeed Southworth.

Both Southworth and Blades are graduates of the Cardinals' vast chain store system. It will be Billy's second fling at piloting the Cards. He had his first chance in 1929 but was dropped back to Rochester in the middle of the season "to get some more managerial experience" and has been going strong ever since.

He won the pennant three years straight—1929, 1930, and 1931—at Rochester; lifted Columbus from fifth to second place in 1932; scouted for the Cards in 1933-'34; came back the next year to win the pennant at Asheville, N. C.; managed Memphis from midway in the 1936 season thru 1938, and then succeeded Blades at Rochester when the latter was promoted to the Cardinals.

Outfield Star in 1926.

Southworth, 46, was a star outfielder on the world champion Cardinal team of 1926. Blades also was an outfielder on the same team, after having reached the peak of his playing career a year earlier when he batted .342.

While never very popular with the fans, Blades was highly regarded by the players themselves and was known as a "ball player's ball player." Hot criticism was directed at him last year because of his unorthodox system of handling pitchers. He believed in changing hurlers at the first sign of danger and there wasn't a single defeat in which a pitcher pitched from start to finish. Despite all criticism, Blades' system worked and the Redbirds landed in second place after giving the champion Cincinnati Reds the scare of a lifetime.

As a result Ray was praised as the "manager of the year" and the city virtually bowed at his feet.

But this season the club got off to a poor start, handicapped by injuries and failure of the pitching staff to perform up to expectations. Blades' second guessing didn't work and it had been rumored for some time that he was sitting out on a broken limb. He was under a one-year contract.

SENATORS BEAT WHITE SOX, 3-2, BEHIND LEONARD

Chicagoans' Rally in Ninth Falls Short.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—The White Sox encountered Pitcher Dutch Leonard today with the customary result. The score was Washington, 3; Chicago, 2. It was the third victory for Leonard over the Sox in three starts this season. No other Senator pitcher has beaten the Sox this year.

Despite the aforementioned facts, Leonard can not be classified as a Sox jinx, for his success today was his seventh of the year, other victories being over the Tigers twice, the Yanks once, and the Athletics once.

The Sox went down fighting hard to overcome Leonard's apparent mastery. They scored a run in the ninth and had the tying marker on second when the game ended.

Sox Tied It Up in Sixth.

The Sox waited until the sixth to tie the score at one-all. A single by Taft Wright and a triple by Luke Appling with one on effected the tie tho two gents couldn't get Luke home from third.

A triple by Cecil Travis and a single by Jimmy Bloodworth put the Senators ahead, 2 to 1, in the seventh and a rather fluky run gave the Washingtons a 3 to 1 lead and adequate insurance in the eighth.

The Sox bid in the ninth started with Appling's single to center. George Case backed to the right field sign board for Rosenthal's fly, then Appling took second on a passed ball. Eric McNair followed with an infield single, Appling reaching third. Leonard threw out Mike Tresh, Appling scoring and McNair stopping at second.

Silvestri's Fly Ends Game.

Ken Silvestri, who knocked a homer in the ninth against the Yankees Wednesday and a vital single in yesterday's ninth inning victory over the Yanks, went up to bat for Jack Knott, who had pitched all the way for the Sox. Ken lined a fly to Jimmy Welaj to end the game.

The result places the Senators within a half game of the fifth place Sox, which makes the remaining two games crucial, in a manner of speaking.

The Senators put over the first run of the game in the third inning. Rick Ferrell pushed off with a single, but was forced on Leonard's attempted sacrifice. Bob Kennedy fumbled Case's grounder, Leonard stopping at second, after which the runners advanced on Buddy Lewis' grounder to Kuhel. Kennedy made a fine stop of Welaj's smash

10 Crews Set for Regatta Tomorrow

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Schoolboy rowing in Chicago—and the middlewest—will get its biggest impetus tomorrow.

By far the most elaborate prep crew program in Chicagoland's history is the Chicago Tribune's second annual Chicago Interscholastic Regatta, scheduled tomorrow afternoon in the beautiful setting of the Lincoln park lagoon. It enlists 10 crews of high school boys, five seeking the senior championship and five the junior.

Just a few hours before the regatta, schoolboy rowing representatives from several cities will attend a meeting in the Illinois Athletic club, called by the Lincoln Park Boat club.

Midwest Groups Planned.

The plan is to organize a Central States Schoolboy Rowing association, which annually would hold a championship regatta in Chicago. Delegates are expected from Minneapolis, Detroit, St. Louis, Springfield, Ottawa, and Quincy in Illinois, Culver Military academy, St. John's Military academy, and from at least five Chicago high schools.

It is agreed the boys from Lane should retain their senior championship, unless they are victims of bad racing luck. The broiling weather of the last week has enable the crews to reach a perfect edge.

Four races each in the senior and junior divisions are scheduled for the prep crews. The two hour program has 14 other events, including three races between Sea Scout cutters. A loud speaker system, with Dave Zimmerman as announcer, will keep the crowd abreast of developments.

Northern Light Standout.

Perhaps most outstanding of the cutters is the Northern Light, sponsored by the Greater Pullman post, and which meets the Flying Dutchman, over the half mile route, same distance as the shell races. The Northern Light won all its races in the Chicago region last year.

Douglas McNeilledge, who won the single sculls title in last year's regatta, will try to repeat. He is matched with Hans Gruder in the first heat. The others, Harry Carlson, Leonard Ratkowski, and Dick Anderson, meet in the second heat.

HALSTEAD AND MISS WOLF GAIN CITY NET FINALS

Catherine Wolf, slim athletic director from Elkhart, Ind., who is the western women's singles champion as well as the Chicago city champion, reached the final round of the annual city tournament at the Oak Park Tennis club yesterday by defeating Mitzi Radek, Hamilton Park Tennis club, 6-3, 6-2.

In the men's division, Thane Halstead, veteran of many tournaments, and a former city champion, arrived at the final round by winning from Charles Shostrom, University of Chicago, 5-7, 7-5, 10-8, in a match that lasted three hours.

Aid for Red Cross

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CLEVELAND, O., June 7.—Tom Walsh, P. G. A. president, today completed arrangements for a series of exhibition matches for the Red Cross, to be conducted under the auspices of the Professional Golfers' Association of America. Bobby Jones has assured the P. G. A. president that he will play in three or four of these exhibitions, which will be arranged under P. G. A. supervision. The exhibitions will be played in all sections of the country.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, Ohio, June 7.—The putter and the green are still the final answer to golf scoring, as proved today in the second round of the 44th National Open golf tournament at the Canterbury club. And you might add an adolescent's shoulder blades as a factor as you consider that three of the world's ablest swingers reached the 36th hole of the big show with identical scores of 141, three under par.

The juvenile shoulder blades are involved in the ninth hole of the second round, as played by Sam Snead of Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., who added a 74 to his record breaking mark of 67 yesterday for 141. A 14 year old lad happened to catch Sammy's third shot to the 553 yard ninth smack in the back, preventing a likely 7 or 8. More important, however, was the little putt Sam'l missed at the 230 yard 17th for a 5.

Co-Leaders Miss Putts, Too.

The two deadlocked with him going into tomorrow's final 36 holes of the game's main event are Lawson Little of Bretton Woods, N. H., and Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill. Like Snead, the bright boy of the fairways who never has passed the final examinations, they also whiffed on the putts that would have left either of them the individual leader.

The third gent in the front running threesome is Master Horton Smith, a fellow who used to be the workman at our Oak Park Country club and still registers from there. Horton, after his magnificent collection of 11 one-putt greens in yesterday's first round, came to the 17th tee with a chance for a 140 and a one stroke advantage. He discovered, even as Snead, that this section of Canterbury is no cinch, missing a foot and a half try for a par.

Little might well have been off there by himself this evening, only for the 18 inch putt he missed at the 200 yard seventh. Lawson joined with Smith in climaxing one of the best days of a Chicago district character the open ever has witnessed.

Walsh Stroke Behind.

First of all, Smith's allegiance to our vicinity has been evidenced by his everready registration from Oak Park. Little led the qualifiers for the Chicago district qualifying round and the country with a 134 at Olympia Fields. Tied with them was Snead, winner of the last Chicago open held, and only one stroke away was Frank Walsh, now of Rumson, N. J., but still the leading native born Chicago tournament professional. Frank dashed off a 69 to match a similar card by Little, the lowest scores of the day.

Tied at 143 were another Samuel, Sam Parks Jr., the Pittsburgh champion of 1935, who added a 74 to his

GALLAHADION, BIMELECH RUN IN $25,000 RACE

Derby Rivals Meet Today at Belmont.

New York, June 7 (AP).—The battle for the 3 year old championship comes to Belmont Park's mile and a half course tomorrow with E. R. Bradley's Bimelech and Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Gallahadion heading a field of seven in the 72d running of the $25,000 added Belmont stakes.

Bimelech figures to be the favorite, altho the Bradley colt has not lived up to preseason expectations. After finishing second to Gallahadion in the Kentucky Derby, he came back to whip Mrs. Mars' horse in the Preakness and then trailed far back in the Withers mile at Belmont, which was won by Mrs. Payne Whitney's Corydon, a rank outsider. Corydon has been entered in tomorrow's race.

Since running third in the Preakness, Gallahadion has been working well. His race in the Derby indicated he, too, likes plenty of distance. Belmont's long stretches and wide turns should give him plenty of room to use his ground eating strides without interference.

Completing the field are George D. Widener's Your Chance, who has showed plenty of improvement since trailing in the Preakness; the Milldale stable's Andy K., a decided factor if he forgets to run out, and Mrs. N. C. Phipps' Snow Ridge, kept on the sidelines since early season by a coughing epidemic.

If all seven start, the race will have an estimated value of $47,680, run before 35,000 spectators.

DODGERS BEAT REDS ON HOMER IN 11TH, 4 TO 2

Victory Moves Brooklyn Into First Place.

Cincinnati, O., June 7 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers got their vengeance on the Cincinnati Reds today with a 4 to 2 eleven inning victory that lifted Brooklyn into the National league lead and snapped Bucky Walters unbroken string of pitching triumphs at nine.

Today the Dodgers built their new winning streak to six straight games and Hugh Casey received credit for the victory after relieving Tot Pressnell. They permitted Cincinnati only six hits while Walters was pounded for nine, including Dolph Camilli's two-run homer that won the game in the 11th. Score:

Yankees Beat Feller, Indians in 9th, 5 to 4

New York, June 7 (AP).—The world champion Yankees first embarrassed and then defeated the fiery fastballer, Bob Feller, today, scoring two runs in the ninth inning to overtake the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 4. The defeat kept Cleveland out of a virtual tie for the American league lead.

Feller was caught flat-footed in the second inning as George Selkirk, who had doubled and reached third on a fly, raced home while the pitcher went thru his complicated windup.

WOODRUFF RUNS 800 METERS IN 1:48.6, A RECORD

Compton, Cal., June 7 (AP).—Long John Woodruff, Pittsburgh's national collegiate champion in 1939, bettered the world record for the 800 meter run tonight by a full second, traveling the distance in 1 minute 48.6 seconds and defeating Paul Moore of Stanford.

Eight thousand fans saw the Negro take a lead at the start, hold it thruout, and finish 10 yards in front of the Stanford star. Elroy Robinson, competing for the Olympic club of San Francisco in 1937, set the accepted record of 1 minute 49.6 seconds.

first round 69, and Benny Hogan, the brave little man who drew a pass to this party as an alternate. Benjamin flew out in 35, apparently bound for the 71 that would have tied him with the ultimate leaders, but he needed a 38 coming home.

Looming just back of Sam and Ben at 144 were four players who have been around and about in these opens. Heading them was a big guy in his normal spot at this stage. He was Ralph Guldahl, the winner of the main events of 1937 and 1938.

Three Tied with Guldahl.

Even with the large Texan, who now registers from Chicago, were Leonard Dodson, the talkative Missourian; Ernie [Dutch] Harrison, former Oak Park assistant, and Victor Ghezzi, the Deal, N. J., tower who always makes himself known in the open.

Tied at 145 were two more Chicagoans, an ex-champion, and the man who was runner-up last year. The local lads were Lloyd Mangrum, now Dick Metz's assistant at Oak Park, and Jock Hutchison Jr. of Rockford, who is doing a grand job of carrying on the tradition set up by his dad, Glen View's professional and winner of the British and American P. G. A. titles. With them were Craig Wood, who lost to Byron Nelson in last year's double playoff, and Gene Sarazen, victor in 1922 and 1932.

The qualifying limit for tomorrow's double round, which is restricted to the low 60 scorers and ties for the first 36 proved to be 153, a figure accomplished or bettered by 66 players.

Among those who just missed at 154 were Harry Cooper of Northmoor, Charley Penna of Medinah, John Lehman of Olympia Fields, who shot a dandy 72 today, and Sam Bernardi of Old Elm.

The biggest gallery disappointment of the day was the withdrawal of Jim Demaret, the Houston character who won 6 out of 11 winter and spring tournaments and who was one of the main favorites for the title to be awarded tomorrow night. James decided that it wasn't fun playing golf the way he was playing it today and turned in an unofficial 80, altho he technically withdrew at the 15th tee.

Fortunate on First Nine.

Snead was fortunate in getting around the first nine in 39, three over par, for, at the ninth, Sam'l overshot the green so far that only the accidental intervention of a 14 year old boy's back prevented the ball from bouncing over the road and possibly into a parking lot. He got back on and holed a five footer for a par 5. He missed the green at the third, hooked to the rough at the sixth and didn't escape, and blew another shot at the short seventh.

He sank a five footer for a birdie at the 12th to start his comeback fight and chipped up dead at the 13th for another. A 15 footer dropped at the 15th, and then came the 17th. He hooked a one iron there, got on in 2, and then three putted, missing a four footer for a 4.

Little, one of the early starters in temperatures as high as yesterday, required just 29 putts in his second 18 for the first fast score of the second round. He didn't collect a birdie until the fifth hole, where he topped a spoon and then came back to run down a long putt for the nick at par. He three putted the seventh, but came back to hole a 10 foot try on the 12th. Another from 18 feet fell at the 15th, after he missed an eight foot attempt for an eagle on the 13th. He sank a 10 footer at the long 16th, then missed the 18th in the rough to the right and took a bogey 5.

Smith Shoots Bogey on 2d.

Smith came down with a bogey at the second, but revenged that with a good putt on the sixth. He was one under after another birdie at the 12th and two below after No. 13 and came back after hooking a drive on the 14th. On the long 16th Horton played one of the greatest scrambling pars of his life, escaping from a bunker to within four feet of the flag. Then came the 17th and the short putt failure. He made a noble try from eight feet for a finishing birdie, but the ball slid by.

Medinah Player Captures Handicap Event with 68

Walworth, Wis., June 7 [Special].—Alfred Anderson of Medinah won the handicap event of the Chicago District Golf association at the Bigfoot Country club today with a 71, two under par. His handicap of 3 gave him a 68 net.

fore receiving Passeau's throw so nobody was retired. Cooney sacrificed and Moore, batting for Warstler, grounded to Mattick who fumbled, Miller scoring. Hassett grounded into a double play. The Cubs jumped right back in front in the home half, Dallessandro tripling to the center field wall and scoring on Collins' fly to Ross.

After the Ross homer, a 3 and 2 pitch which the young man directed into the center field bleachers had tied it again, the Cubs proceeded to the task of untieing it in the home eighth at the expense of Coffman. Gleeson singled to right with one out and, after Nicholson had fouled to Hassett, Herman lined a two bagger against the left field wall, Gleeson scoring. An intentional pass sent Dallessandro to base, whereupon Collins doubled over third to score Herman with the last run.

INDUSTRY FIGHTS LABOR MEASURE OF LA FOLLETTE

Contends Plan Protects Saboteur Activities.

Vigorous opposition to the La Follette labor practices bill was urged yesterday by the Illinois Manufacturers' association, which termed the measure one "which would provide government protection for fifth columnists, saboteurs, subversive activities, lawlessness, and violence in places of employment."

James L. Donnelly explains why bill received support.

This "Red" measure, which is awaiting action in the house labor committee after passage by the senate, "is being promoted by radical labor leaders, subversive groups, 'left wingers,' and so-called 'liberals,'" the association contended in a bulletin sent to members, congressmen, and army and navy officials.

Contends Bill Has Reds' Support.

"It is being actively supported by administration leaders in congress," the statement asserted. "One of the groups advocating the passage of this bill is the International Labor Defense. That group is listed in the reports of the Dies committee among 'national organizations which are affiliated and allied with, or are carrying on some phase of the communist line in the United States or are cooperating in various ways with the movement as a whole.'"

The bill obtained many votes in the senate, James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the manufacturers' association, said, because of the misrepresentations made by its sponsors and because of the apparent confusion regarding the meaning of several amendments to the measure which were adopted in the senate.

Causes of Opposition.

The association declared that the bill

"Makes it a criminal offense for an employer to get information from any source, including an employé, regarding what is going on in his plant.

"Prevents the operation of any plant if strikers do not want the plant to operate—irrespective of the cause of the strike, regardless of the purpose of the strike, and regardless of the character of the strike leaders or their objectives.

"Makes it impossible to operate a plant if fifth column leaders do not want it to operate.

"Renders employers helpless in the protection of their employés and their plants against fifth columnists, labor union racketeers, and other saboteurs.

"Protects Goon Squads."

"Protects armed and ruthless 'goon squads' from interference and prevents the employer from offering protection against such armed and ruthless 'goon squads' to employés who want to work in time of a strike.

"Represents another coöperative effort by organized minorities and representatives of the federal government to further hamstring and persecute American employers and their loyal workers.

"Would place a straitjacket on employers in their effort to coöperate in the national defense program."

CONSENT DECREE IS EXPECTED IN FILM TRUST CASE

New York, June 7 [Special].—A consent decree in the antitrust suit against eight major motion picture film companies, which started in federal court last Monday, will be entered within 30 days, authoritative sources said today. Trial of the action today was halted until Monday at the request of the department of justice, for the stated purpose of agreeing on stipulations.

It was learned that negotiations have reached a stage where both sides have agreed on principles, and the time required for completion of the consent decree will be no more than 30 days.

It is understood that the decree will eliminate block booking and set up fair trade practices for the industry.

Denied at Washington.

Washington, D. C., June 7 [Special].—Knowledge of a possible consent decree to settle the government's anti-trust suit against motion picture interests was denied today at the department of justice. Department officers said they expected the suit, now in recess in New York, to continue next week.

Name Receiver for Coal Company Owing Sales Tax

Judge Charles A. Williams in Superior court yesterday appointed Karl Veith, 11733 Eggleston avenue, as receiver for the Midwest Coal company, 228 North La Salle street. The action was taken in a complaint brought by the attorney general's office charging the company owes $6,272 in sales taxes from 1933 to 1938. Company officials were restrained by the court from disposing of any assets.

UNITED STATES TREASURY STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7—The following is a statement of the condition of the United States treasury on June 5, 1

Chicago Daily Tribune.
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER
SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1940.

CHICAGO FIRMS GET BIG ORDERS FOR MACHINERY

Chemical Makers Expand Facilities.

Chemical producers and other companies, preparing to increase output of war goods, are buying machinery in large volume from plants in the Chicago area, inquiry disclosed yesterday. One of the biggest buyers is E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., the dominant company in the chemical industry.

C. R. Messinger, Chain Belt president, reports upturn.

Makers of the type of equipment needed disclosed that their employés are working overtime and that new workers are being hired from time to time. Incoming business has been increasing steadily this year and the volume is running ahead of a year ago levels by a good margin, officials of these companies indicated.

Officials Report Big Demand.

Alfred Kauffmann, president of Link-Belt company, Chicago; Lee S. Stephens, president of Stephens-Adamson Manufacturing company, Aurora, and C. R. Messinger, president of Chain Belt company, Milwaukee, which has a plant in Chicago, all reported improved demand for machinery.

Kauffmann said the estimating department of his company has been kept busy by a steady stream of inquiries, and that orders are running ahead of 1939 volume.

Extensive use is being made of overtime in the plants of the company, Kauffmann said. He reported that Link-Belt is benefiting from an especially heavy demand for industrial dryers, conveying equipment and other machinery needed by chemical makers.

Factories Serve Many Areas.

The company's plants in Chicago, Indianapolis, Philadelphia, and Atlanta, on the Pacific coast and in Canada are feeling the effects of steps being taken by industry to speed up production, Kauffmann said.

Link-Belt makes all types of equipment for moving industrial materials and for transmission of mechanical power. It also makes special machinery for drying and treating products used in numerous fields of production.

Stephens reported that Stephens-Adamson company also is receiving increased machinery orders from chemical makers and other companies. The company's employés are working overtime, he said, and a few new workers have been hired.

Makes Conveying Equipment.

Stephens-Adamson company makes conveyors, crushing machinery, and equipment for bulk handling of all types of industrial products.

Messinger commenting on Chain Belt's business, said: "Our incoming orders showed a decided May upturn over earlier months and a wide gain as compared with a year ago. Some departments in our plants are working overtime."

He said part of the increased demand for the company's products resulted from purchases by companies which are producing or preparing to produce war goods.

The Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company has received a British order for 200,000 six inch finished shell forgings. The shells, which will cost about $3,000,000, will be completely finished except for the powder and cap. They will be made at Pullman-Standard's Butler, Pa., plant. Tooling for the work will start shortly and delivery is expected to be commenced late this year.

New Orders Exceed Shipments.

American manufacturers' new orders during April exceeded shipments for the first month since November, 1939, the department of commerce reported yesterday. This arrested the steady decline in backlogs of unfilled orders which had characterized the business situation since last fall.

The value of unfilled orders on the books of manufacturing companies at the end of April was 1 per cent higher than at the end of March. Incoming orders amounted to 7 per cent more than the March volume, while shipments remained practically unchanged.

Inventory holdings were reduced in April by more than $100,000,000 or 1 per cent of total manufacturers' stocks. The inventory accumulation, which began last fall at a $300,000,000 a month rate, was halted in March, when a $40,000,000 reduction was reported.

The Stock Market After Adjournment of Congress

British Action to End Trade in Free Sterling

Great Britain yesterday imposed new wartime exchange regulations which money dealers said would wipe out the international markets for the free or unpegged pound sterling. The action caused some confusion in the New York foreign exchange market and the pound reeled back and forth over a wide price range, finally closing 10 cents higher.

A day of monetary developments emanating from the capitals of three nations brought far reaching actions aimed at adjusting international dealings to changes resulting from the war.

Several Adjustments Made.

Major adjustments were:

1. England issued a regulation requiring that all exports to the United States and Switzerland—the main free sterling markets—from Great Britain must be paid for in sterling bought at the official rate of $4.03½.

2. England forbade Americans—and all other persons living outside the countries where sterling and French francs are used—to sell securities in the United Kingdom.

3. The United States treasury issued a ruling designed to prevent the sale of any securities which might be confiscated from citizens of invaded European nations. With certain exceptions, securities brought into the United States must be turned over by customs agents and postal employés to the federal reserve banks. The exceptions are England, France, Canada, Newfoundland, and Bermuda.

4. Announcement was made at Ottawa, Ont., that Canada and France have completed an agreement controling the franc in Canada and the Canadian dollar in France.

Must Pay at Official Rate.

Under the British ruling on the value of the pound, any American or any American company buying goods from England will have to buy sterling at the official rate. The Bank of England sells sterling at $4.03⅓ and buys it at 4.02½. Until now, the requirement had applied only to certain key British exports such as tin, rubber, jute, and whisky.

Traders said that the new restriction, by practically eliminating the uses to which the unpegged pound can be put, will doom the international markets in which sterling has been dealt on a supply and demand basis.

The pound closed with a net gain of 10 cents at New York yesterday. The final price was $3.85, compared with $3.75 on Thursday, when the price shot up 55½ cents.

The French franc rose 0.06 cent to 2.185 cents, and the Canadian dollar declined 1 cent to 79 cents. The Swiss franc was unchanged.

Buyers Still Available.

Money dealers said buyers were still available for the pound because of the expectation that a short period of grace will be granted by Britain to exchange dealers and business men in which commitments can be fulfilled. After that, it was predicted, there will be little if any demand for the free pound.

Officials in Washington said the new British ruling on the pound will prevent British manufacturers from gaining an advantage over American companies in the American market thru depreciation of currency rates.

Under the Canadian-French agreement, the Canadian foreign exchange board will control all payments in Canada involving trade with France. The board will buy francs at 2.50¾ cents in terms of the Canadian dollar and sell at 2.53¼ cents.

Britain Extends Licensing System on Its Imports

Washington D. C., June 7 [Special].—The British Board of Trade today announced that prior import licenses would be required for all products, except live quadrupeds, not hitherto subject to that requirement. The order is effective tomorrow, the American embassy cabled from London. Most products imported from the United States were already subject to license and this new order will affect only certain special lines.

Erie Railroad's April Net Loss Larger than Year Ago

The Erie railroad system yesterday reported net loss in April of $586,709, compared with net loss of $375,305 in the same month last year. Net loss for the first four months this year amounted to $1,508,527, against $1,787,803 in the same period last year.

Investment Analysts Elect John H. Weedon President

John H. Weedon of the First National Bank of Chicago, was elected president of the Investment Analysts Club of Chicago yesterday in the Palmer House. Other officers, also named for one year terms, are Raymond W. Duning, vice president; Carl P. Heartburg, treasurer, and Fred C. Hartmann, secretary.

Oldsmobile May Retail Sales Climb to 20,930

Lansing, Mich., June 7 (AP).—Oldsmobile division of General Motors corporation today reported its May retail sales of new cars as 20,930. April sales totaled 20,311. For the first five months of 1940 retail sales numbered 86,107, compared with 60,803 in the same period last year.

TWO AIR LINES REPORT NEW ALL-TIME MARKS IN PASSENGER TRAVEL

United Air Lines established a new all-time mark for local passengers carried from Chicago on the Chicago-New York and Chicago-west coast routes during May, R. F. Ahrens, regional traffic manager, announced yesterday. The 5,140 passengers represented a gain of 62 per cent over the 3,070 of the same 1939 month. The first June week's business indicates that this month will be better than May, he added.

For the third consecutive month Pennsylvania-Central Airlines set an all-time revenue passenger traffic record in May, according to Edward Sullivan, general traffic manager. The 18,477 revenue passengers flown last month was a 68.94 per cent increase over the 10,935 carried in May, 1939, and a 14.28 per cent gain over the 16,166 transported in April, 1940, the previous record month.

Pennsylvania-Central flew 3,357,356 revenue passenger miles in May, a 73.40 per cent increase over 1939. Chicago, with an 80 per cent increase over May, 1939, was one of the 13 of the line's 19 stations which set all-time records.

CHICAGO HOUSING CONFERENCE TO BE HELD TODAY

A Chicago housing conference will be held today at the Morrison hotel under the sponsorship of the Conference for Social Legislation. Ald. Earl B. Dickerson, president of the Chicago Urban league, and vice chairman of the executive committee of the Conference for Social Legislation, will preside.

At a morning session from 10 to noon speakers will include Coleman Woodbury, director, National Association of Housing Officials; Harriett Vittum of Northwestern university settlement; Paul Opperman of the American Society of Planning Officials; Paul D. Angell, secretary of the Chicago Building Congress, and Saul Alinsky.

At a luncheon from 12:30 to 2 p. m. the subject, "Housing and Democracy" will be discussed by Ernest J. Bohn, Dr. Albert W. Palmer, Rabbi Louis L. Mann, and Bishop Bernard J. Shell. Following the luncheon an hour will be devoted to reports of round table findings and recommendations.

ALLIES PURCHASE $4,000,000 OF FAST MARINE ENGINES

New York, June 7 (AP).—Allied purchasing agents have placed orders in the United States for $4,000,000 worth of high speed marine engines, it was announced today. In addition, a spokesman for the allies disclosed, the British and French agents are negotiating for substantial amounts of "automotive business."

The marine engines—a new line of allied purchases—were believed intended for use in torpedo boats chiefly. Where the orders were placed was not divulged.

Financial circles heard reports that the allies were in the market for tanks, which presumably were included in the "automotive" category.

Air planes contracted for in this country now amount to more than 8,000, the spokesman said.

BREWSTER PLANE FIRM RECEIVES $26,572,000 ORDER

New York, June 7 [Special].—Brewster Aeronautical corporation has received an order from a foreign source, believed to be the allied purchasing commission, for $26,572,000 of airplanes, James Work, president of the company announced today. The planes will be fighters and dive bombers.

Receipt of this order increases Brewster's backlog to $44,628,000. At the end of May, the company's unfilled orders were $18,056,000, which contrasted with $2,250,000 at the close of May, 1939.

Postpones Sentencing N. Y. Teamster Union Members

New York, June 7 [Special].—Federal Judge Murray Hulbert today postponed until June 13 the sentencing of 26 members of local 807, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen, and Helpers, and the local on their conviction of violating the Sherman antitrust law and the anti-racketeering act.

Sale of Foreign Held Assets Put Under Control

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—In another effort to prevent Germans from cashing in on assets seized by invasion Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today ordered that securities coming into the United States be delivered to a federal reserve bank for examination.

Rep. Crawford demands probe of securities slump.

As first issued, the order, approved by President Roosevelt, applied to all incoming securities. Morgenthau later modified this by exempting the allies, including Great Britain, France, Canada, Newfoundland, and Bermuda, from its provisions.

The order obviously was intended to checkmate any attempt by the Germans to sell seized securities to this country, and supplemented the recent presidential order which "froze" all assets, including securities, of the governments or nationals of Norway, Denmark, Belgium, the Netherlands, or Luxemburg.

Forced Treasury License.

That order compelled treasury licenses for transactions in any foreign held accounts. When the treasury has been satisfied that nationals or governments could handle their accounts free of Nazi intimidation general licenses were issued.

Recently Representative Fred L. Crawford [R., Mich.] introduced a resolution in the house calling for an investigation of the slump in security and commodity markets during the earlier stages of the German blitzkrieg in the Low Countries and France.

Crawford intimated that the Nazis may have attempted to sabotage the defense program by dumping securities on the American markets, thereby jeopardizing the American financial position.

Assailed SEC Practice.

The congressman also assailed the Securities and Exchange commission for standing by idly and refusing to divulge the sources of selling on the stock exchanges—particularly whether foreigners were involved. Since then, officials of the SEC and the treasury have insisted that foreign selling from the frozen accounts had slight influence on the market decline.

Today's order directs customs officers and postal employés to be on the lookout for all foreign securities and to deliver them to a federal reserve bank, which as fiscal agent of the treasury is empowered to hold them until the treasury is satisfied that the original owners were not the governments or nationals whose funds have been "frozen." If it is found that the Germans have sent securities from the invaded countries the securities would be impounded automatically by the treasury.

View of Security Interests.

New York, June 7 (AP).—The ruling of the treasury today that any securities imported for sale must be passed on by a federal reserve bank, was viewed in brokerage circles as an effort to deal with the problem of establishing ownership of stocks and bonds made out merely to "bearer" rather than registered in the names of individual investors.

It has been customary for many foreigners dealing in American securities to have them made out to "bearer" and to arrange transactions thru their banks. Therefore, some said, it was likely that banks in Holland and Belgium held for clients substantial amounts of American stocks and bonds unregistered in the names of their real owners, and it would not seem difficult to ship these securities here for sale thru neutral countries.

Dutch and Belgian investors were understood to have held more than 1 billion dollars of American securities.

Venezuela Ratifies Trade Pact with United States

CARACAS, Venezuela, June 7 (AP).—The Venezuelan senate today ratified the United States-Venezuelan trade agreement. There was no debate and, apparently, no opposition.

REVEAL REASON FOR DELAYS BY BRITISH BUYERS

Disliked Aiding U. S. Plane Industry.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Behind the present frantic efforts of Great Britain to obtain American aircraft and other equipment at any cost is an amazing story of procrastination by the British buying representatives in this country in the early months of the war.

It is no secret that certain American aircraft manufacturers were exceedingly impatient for a time with the British representatives. Some of the manufacturers, who have since received large orders from the British, relate that the British negotiators were extremely dilatory in their early negotiations. The British did not appear to know exactly what they wanted. They haggled over the price and the terms of the financing. They have since come around to accept most of the terms laid down by the American manufacturers.

French Know Their Wants.

Contrasting with the British attitude was that of the French. The French commission knew what it wanted and lost no time in concluding negotiations and placing orders, according to the manufacturers with whom it dealt. The French were buying more American planes than the British before the war began and they stepped up their purchases more rapidly after the formal declarations of war in September.

Commercial reasons were in part responsible for the British reluctance to come to terms, manufacturers here believe. The British had not forgotten, it is said, that it was the big allied buying during the early years of the last war that gave the American automobile industry a big stimulus. Some English observers insist that it was the allies that financed the construction of the first great American automobile plants. It was their initial buying, according to this view, that has since enabled the United States to outsell the British in the world markets and invade the English domestic market as well.

Forced to Accept Conditions.

Short of absolute necessity, the British, it is said, were unwilling to see the same process repeated with the American aircraft industry. Necessity, of course, has since caused a change in the British approach. The British are buying in a sellers' market and are not in a position to dictate terms.

Manufacturers, other than the aircraft makers, report similar experiences with the British representatives. A middle west automobile manufacturer carried on protracted negotiations with agents of the British buying commission. Conferences were held in several cities between company officials and British representatives. When the negotiations appeared to be getting nowhere the motor company notified the British that it was suspending further negotiations pending a more definite commitment. Meanwhile the same company had concluded negotiations with the French for several thousand trucks.

France Buys Four Times British.

The French led all foreign countries in purchases of American aircraft in the first three months of 1940 with a total of $32,741,917. The United Kingdom was second with $7,609,266. France also led for the full year of 1939 with purchases of $42,484,792, compared with Britain's $34,794,800.

British orders have since been placed at a greatly accelerated rate. The allies now have on order in the United States several hundred million dollars' worth of new planes, of which the British are getting a substantial share. The plant additions necessary to fill these orders are being financed out of payments advanced by British and French governments.

NEW MODEL AUTO OUTPUT TO GO ON, G. M. CHIEF SAYS

Detroit, Mich., June 7 (AP).—Normal production of new model automobiles will not be interfered with by America's rearmament program, C. E. Wilson, acting president of General Motors corporation, said today in his first interview since succeeding William S. Knudsen. Knudsen is a member of the special defense commission.

"So far as I have been able to learn," Wilson said, "the automobile industry will be expected to manufacture mainly things on wheels and engines.

"This is something the industry is equipped to do and can do in addition to normal production of new model automobiles."

"General Motors, like all manufacturing companies, is willing to drop the production of standard goods if it becomes necessary, but so far there are no signs it is going to be necessary."

Chicagoan Gets Life Post on Corporation of M. I. T.

Cambridge, Mass., June 7 (AP).—James M. Barker of Chicago, former vice president and treasurer of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and now a member of that firm's board of directors, has been elected a life member of the corporation, or governing body, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the institute, announced Barker's selection today. Barker was an alumni term member of the corporation from 1934 to 1939.

Antichute Army Car

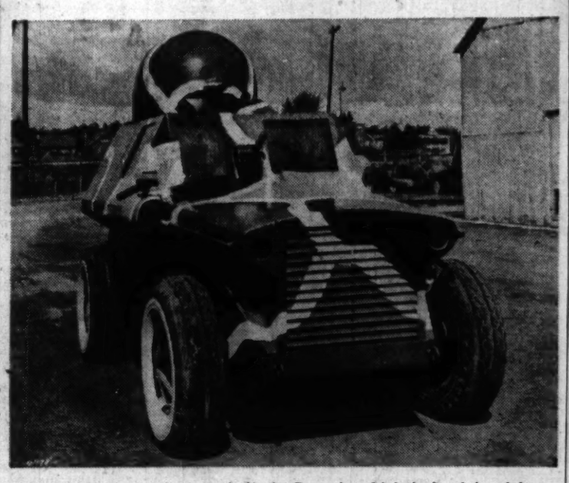
(Story in Adjoining Column.)



Antiaircraft combat car built in Detroit which it is claimed has a top speed of 114 miles an hour and can travel across country at 75 miles an hour. Equipped with small cannon and machine guns, its designers say it is ideal for combating parachute troops.

Industry Acts to Prevent 5th Column Work

Manufacturing enterprises in the great industrial areas of Chicago and Detroit which may be called upon to supply needs of the national defense program are moving swiftly to eliminate possible fifth column activities, it was disclosed yesterday. The purpose is to avert sabotage of defense production.

In Chicago, company executives are checking their working forces to determine who are aliens. In Detroit, major companies, including automobile companies, are reported to have laid off all their alien workers. Even those who are scheduled to become citizens in July have been told they cannot work until citizenship has been bestowed upon them.

Demand Birth Certificates.

Not only are many Detroit companies getting rid of aliens, but they are demanding that all workers produce birth certificates or get out. A member of the engineering staff of the Chrysler corporation, as an illustration of the care now being exerted, commented that he was in a fine fix because he was born in a little Indiana town at a time when births were not registered.

A company has been organized in Detroit to produce proof of American birth for workers who do not possess birth certificates. It sends agents to get affadavits from five or six citizens having knowledge as to the place of birth of the worker investigated.

Many Chicago companies with aliens on their pay rolls are urging them to act at once toward becoming citizens. Others have done nothing about advising citizenship but are keeping a closer watch over alien members of their forces.

Chicago Companies Act.

Among the Chicago companies that indicated they have been checking their employés, were: Crane company, manufacturer of valves, pipes, heating and sanitary equipment; Borg-Warner corporation, manufacturer of automobile and airplane parts and a wide variety of other items; International Harvester company, maker of farm equipment, tractors, trucks, and other items and the Western Electric company, maker of telephone and related equipment.

Crane is suggesting that aliens among its workers take out citizenship papers and it is following a careful policy in hiring new employés. Borg-Warner is checking with workers whose records are not clear and is requesting birth certificates in some cases, altho no one is being dismissed. International Harvester reports that only 3 per cent of its workers are not citizens and only 1 per cent have not taken out citizenship papers. The company says it will continue its Americanism program with vigor.

STANDARD POWER SEC HEARING IS SET FOR JULY 8

Washington, D. C., June 7 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today instituted proceedings under the corporate simplification part of the utility "death sentence" clause against Standard Power and Light corporation. This billion dollar utility holding company already has formally notified the commission of its intention to "wind up its own affairs by dissolution, merger, or otherwise."

The proceeding was ordered with the object of determining whether it will be necessary to eliminate Standard Power from the Standard system. Hearing was set for July 8.

The SEC declined to postpone its integration hearings on the North American company indefinitely. The company had asked that the hearing be held in abeyance so that the company could proceed with the integration program which it has worked out for itself. The SEC rejected this request but did agree to postpone that hearing until June 12.

Seek Sales Tax Ban on Coal Received from Out of State

Springfield, Ill., June 7, (AP).—Twelve Chicago coal companies and United Collieries, Inc., Cincinnati, O., asked the Sangamon county circuit court today for an injunction to halt collection of the 3 per cent sales tax on coal shipped to Illinois users from out of the state. The suit opposed a regulation of the state finance department which became effective last March holding agents responsible for the sales tax if merchandise is shipped from outside the state.

RAILROAD RATE CHANGES URGED TO WIN TRAFFIC

Program Affects Less Than Carlot Freight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—A drastic revision in rates and simplification of the rate structure were recommended today by Walter S. Franklin, traffic vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, to make less than carload freight service of the railroads more attractive and bring additional business to the carriers.

Franklin appeared before the subcommittee of the senate interstate commerce committee which is investigating the handling of less than carload freight and the operations of freight forwarders. The committee is considering proposed measures which would place forwarders under the regulation of the Interstate Commerce commission.

Two Measures Considered.

The rail executive said that two measures are under consideration by the railroads. The first would provide for the establishment of a new system of rates intermediate between the present carload and less than carload rates, to be known as "quantity rates." The second step would apply to a large group of commodities which are of high weight density and load economically but which are now rated first or second class or higher. These would all be lowered to third class with large savings in transportation costs to shippers.

Franklin said that both measures are based upon recognition that the existing merchandise freight rate structure has become in certain respects vulnerable to competition and now requires extensive change, altho merchandise rates are generally below the maximum levels permitted by the I. C. C.

View on Forwarders.

"We have no quarrel with the forwarders," said Franklin. "The large number operating on our line bespeaks the treatment they have been accorded. However, we have consistently maintained that we should have the right to handle our merchandise traffic directly; to deal with the shippers without an intervening party, and to be in a position to charge the public the same rates as any other transportation agency."

The witness expressed the opinion that there is no need for legislation on the general subjects covered by the senate resolution initiating the present inquiry.

"We are confident," he said, "that you will develop in the course of these hearings that the railroad industry is conscious of its responsibilities and ready to proceed to solve its problems."

PRESIDENT SAYS TOOL EXPORT IS NOT RESTRICTED

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP).—President Roosevelt said today that no restrictions have been imposed on the export of machine tools.

At the state department officials declined to comment on the President's press conference disclosure. They offered no explanation of the apparent clash between his statement and the department's advice to recent inquirers.

These inquirers, including the counsellor of the Japanese embassy, have been told by the state department, first, that certain equipment, including machine tools, was "indispensable" to the national defense; second, that consequently the export of such equipment was not being permitted; and third, that this restriction was not directed against any particular country.

The advice the state department gave the Japanese counsellor was discussed today by Secretary Hull and Ambassador Kensuke Horinouchi.

Indianapolis Gas Bonds Jump 25 Points in Day

New York, June 7 (AP).—Indianapolis Gas company 5 per cent bonds of '52 jumped $250 above yesterday's final price on the curb exchange today. It closed at 85, up 25 points. The rise resulted from the ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals late yesterday that a 99 year lease concluded in 1913 between Indianapolis Gas and the Citizens Gas company was valid and binding upon the city of Indianapolis. The ruling reversed a previous federal District court decision.

NEW WARPLANE MAY CHALLENGE SPEED RECORD

Nearing Completion in Detroit Plant.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Detroit, Mich., June 7 [Special].—A pursuit type airplane which it is claimed will be able to beat the German speed record of 470 miles an hour is now nearing completion in a little Detroit factory, which has most of its doors closed to the public by order of the war department. Designer of the 700 horse power engine that will propel the plane is Harry Miller, whose racing automobiles have at one time and another dominated American and European speedways.

Harry Miller.

The veteran engine builder is now working for the Tucker Manufacturing company. Miller is designing aviation engines which it is claimed will be sensational additions to the nation's defenses. About some of his work the veil of military secrecy is placed. He is permitted to discuss the pursuit job because it is not under contract to the government, altho army officials are reported to be interested in it.

Weighs Only 443 Pounds.

The 700 horsepower engine weighs only 443 pounds. Miller says it is the lightest weight engine of the type ever built. It is liquid cooled.

The pursuit ship and its engine were designed integrally for the most economical production. Of the single seater type, it will possess great striking power, according to Miller and Prescott Tucker, president of the Tucker concern. Its armament will include a rapid firing cannon which will be fired through a 3 inch hole in the propeller hub, two half inch machine guns that will be fired from the nose of the ship, and a "stinger gun" set at an angle, with aiming done by means of mirrors.

Cruising range of the pursuit ship will be 700 miles, Miller said, and it will be ready for service about Sept. 1.

Put Cost at $20,000.

The fuselage is being built of steel tubing. Wings are of plywood, said to be fireproof and moisture proof. It is said that the plane can be built at a cost of $20,000 on a mass production basis, contrasted with the substantially more than $100,000 which the allies are now paying for pursuit ships.

Among Miller's recent achievements was the building of two 16 cylinder 1,800 horsepower marine engines for Gar Wood. Wood got them to meet the British speed boat challengers, but the challenge wasn't forthcoming. It is said that it has been suggested that the engines he used in 75 mile an hour "mosquito boats" carrying torpedo tubes.

Miller also designed a 400 horsepower airplane engine which is now being built for use in private or commercial ships. He says that this engine should be able to do better than 250 miles an hour.

Anti-Aircraft Combat Car.

Another war product of the Tucker company is a 114 mile an hour anti-aircraft combat automobile which will be powered by a standard production 250 horsepower engine of the bus type. Tucker says that he is negotiating with the British for the sale of 1,000 of the combat cars.

The combat cars are not of the caterpillar type, but have huge bullet proof tires. Tucker says they are capable of traveling across country at high rates of speed and are suitable for a variety of purposes, including destruction of parachute troops. He says they are air conditioned to protect the soldier occupants from gas and flame throwing machines.

German Subsidy Plan Works.

Tucker, who collaborated with Miller in designing engines, says that one reason for German successes with their mechanized war instruments—on land, sea, and in the air—is that the army worked with its private racing drivers, both land and air. In recent years, he declared, Hitler subsidized racing car building, with the result that when he wanted speed he had designs already prepared. The practice in this country, he said has been for the army to tell the airplane builders what they wanted as to speed, construction, and other details.

As a result, he said, plane builders in this country have virtually had to start at scratch from the point of view of design and planning in the building of army planes.

Clear Way for House Action on Sugar Control Measure

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP).—The rules committee cleared the way for house action on legislation to continue the life of the 1937 sugar act. It left the way open for an amendment to be offered by northeastern members of congress to reenact a provision which expired last March 1, limiting importations of refined sugar from Hawaii and Puerto Rico. It did not permit amendments to other sections of the act. The committee agreed to allow one hour's general debate, probably next week.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, June 7 (AP).—Wall street today indicated increased hopes for the allied defense today by pushing prices of stock leaders ahead one to two points. It was a "thin" market with trade only a dribble, but the dribble was steady and the advance extended into all sections of corporate securities.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected stocks rose 0.4 point to 33.3, continuing yesterday's lift. Transactions totaled 469,410 shares, compared with 427,315 yesterday.

Brokers said there was a general belief that the price level would remain close to its present position until the battle in northern France was decided definitely.

The Italian withdrawal of ships from ocean commerce was received by operators without concern. Many have been expecting Italy to enter the war for weeks and some assert the accomplished fact would be unlikely to have much direct effect on quotations.

Assisting the movement for the rise were reports that Washington favored a program which would provide about 1,000 American fighting planes for the allies in the near future, estimates of rapidly increasing steel production, especially in Birmingham, and a report from Detroit of improved automobile output.

In immediate response came substantial gains for steel, motor, aircraft, and chemical shares. Other issues followed.

Leaders on the upside were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas, Lockheed, United Air Lines, American Air Lines, Monsanto Chemical, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Phillip Morris, International Nickel, American Telephone, Loews, National Biscuit, Celanese, and Texas corporation.

On the curb, where 86,000 shares were traded compared with 66,000 yesterday, chief gainers included Heyden Chemical, Brewster Aero, Bell Aircraft, Jones and Laughlin Steel, and Mead Johnson.

Chicago Stocks.

Advances predominated on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, but trading was light at only 13,000 shares. Of the 79 active issues, 49 moved up, 13 declined, and 17 were unchanged. Volume leaders were mostly higher. United States Steel set the pace with a rise of 2⅛ points to close at 47.

New York Bonds.

New York, June 7 (AP).—Bonds went along with other markets today in viewing the war news as slightly more favorable. Advances were fairly general in the corporate division, altho the rail average closed with a small decline. United States government loans posted a number of gains running to ¾ of a point. Foreign issues were mixed.

In the foreign section French stamped 7s dropped 6 on small transactions. The floating supply of this bond is negligible, a large amount having been repatriated. Obligations of Canada, Belgium, New South Wales, and Italy moved up fractions to 2 or more.

Bank Stocks.

First National shares advanced 4 points and Continental Illinois gained a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Other leading issues were unchanged.

PULLMAN EARNS $1,192,250 IN FIRST 4 MONTHS

Peabody Coal's Profits Are Larger.

Pullman company, sleeping car affiliate of Pullman, Inc., reported yesterday that it had net income of $1,192,205 in the first four months of 1940, after taxes and provisions for amortization of air conditioning investment. On the same basis, the company earned $1,222,419 in the first four months of 1939.

For April alone, Pullman company had a net loss of $127,549, after taxes and air conditioning revenue deferment, compared with profit of $39,958 in April, 1939.

Gross Revenues Larger.

Gross revenues for the four months increased to $20,959,456 from $20,751,196 in the corresponding period of 1939, but April revenues were smaller at $4,755,802, compared with $4,894,117.

The report did not cover the earnings of manufacturing subsidiaries of Pullman, Inc.

Peabody Coal company, which supplies coal to Chicago utilities, announced a profit of $661,922 for the fiscal year ended April 30, largest in eight years. Profit in the preceding year was $383,276.

The last year's earnings were equal to $4.88 a share on the 6 per cent preferred stock, on which dividend accumulations amount to $36.50 a share. In the preceding year the per share earnings on the preferred issue equaled $2.82.

Pines Winterfront Has Loss.

Pines Winterfront company, Chicago manufacturer of automobile radiator shutters and other accessories, reported a net loss of $168,463 for the fiscal year ended April 30, compared with a loss of $139,447 in the preceding year. The company's sales showed a moderate decline to $467,947 from $492,777.

Week's Output of Autos Rises to 95,560 Units

Detroit, Mich., June 7 (AP).—Ward's Automotive Reports today estimated the output of the automobile factories this week at 95,560 cars and trucks, compared with 60,980 last week, when operations were curtailed by the Memorial day holiday, and 65,265 a year ago. The survey said that "steady operations" were likely for a time.

BOEING'S LOSS.

What was behind the large loss of the Boeing Airplane company in 1939? Has the company ever made a profit or paid a dividend? I would like a general report on the company.—K. C.

Answer: Boeing Airplane company has specialized in recent years in manufacturing military airplanes for the army air corps, but it also has reentered the commercial field with the large Stratoliner land transport and the Clipper flying boat. The transport planes are adaptations of the huge four-engined Flying Fortresses designed for the army.

These large ships are constructed at the Seattle, Wash., division of the company operated by Boeing Aircraft Co., a subsidiary. Military training and other small craft and a fast two-engined attack bomber are made by the Stearman division at Wichita, Kas. A Canadian subsidiary of the company has a plant at Vancouver, B. C.

Boeing was formed in 1934 to absorb the western manufacturing properties of United Aircraft and Transport corporation when the latter was split into three companies as the result of a reorganization.

Large orders for military planes from the allies and from the war department increased Boeing's backlog of unfilled orders to $47,000,000 at the end of May from $23,000,000 at the end of 1939. Capacity of the Seattle division will be doubled to accelerate filling these orders, it was announced.

Despite the considerable expansion of the company's sales last year, operations were unprofitable, mainly because of heavy development and manufacturing costs on the Clippers, Stratoliners, and Flying Fortresses. Net sales, net income and earnings per share since organization compared as follows:

| | Net Sales. | Net Income. | Earned Per Share. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1934 | †$1,116,627 | *†$255,977 | *†$0.43 |
| 1935 | 1,236,518 | *333,800 | *0.64 |
| 1936 | 2,292,772 | 168,364 | 0.32 |
| 1937 | 3,545,439 | 311,683 | 0.45 |
| 1938 | 2,006,845 | *554,958 | *0.77 |
| 1939 | 11,846,893 | *3,284,073 | *4.55 |

*Net loss. †Last four months.

Capital stock of the company at the end of 1939 totaled 721,958 shares of $5 par capital stock. The company offered to stockholders of record May 10 rights to buy 360,979 additional capital shares at $16 a share at the rate of one additional share for each two held. The rights expired May 24. No dividend has been paid on the stock since an initial payment of 40 cents a share was made Dec. 8, 1937.

N. Y. EXCHANGES SOLICIT FUNDS TO BUY AMBULANCES

New York, June 7 [Special].—The New York Cocoa exchange today announced a campaign for funds to provide, equip, and maintain as many ambulances as possible for use on the battlefields of France. It is estimated that about $2,000 is needed for each ambulance, exclusive of maintenance. Philip H. Brandt is chairman of the committee which will seek contributions from members.

A similar campaign for the purchase of one ambulance was begun yesterday among members of the New York Cotton exchange. In addition, several ambulances have already been provided by individual cotton exchange firms, including Amderson, Clayton & Co., H. Hentz & Co., and George H. McFadden & Brother.

The New York Stock exchange has sent one ambulance to France and is raising funds for a second.

NATIONAL CITY SHARES BRING $22 AT AUCTION

Jersey City, N. J., June 7 [Special].—An auction sale of 20,000 shares of National City Bank of New York was completed today at $22 a share in the offices of Adrian H. Muller & Son, auctioneers.

One individual purchased all the shares and refused to reveal his identity. The auctioneers would not disclose the name of either the buyer or the seller.

The stock was sold in blocks of 1,000 shares, 2,000 shares, 5,000 shares, and two of 6,000 share lots, with comparatively few bidders. Bidding on the first lot of 1,000 shares started at $20, and finished at $22.

French Order Advance Units to Withdraw Before German Attack—Sale of U. S. Arms to Allies Brings Warnings

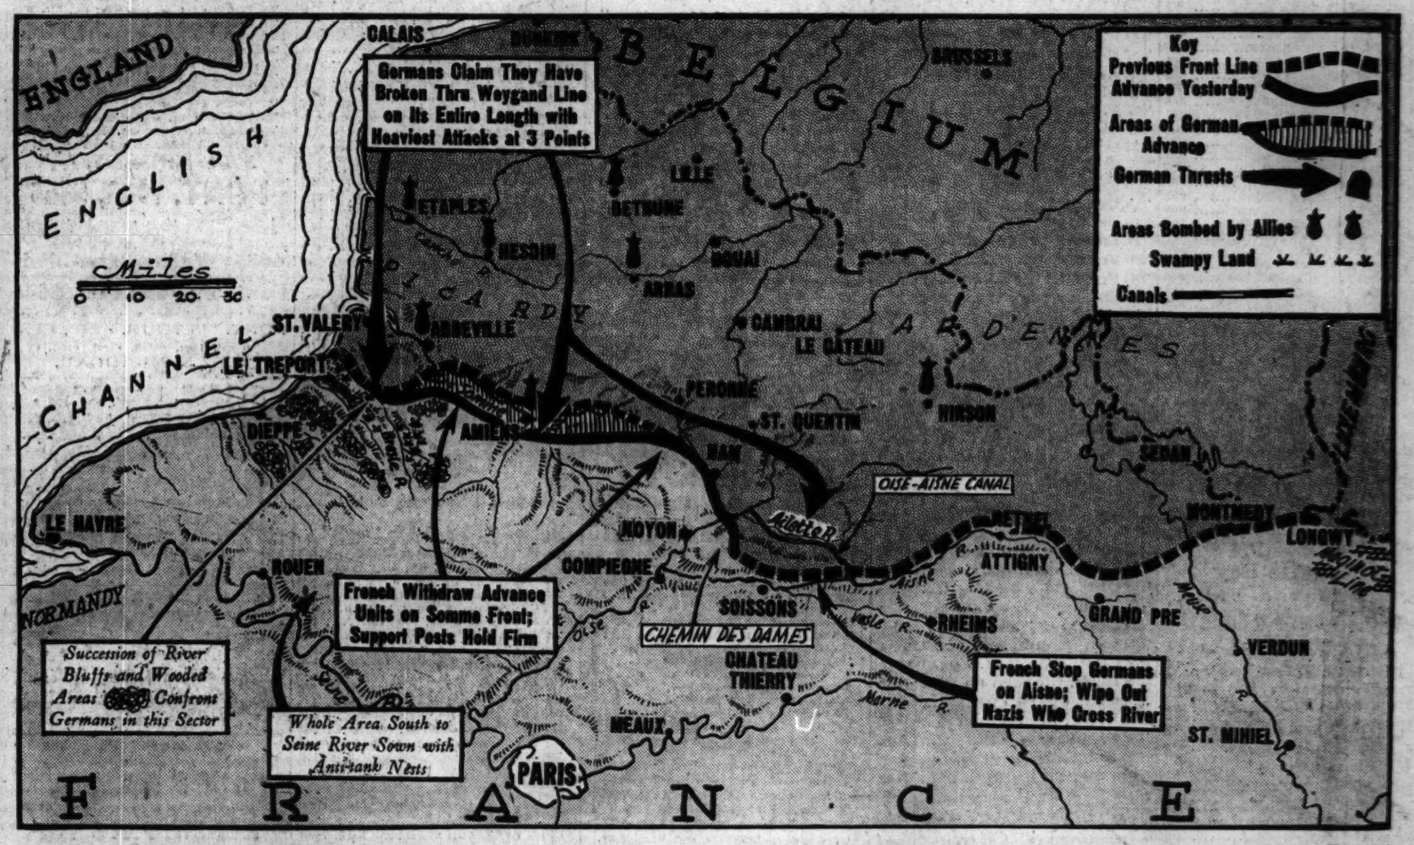
A French soldier surrendering in front of his captured tank, according to caption passed by German censor. He holds hands aloft as German troopers advance.



Major developments of yesterday in the German offensive in France are indicated in captions on the map. Some of the topographical features along the front, believed to be favorable to the defenders, also are shown. The German high command admitted attack was being resisted stiffly.

According to a German source, these are French warplanes wrecked at a French airport after they had been bombed by German flyers. The planes were loaded with bombs but never had a chance to get off the ground, the Germans said.

Tanklike truck bearing what German source described as an antiaircraft battery. Manned by members of Hitler's personal guard, it is patrolling a Belgian village.

British sources say these are recruits for England's antiparachute corps —some on ponies, others on bicycles—about to patrol a lonely area.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

These naval reserve scout bombers are part of a group of fifty which the United States is turning in to the Curtiss-Wright company. They are shown in front of the Curtiss hangar at Buffalo yesterday. The company is expected to sell them to the allies, under a plan to dispose of surplus government war material abroad. The house of representatives yesterday heard warnings that the plan is bringing the United States close to war.
